Dogs, Man Use Auto For Home

A bedraggled "knight of the road" who said he had been living for several weeks with two mongrel dogs in an old automobile parked on Midland road was advised to become a "knight of the bath" when he appeared in district court late Thursday on a drunk charge.

Judge D. E. Van Vactor remanded the defendant Henry Johns, 35, to the county jail for a bath and a change of clothing. He said he would pass sentence Saturday.

"Have you been feeding your dogs well?" the judge asked.

"Yes, your honor," the defendant replied. "They've been getting plenty to eat. I've been on a liquid diet, myself."

"Mostly wine?" Judge Van Vactor inquired.

"I guess so, your honor," Johns said.

Johns was arrested by state police after they observed his car parked at the side of the road for several days. They found Johns and the two dogs huddled in the rear seat of the automobile with clothing and cooking utensils piled around them.

Livestock Meeting Held

ALTURAS — All livestock producers in Modoc County met June 1, to discuss marketing problems. This meeting held at the Alturas Elementary School was sponsored by the livestock organizations in the county, according to Farm Adviser Norman Nichols.

John Weber, cattleman's association president; John Kelley, farm bureau president; and Glen Haskins, wool growers president; were present at the meeting to discuss livestock marketing problems in Modoc County.

The meeting was the result of the meat and livestock industry from producer through slaughter, packers, retailers, labor and transportation to the consumer. County representatives will attend a regional meeting to be held in Chico, for the northern area, in July.

A state-wide meeting will then be held August 25 and 26 at Davis for similar discussions. John Baumbach, Jr., immediate past president of the California Cattlemen's Association, is in charge of the field work of the program and has met with the retailers and consumers in connection with developing their material for the conference.

The reports which each segment of the industry presents at the conference and the discussions on the reports, will be printed in an attractive booklet and distributed to all segments of the industry, schools, women's clubs, consumer groups, and many other such organizations and groups.

Weather Blamed On Canada Highs

SEATTLE — You don't like the "summer" weather we're having?

You can blame it on the international situation, mister.

One of the explanations from U.S. Weather Bureau forecasters is that high pressure air masses over Canada have had a blocking effect on the "lows" (unfavorable weather) that normally would pass far to the north of the international boundary.

Since the lows can't get through to the north, they incline to follow so-called "troughs" into Washington and Oregon.

It looks like more of the same for the weekend. The five-day forecast is for more sunshine and warmth Saturday but showers and cool weather Sunday and Monday west of the Cascades and "showers" and cooler beginning of week on the east side.

It looks better, though, for Tuesday and Wednesday—just a bit too late for that weekend picnic you tween Roy M. Cohn, chief counsel of the Investigations Subcommittee, and Robert F. Kennedy, counsel to the subcommittee's Democratic members, in which Kennedy contends that Cohn threatened to "get" Sen. Jackson. McClellan said this was among the things he had in mind in charging attempted intimidation.

Cohn denies he told Kennedy he would "get" Jackson. Cohn said he told Kennedy at the end of a hearing that he would "get to" a question raised by Jackson when the next hearing was held.

Chairman Mundt (R-S.D.) announced that another meeting of the group will be held Monday when his special counsel, Ray H. Jenkins, returns from his home in Knoxville, Tenn.

After a synopsis of the mass of conflicting testimony has been prepared, Mundt said, the investigating group "will sit around and discuss the issues one by one" in an effort to see how much agreement can be reached.

McClellan said that "in all probability" there will be more than one report, but he added he felt "there is an area in which I am sure we can unanimously agree."

All those attending the closed meeting seemed in amiable mood when they assembled for it.

Men Held On Check Charge

Acting on instructions from the Tacoma Police Department, a 1949 Chrysler car bearing a Washington license seen on Main Street, Wednesday, was followed by city police to a tavern on South Sixth Street and the owner of the car, Clarence W. Ramsey, 2465 Oregon Avenue, arrested on a grand larceny charge.

When taken into custody Ramsey admitted that he and Robert Lane had cashed two NSF checks in Tacoma. One was for $68.50 but he couldn't remember the amount of the other.

Early Thursday morning Ramsey's wife notified police that Lane had asked for permission to look in their car for a knife he believed he had left there, and also asked for permission to drive the car to Porterville, California, where he could raise money to bail Ramsey out of jail.

Refusing him the use of the car, Mrs. Ramsey told police she drove the man to a down town hotel where he registered under the name of Allen Vigar.

Upon returning home she stated she found a box in the car containing a check protector, stamp pad, ink and other articles.

Police officers picked up Lane, alias Vigar, and both he and Ramsey are being held for Tacoma authorities.

Teenage Vice Probe Started

An investigation of teenage vice in Klamath Falls was started Friday by the Klamath County Grand Jury.

County Juvenile Officer Faye Blackmer said that two 15-year-old girls who admitted sexual relations with 24 boys had been ordered to appear before the jury. Mrs. Blackmer said she and County Juvenile Officer Francis Matthews also will be questioned by the jury.

The two girls, who have been held for the past month in the county detention home, described a series of sex parties which were staged by teenagers periodically since last November.

The deplorable situation was brought to light when state police found one of the girls in the nude with two boys in a parked car.

Stevenson Blasts GOP

DETROIT — Adlai Stevenson took shots at the Republican party yesterday while Michigan Democrats sought to avoid political bloodshed in their own party.

The 1952 Democratic presidential candidate's theme in his one-day tour through Lower Michigan was the Republican party of today is "incapable of governing the country."

Michigan Democrats, faced with contests for two key posts in the Aug. 3 primary, were careful to avoid incidents among rival candidates in their party.

Patrick McNamara, rival of former Sen. Blair Moody for the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senator, refused an invitation to accompany Stevenson on his tour.

Moody jumped into the junketing Stevenson party and accompanied him in Lansing, Davison and Detroit. He skipped only a garden party sponsored by "Volunteer Democrats" in suburban Birmingham.

Moody also took the opportunity to stand with Stevenson in a reception line for 3,000 Wayne, Oakland and Monroe County Democrats in Detroit's Masonic Temple. McNamara, attending only the Detroit function, refused the chance.

Stevenson predicted the Democrats will win the House of Representatives next fall and said prospects were good for winning the U.S. Senate too.

He said he did not think the Republican farm policy is "going in the right direction."
