US Business Shows Some Increases

NEW YORK (AP)—Three basic business indicators pointed upward this week. Mine and factory outputs were shown moving higher for the first time in 10 months. Stock prices surged to new 25-year highs.

Figures on construction activity set new records. That was the brighter aspect of this week's budget of business news—the first half of 1954—the year of the buyer's market and the "hard sell"—nearly its conclusion.

The week also turned up new evidence of slumped markets—particularly in such basic segments of the economy as automobiles, petroleum and textiles. Other economic signs: Retail trade inches ahead, but continued from 2 to 6 per cent below year-ago levels. A new Bears, Roebuck catalogue features prices whose average was the lowest in four years.

Electric power output was the largest in four months; freight carloadings—heaviest since November—were up 14 per cent from the previous week but nearly 12 per cent below last year.

Signs of increased international tension were believed to be behind a rally in stock prices—the sharpest in two years—which more than wiped out the losses of the week before. Mine and factory output as measured by the Federal Reserve Board's seasonally adjusted index of industrial production for May started to gain momentum for the first time since last July.

There was a slight decline in the number of housing starts in May from the three-and-a-half-year high of 106,100 in April. Inventory problems persisted in some lines.

There were reports from Detroit that finance companies were putting pressure on the big auto makers to bring their production into line with dealer sales.

The superabundance of shiny new models on auto dealers' lots had its counterpart in a veritable glut of gasoline accumulating in pipelines and refinery storage tanks and at filling stations.

Unsold stocks of gasoline are nearly a billion gallons higher than they were a year ago.

Chicago Beef Sales Down

CHICAGO (AP)—Hog prices broke sharply this week as hot, humid weather cut into consumer demand for meat and sent wholesale pork prices spiraling lower.

At the low point of the week—Thursday—the top at $23.50 was the lowest since last December 9 while the average selling price of barrows and gilts at $21.65 was the lowest since November 23. Average sow price was the lowest since February, 1953.

Barrows and gilts lost $1.75 to $2.50 for the week, light weight types experiencing the full decline. Sows fell $1.50 to $2.25. Sows comprised nearly 40 per cent of the weeks receipts, which were the smallest in six weeks.

At Chicago, pork loins broke $2.00 to $2.00. Boston butts $7.00 to $8.00 and spare ribs $1.00 to $2.00. Sharp declines were also reported on fresh pork cuts in eastern wholesale markets.

Most cattle also declined with lower wholesale prices a main factor in the downturn. Receipts were 10 per cent smaller than in the previous week and 20 per cent under the like 1953 week.

Slaughter steers and heifers generally were 50 cents to $1.00 down. As in hogs and cattle, prices in the sheep section also declined because the hot weather cut consumer demand for meat. Receipts at Chicago were among the smallest of any week this year. Old crop lambs, yearlings and spring lambs sold steady to 50 cents lower.

Wholesale trade on dressed spring lambs ruled steady to $3.00 or more lower while old crop lamb brought $1.00 to $5.00 lower prices.

New French Cabinet Named

PARIS (AP)—Premier Pierre Mendes-France Saturday named his new cabinet—the 20th since France's liberation 10 years ago—of 16 ministers and 13 secretaries of state. He kept the foreign ministry for himself.

Two members of the cabinet were from the popular Republican Movement which had ordered its members to abstain from the voting when Mendes-France was confirmed.

The two MRP members named were Robert Buron, minister of overseas territories, and Andre Montell, secretary of state for the navy.

Mendes-France named Edgar Faure minister of finance, a job he held in the Laniel government. Gen. Charles Koenig, a follower of Gen. Charles de Gaulle, was appointed minister of defense.

Francis Mitterand, who resigned from the Laniel cabinet because of differences of policy on French Union affairs, was named minister of the interior.

Senate Considers

It appeared likely George would offer the $20 tax credit amendment, if the exemption plan is beaten.

George said the $100 exemption hike would be offered as a substitute for a provision in the omnibus bill to give substantial relief to stockholders on their dividend income. This section has been attacked by some Democrats who claim it would be a boon to the wealthy.

In lining up with other Democrats on these plans, George evidently was giving up on an earlier proposal for boosting annual individual exemptions from the present $600 to $800 this year and $1,000 next year and from then on.

Co-sponsored by Sens. Kerr (D-Okla) and Frear (D-De), this original idea would have meant a $4,500,000,000 tax cut this year and a $7,800,000,000 reduction in 1955 and thereafter.

George said this proposal was being dropped in view of "the condition of the Treasury." The budget is unbalanced for the current financial year and a four billion dollar deficit is forecast for fiscal 1955, which begins July 1.

The Finance Committee, which worked on the revision bill two months, approved it in just about the form that President Eisenhower asked.

However, the group put enough additional benefits so that the cut in the first year of operation would total $1,477,000,000 instead of $1,370,000,000 as in the House version.

This would be offset in large part the first year by $1,200,000,000 in additional revenue to be gained through a one-year extension of the 52 per cent corporation income tax rate. This rate otherwise would fall to 47 per cent.

Guatemala

Castillo Armas, exiled Guatemalan leader of the invaders, said fierce fighting was in progress at two ports and two important inland rail centers. They were:

PUERTO BARRIOS Puerto Barrios, Guatemala's big east coast fruit shipping port. (In New York, the National Broadcasting Co. said its Tegucigalpa correspondent reported last night that Puerto Barrios has fallen to the rebels.)

San Jose, a naval-air base and commercial port on the Pacific coast. This city was used by the United States during World War II as a long range patrol bomber base. It is a site of a large gasoline storage depot.

Retalhuleu, a city near the Mexican border. It is the junction of a rail line from the coast at Carperico and another running south from Mexico.

Zacapa, a rail center near the Honduran border, 75 miles northeast of Guatemala City, the nation's capital.

The spokesman said all four centers and Guatemala City had been bombed by planes before the invading troops hit. Capture of the four cities would cut virtually all the capital's rail connections.

U.S. REPORTS The State Department in Washington said it has received reports of serious uprisings in Puerto Barrios, Zacapa and Quetzaltenango, 70 miles west of Guatemala City.

The rebel invading force reportedly numbers about 5,000 men. The Guatemalan Army is about 6,000 strong, but many of the officers are believed disgruntled by the leftist trend of the government.

U.S. officials have expressed fears the Arbenz regime was creating a Communist beachhead within short range of the Panama Canal.

First word of the fighting was announced here by rebel spokesmen after several days of open mobilization of Col. Castillo's troops throughout Honduras.

In Guatemala, Foreign Minister Guillermo Toriello told a news conference "the battle for Guatemala" had begun. The only fighting he reported, however, was the bombing of San Jose. He said the planes were of unidentified nationality.

REBEL SUPPORT Toriello accused Nicaragua of supporting the rebel forces which, he said, included nationals of Cuba, the Dominican Republic and other Central American nationalities, as well as Guatemalan exiles. He declared "Guatemala will stand as
