

"DEDICATED TO YOUTH of Klamath Falls and Klamath County" was the phrase used in dedication ceremonies of the new Municipal Swimming Pool Saturday evening. Talking it over are (from left) Mrs. Martin Brauner; Mrs. Charles Santo; Charles Santo, member of the citizens' committee which worked for many years to realize the present pool; Martin Brauner, member of the city park and recreation committees and the swimming pool committee; Mrs. George (Mae) Myers, member of the citizens' committee and active for many years in swimming programs; George Myers.

Japan Trade Order Issued

TOKYO (AP) — A Japanese government white paper urged citizens Monday to lighten their belts as a result of "a marked worsening" of the nation's international trade situation. The ministry of international trade and industry, reporting a $1,140,000,000 excess of imports over exports, urged the people to "gear their living to the nation's actual economic capacity—in other words abide with austerity living and seriously strive to expand exports." Japan sold $1,270,000,000 worth of goods and services to other countries—an increase over 1952 of 1.4 per cent, the white paper said. But imports rose 18 per cent to $2,410,000,000.

Man Held In Murder Case

PHENIX CITY, Ala. (AP) — Officers announced Monday that another man was picked up Sunday and is being held for questioning in the A. L. Patterson murder investigation. Sheriff Ralph Mathews of Russell County withheld the man's name. The sheriff declined for the time being to give any information, explaining it might hinder his investigation. Nine or 10 have been questioned since the anti-vice crusading Democratic nominee for Alabama attorney general was shot to death in his parked car in downtown Phenix City Friday night. A former FBI agent was assigned to help with the investigation while grieving relatives prepared for Patterson's funeral.

Wheat Quota Program Announced

Warehousemen, elevator operators, feeders and processors, and others who buy wheat in 1954 have certain responsibilities under the present wheat marketing quota program, according to C. W. Smith, assistant director of the Oregon State College extension service. Smith lists the following information from the state officers of the agricultural stabilization and conservation committee to explain these responsibilities. Before a farmer can sell wheat, he must apply to his local committee for a marketing card. This card serves as proof to the purchaser that the farmer was within acreage allotment or that he has taken care of excess bushels in a manner prescribed by the ASC committee. If the transaction involves sale of wheat by telephone or telegraph, the farmer also must have a marketing certificate. This he forwards to the purchaser. The purchaser becomes liable for the penalty if he buys from a farmer who has not taken care of excess bushels as prescribed. The farmer's marketing card or marketing certificate is the purchaser's protection against this possibility. If wheat is bought from an intermediate buyer, the purchaser needs from that buyer a report that shows a marketing card or certificate was presented at the time of selling or that the penalty had been satisfied. If the buyer wants to purchase wheat that isn't penalty free he must collect a penalty of $1.12 per bushel and submit it to the county ASC office within 15 days with a prescribed report form. The unpaid penalty is a lien on

Lawyer Blasts Testimony

WASHINGTON (AP) — A public power attorney reasserted Monday that objections of a Federal Power Commission lawyer at the Hells Canyon hearing are threatening to "make a mockery" of the testimony of FPC engineers. Evelyn Cooper, attorney for groups advocating the federal Hells Canyon dam protested "frequent and obstructive" objections at the FPC hearing on Idaho Power Co. applications to build three smaller dams in the same reach of the Snake River between Idaho and Oregon. John C. Mason, FPC staff counsel, objected when Mrs. Cooper asked Lester Wing, regional FPC engineer from San Francisco, whether the three-dam plan would be "consistent with comprehensive development of the Columbia River Basin." "At the rate we're going, we will not finish this witness this week," Mrs. Cooper said, referring to objections by Mason. Mason, who had objected frequently during Mrs. Cooper's two-day cross-examination of Wing last week said he had the "right and duty" to object to "vague" questions on subjects not related to direct testimony. The entire cross of the producer until paid in full. This means buyers should consider wheat offered for sale without a marketing card as if it were mortgaged property. The buyer then will be liable for the penalty if he buys the wheat.
