Red Cross Aids Rodeo Riders

Klamath Falls Red Cross first aid service was put to good use during the three days of the Klamath Basin Roundup, July 3-4-5 with a five-man team always on duty.

The Red Cross ambulance took Jim Madelon, Brahma bull rider to Klamath Valley Hospital with head injuries after he was kicked. The team also gave first aid to six others.

Most serious of the other cases was Mrs. Gene Vague, Eagle Point, member of the women's riding club, here with the Jackson County Sheriff's Posse, thrown from her mount Monday, July 5. She received a possible fractured ankle, abrasions, and was suffering from shock.

Others injured were also participants in rodeo activities.

The unit also furnished ice water to numerous thirsty rodeo performers and spectators.

On duty, Mrs. Connie Beddows, R. N., Mr. and Mrs. Dave Lovelace, Mrs. Reda Ustick, Tom Winteringer, Klamath Falls, and Herbert Hadley, Bly, all first aid instructors.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—All grains firmed on the board of trade Tuesday with wheat and new crop soybeans pushing up several cents. Dealings got off to a slow start, but the tempo quickened as the market advanced.

Brokers said mills brought little wheat and speculators were aggressive on the buying side at times because of firmness in cash wheat prices. New crop soybeans also attracted speculative buying.

Feed grains did not do as well as wheat and soybeans, although a firm demand for cash corn helped futures of that cereal. Oats lagged early but recovered and went above the previous finish shortly before the close.

Wheat closed 3 1/4-4 3/4 higher, July 1.99 3/4-2.00, corn 3/8-1 1/8 higher, July 1.58 3/4-7/8 oats 1/8 lower to 1/2 higher, July 72 1/8, rye 2 1/4 to 3 cents lower, July 1.03 1/4 soybeans 1 1/2-6 1/4 higher July 2.83 1/4 1/2 and lard 2 to 12 cents a hundred pounds higher, July 15.85.

Fall Injures Small Girl

CHILOQUIN — An automobile door opened on a curve on the Sprague River Highway by three-year-old Ramona Isgrigg, Chiloquin, nearly cost the little girl's life Saturday morning, July 3.

The child's father, Wesley Isgrigg, with his wife and two young children, was traveling between 40-50 miles an hour when the child apparently unlatched the back door of the car. She was thrown to the pavement, suffering severe facial and head lacerations and a badly injured shoulder. No bones were broken but attending physicians believe ligaments in the shoulder are torn loose.

She was taken back to Chiloquin by her parents, where the town paddy wagon was pressed into service for an ambulance. With Lewis Jones, Chiloquin marshal, at the wheel, accompanied by Mayor James Chipman, the trip to Klamath Valley Hospital was started.

Jones reports that he traveled the entire distance with siren open and this morning he criticized motorists who refused to yield the right of way. He and his adult passenger counted 30 cars passed and of that number only two, one with a California license and one from Washington, respected rules of the highway and pulled to the side of the road.

Jones estimated that at least 8 minutes time was lost. Had it been a more critical case a patients life might have hung in the balance he said. This was the third run to a local hospital made by Jones with the city panel truck last week and the same situation existed each time.

Churchill Tells Views

SOUTHAMPTON, England (AP—Prime Minister Churchill said Tuesday night he had done his best to reach agreement with the United States on foreign policy differences "but it would be a mistake to think everything can happen all at once."

The 79-year-old Prime Minister, arriving home from his talks with President Eisenhower, told newsmen:

"I can tell you I am sure that by trying our best in the United States to make good understandings and solid agreements possible between us we have not entirely failed, but it would be a mistake to think everything can happen all at once."

Even before the Queen Elizabeth docked here, he telephoned orders from sea calling cabinet meetings for Wednesday morning and Thursday.

Farm Delegates To Visit Basin

Two International Farm Youth Exchange delegates are being introduced to American farm life this week in Oregon. Their names — remarkably similar for persons from opposite ends of Europe — are Margaret Martin from Northern Ireland and Calheiros Martins, Portugal.

At home, Miss Martin teaches domestic science to girls from 11 to 15 years of age in a technical school. She is visiting the Stanley Brown farm near Prineville.

Martins is a field representative of an agricultural production company. While visiting here he will be seeking information on wheat raising, cattle breeding, corn production, irrigation and general farming methods.

His first visit in Oregon will be with the George Reiling family in Poe Valley. During the rest of his two-month stay, he will live with other farm families in the state.

Dariy Expert Conducts Survey

Oregon dairymen who will soon be breeding cows for spring calves should think twice before condemning to slaughter this fall cows that were "guessed" to be infertile.

A recent survey by Dr. J. F. Bone, Oregon State College veterinarian of dairy cows sold for slaughter because they were thought to be infertile revealed that one-third were pregnant and one-sixth had no diseases or abnormalities that would prevent them from becoming pregnant.

In other words, says Dr. Bone, about half of the cows were needlessly slaughtered-they were fertile.
