Women's Clubs Federation Hold Convention In Denver

By RUTH KING
An estimated 3,000 delegates representing an over-all club membership of 11 million women in the United States and abroad were present for the 62nd annual convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in Denver May 31-June 4, according to Mrs. Clarence P. (Kathleen) Ward, New president of the Klamath Falls Library Club. The meeting was the second largest in federation history.

Mrs. Oscar A. Ahlgren of Whiting, Indiana. Theme of the convention was "The Preservation of Our American Heritage."
Mrs. Ahlgren's opening address, "Faith of Our Fathers," was one of the notable highlights of the entire session, an emotional experience for the delegates according to Mrs. Ward, who commented on the sincerity of those attending and the complete lack of "sectionalism," among the delegates.

government's foreign operations administration, who spoke on "World Cooperation," Dr. Gabriel Hauge, administrative assistant to President Eisenhower and V. A. Peterson, administrator of the civil defense administration.
Two top women officials of the Republican and Democratic parties, Bertha Adkins, assistant to the chairman of the Republican National Committee and director of Republican women's activities, and Mrs. Katie Louchheim, director of women activities for the Democratic National Committee, Dr. Daniel A. Polling, editor of the Christian Herald, radio speaker, columnist and chairman of the All American Conference to Combat Communism also spoke.

The delegates sent a recommendation to Congress favoring the proposal by President Eisenhower to include the words, "under God," in the pledge to the flag, which has since become law.
The federation has raised $201,425 for the restoration of Independence Hall, a project sponsored during the administration of the retiring national president of the federation, Mrs. Ahlgren.

This year's theme under the new president, Mrs. Chapman is "You Are the Light of the World." Oregon sent 12 delegates.

Corvallis City Hall To Be Sold

CORVALLIS — The Corvallis City Hall, located on a busy downtown corner, will be sold to the Roberts Investment Co. of Portland if there are no objections at a public hearing here July 19.
The Roberts company, connected with the department store firm, made the high bid for the property at an auction recently. The bid was $101,700.

The City Council announced its intention to sell the property, but said the adjacent fire station would be retained. The council plans to use the money to build a new city hall away from the business district.
Other names prominent on programs of the three day sessions included the popular tenor soloist, Morion Downey; Mrs. Albert Palmer, Boulder, Colorado president of the Colorado Federation of Women's Clubs; Felisa Rincon de Gautier, woman city manager of San Juan Porto Rico, Harold E. Stassen, director of the U. S.

Patterson Plans State Job Survey

Governor Paul Patterson today announced a study of Oregon's manufacturing potential with a view toward developing wider employment opportunities for an expanding labor force. The governor placed the responsibility for the actual survey on the staff of the State Unemployment Compensation Commission, which will work in co-operation with the Oregon Development Commission.
"We are expecting employers and employees alike to help us in gathering this information, which will prove of great assistance in the state's continued growth," said Governor Patterson in making the announcement. "State, federal and local agencies will make good use of the material in promoting more year-round jobs for everyone."

Not only will data on plant facilities be gathered but also much regarding occupational breakdowns and possibilities for employed and available workers, it was pointed out. This will be helpful in determining which skills are needed and in anticipating prospective occupational shortages and surpluses.
With reference to creating additional employment in the near future, it was brought out that the Small Business Administration and other procurement agencies will be given full access to the information in their efforts to bring more governmental contracts to the state's industries.
Representatives of the 26 local employment offices of the SUCC will gather much of the material as a supplement to their regular employer visiting program. Lists of machinery and equipment, description of products which are sold can be manufactured, plant locations, transportation facilities, and occupational listing of workers will be among the items on the questionnaires.

More complete utilization of plant facilities, wider opportunities for available manpower, and a greater share of governmental contracts for Oregon industries are among immediate results expected from the survey.

Medford Boy Killed At Play

MEDFORD — A rope, used by children to swing from a tree, strangled 6-year-old Steven Robert Hawkins Thursday.
There were loops in the rope for the children to swing themselves up from the ground. The boy apparently lost his hold while swinging, and his head fell into a loop.
Daniel Sanger, also 6, at once called the boy's mother, but artificial respiration failed.
He was the son of Robert W. Hawkins, a Medford fireman.

Ashland Plans Dance Concert

ASHLAND — The first public event of the Oregon Shakespearean festival season will be presented Sunday evening, July 11, when Knox and Suzanne Fowler of the festival company present an unusual dance concert on the theater stage in Ashland.
The Fowlers, members of the acting company and dance directors for the festival, are professional dancers who have appeared in numerous concerts in various parts of the country.
The dance concert is sponsored by Tudor Guild, festival association auxiliary organization. It will be followed by an "open house," with the audience invited to stay for coffee and to inspect the theater. A "tour" of the backstage activities will be conducted by members of the staff.
The dance concert, approximately an hour and a half in length, will be divided into three parts. First will be a short lecture on theater dance, with demonstrations; second will be various Elizabethan and modern theater dances, and finally, dance portrayal of several famous Shakespearean figures — Kate and Petruchio from "Taming of the Shrew," Romeo and Juliet, and Antony and Cleopatra.
The concert begins at 8:30 p.m. Sunday evening.

Burglary Found By Aid Of Cat

NORWALK, Ohio (AP) — A cat helped bring police to the scene of a burglary in a farm dwelling near here.
The party-line phone at the home of George McMillen apparently was knocked off the hook by the thief. It dangled near the floor and the cat mewed.
Clarence Lyons who lives across the street and is on the same line heard the mewing yesterday over his phone. He went to the McMillen home discovered the robbery — a minor one — and called police.
