Traffic Halted By Plane Crash

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—The Tulsa World didn't get a picture of a Fourth of July traffic jam yesterday—it got a picture of a plane crash instead.

The World said it sent commercial photographer Howard Hopkins aloft to get a picture of a traffic jam. The plane ran out of gas and it crash-landed at the intersection of U.S. 66 and State Highway 33.

Hopkins and the pilot both walked away from the crash unhurt. The big traffic jam the photographer had been looking for all day formed around the crashed plane.

Hopkins found, to his horror, he had used his last film taking pictures of the crash.

Soviet Diplomats Expelled By U.S. On Spying Charges

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three Russian diplomats — one of them attached to the Soviet delegation at the United Nations — have been thrown out of the United States during the past six months on charges of spying.

The Russian government, the State Department claims, has now retaliated by making espionage charges against two members of the U.S. diplomatic mission at Moscow and forcing their withdrawal.

The two Americans are military officers, as were the two Russians ousted from the embassy here.

The State Department declined to disclose any of the evidence against the Soviets, but Press Officer Henry Suydam said, "We got the goods on them and out they went."

The incident which the State Department announced late yesterday, after months of silence on the ouster of the alleged Russian spies, had more than ordinary significance because of the policy situation which is developing among Russia and the Western Powers.

The Kremlin has been making a big play for British and French cooperation in an obvious effort to place heavy strains on the Western alliance. Every evidence of difficulty between Washington and Moscow coming at such a time carries the risk of widening Western differences by emphasizing differing relations with the Soviet Union.

The two Americans whom the Russians accused of having engaged in "espionage work" are Lt. Col. Howard L. Felchlin of New York City and Arlington, Va., who was assistant military attache at the Moscow Embassy, and Maj. Walter McKinney of Santa Cruz, Calif., the assistant air attache. The Soviets declared them "persona non grata" or unwelcome on July 3. The United States rejected the charge as "baseless" in a note yesterday, but it informed Russia they would be withdrawn.

Maj. McKinney is on vacation outside Russia and will not return. Col. Felchlin will leave the Soviet capital Thursday. He will fly to Berlin with Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen, who is going on a month's leave.

A letter published in the Soviet trade union newspaper Trud on March 25 accused Felchlin and McKinney and two other Americans. Trud said the Americans had left behind on a train, after a trip to Vladivostok, an intelligence report on the main cities and stations between Moscow and Khabarovsk. The U.S. Embassy at Moscow declined comment at the time.

The three Russians whose ouster from the United States was disclosed were named by the State Department as:

Cmdr. Igor A. Amosov, assistant naval attache, Soviet Embassy, who was declared personally unacceptable last Feb. 3 and left Feb. 8.

Alexander P. Kovylov, second secretary of the Soviet delegation to the United Nations, who was asked to leave on Feb. 3 and who departed Feb. 10.

Lt. Col. Leonid E. Pivnev, assistant air attache, Soviet Embassy, ordered on May 29 to leave this country. He left June 6.

Pivnev's name made the newspapers on at least two occasions during his stay in the United States, once when he attended the 1951 Detroit air races and last April when he attended a meeting of the Baltimore chapter of the American Rocket Society to hear a discussion of the possibilities of atomic-powered flight.

The State Department announcement, while saying nothing of the kind of spying it accused these men of doing, suggested that the ouster of the American officers from Moscow was a retaliatory move by the Russians. It said this must be true since there "was no foundation whatsoever" for the Soviet action against them, and denounced as "baseless" the charge that they engaged in spying. In Moscow, Ambassador Bohlen said no specific charges were

Reds Criticize U.S. Ambassador

ROME, Italy (AP)—The Communists are needing Italy's government again about something U.S. Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce is supposed to have told newsmen in America.

Red party boss Palmiro Togliatti told the Chamber of Deputies Mrs. Luce, arriving in America recently for a vacation, told reporters Italy plans to intensify the "struggle against communism."

This, Togliatti said, seemed to indicate the envoy has access "even to secret plans of the government." He formally demanded whether Premier Mario Scelba or Foreign Minister Atilio Piccioni were going to "do their legitimate duty and protest" to the U.S. government.

Such a formal demand requires a reply by Scelba or Piccioni.

Last winter a large group of Communist and left-wing senators asked, without success, that the government declare Mrs. Luce unacceptable last winter. They charged her with criticizing Italy in a conference with Washington newsmen.

set forth in the Russian note.

Suydam said the expulsion of the Russians had been kept secret because the State Department hoped to avoid creating through publicity a pressure on the Russians to retaliate. Clearly those hopes did not work out.
