Lundsten-Stiles Nuptial Rites In Peace Memorial Church

In a candlelight ceremony, July 3, Lillian Stiles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Stiles, 4949 Austin Street, became the bride of Richard Lundsten, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Lundsten, 1818 Kane.

The Rev. Dwayne L. Proett read the 8 p.m. service in Peace Memorial Church in the presence of a large gathering of friends and relatives.

Mrs. Frances Hamilton, organist, played incidental wedding music, and accompanied Ronald Bryan, soloist, who sang, "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer." Candlelighters were June Jessup and Marlene Stiles, cousins of the bride.

Church decorations featured white gladioli in large arrangements with touches of aqua and yellow, carrying out the brides color scheme. Flickering candlelight from numerous tapers softly illuminated the setting; and lighted candles tied with white satin bows marked alternate pews.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of Chantilly lace over satin, which she had made herself. In traditional white, it was designed with a Basque bodice of the lace over satin-pointed at the waist, featuring a softly curved neckline and long, sleeves pointed at the wrists. The full skirt of nylon tulle over satin extended into long graceful train. A Chantilly lace headband—seed pearl trimmed—held her fingertip veil of illusion. She carried a large single white orchid—purple throated—arranged with stephanotis and satin streamers.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Kenneth Young (Betty Redfield), wore a gown of aqua organza over taffeta. It was made from the same pattern as the bride's gown with a matching sash, tied in a large bow. Her colonial bouquet was of varied pastel shades.

Bridesmaids, Rita Lundsten, sister of the bridegroom; and Mrs. Robert C. Baker (Margery Larson), wore replicas of the matron of honor's dress in yellow. Their bouquets were the same as the matron of honor's, and all wore matching hair bands of the same flowers.

Flower girl, Donna Redfield, cousin of the bride, wore a frock of white sheer organza over taffeta; and an aqua sash. She carried a basket of pastel petals.

Best man was George Howard Groesbeck; and Gene Oldham and Clayton Hannon ushered.

Terry Clement, cousin of the bridegroom, was ring bearer; dressed as the senior male attendant.

The bride's mother wore a pink lace afternoon dress; complemented with a rosebud corsage; dusty rose lace was worn by the bridegroom's mother, and her corsage was the same.

Wedding guests were received in the church parlors. At the coffee service and punch bowl were Joyce Icebitch and Sharon Stiles, Mrs. Robert Childers (Carol Steera); and Patricia Walker cut the cake; and assisting were Mrs. Vestia Stiles and Mrs. Donna Viard.

The wedding trip was to Lake Tahoe; and for travel, Lillian wore a white suit with navy accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet. The couple is now at home, 2131 Oak Street.

The bride, in keeping with tradition, carried an heirloom handkerchief belonging to the bridegroom's great-grandmother; she wore a new wedding dress; a borrowed veil; and the blue garter and lucky penny were given her by her grandmother, Mrs. J. W. Ver-
