of Klamath Falls and Donald Oliver Potter, the bride's father. The delicate blossoms were perfect background for the bride's filmy gown.

"SO THAT'S A BLUE GARTER!" says young Gerald Potter, brother of the bride who helped usher at the wedding.

DON POTTER smiles fondly at daughter "Kay" as they leave home for the wedding.

Katherine Potter Weds Anchorage, Alaska Man

TULELAKE — In a summer setting in the lovely garden at her parents' home, Katherine Louise Potter of Tulelake, became the bride, Sunday, July 18, of Howard William Sowles Jr. The bridegroom is the son of Howard William Sowles Sr., Anchorage, Alaska and Mrs. Clayton Means, Tulelake.

The double-ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Dale Hewett, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Klamath Falls at 2 p.m. Before close friends and relatives of the young couple.

Their vows were taken before a pink rose-garlanded trellis and ferns. Katherine was given in marriage by her father.

Proceeding the ceremony Joan Schults, Tulelake, played incidental music and the traditional wedding marches.

The petite, dark-haired bride wore a ballerina length gown of embroidered nylon tulle with deep scalloped overskirt above layers of plain tulle. Long sleeves ended in points at the wrists and a peter pan collar completed the short bolero jacket. Her fingertip tulle veil fell from a jeweled cap. She carried an arrangement of pink and white daisies.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Potter chose a pink linen ensemble with white accessories and shattered white carnations at the shoulder. Mrs. Means wore a summer print with white carnations.

For traveling the new Mrs. Sowles wore a sheer blue and white printed voile with white hat and accessories and flowers from her bridal bouquet at her shoulder. Mr. and Mrs. Sowles left immediately following the reception for Anchorage where they will make their home in Spenard, a suburb of the city.

Mrs. Sowles attended Oregon State College for one term and later studied at OTL. Her husband was also a student at Oregon State for one year.

Mrs. Dick Derry, Malin, visited her daughter, Mrs. Howard Schmidt.

The members of the Bonanza Park Association met at the library July 1, with president Lloyd Hankins in the chair. Plans and prizes for the drinking fountains were discussed. The park was started August 22 in 1951 and a big birthday party, including potluck supper, square dancing, etc., are planned. Mrs. John Brown is secretary treasurer of the organization.

McKay-Davis Wedding At Home of Bride's Parents

At a pretty home wedding, Francis Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Freeman, 521 Washington, became the bride of Harold McKay Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Alexander, 720 North Ninth Street, June 19, 7:10 o'clock in the morning.

For the informal summer wedding, the bride wore a white nylon dress with matching hat and slippers; and her corsage was of red roses, white carnations and stephanotis.

The Rev. George Alder of the First Christian Church officiated. Virginia Davis was maid of honor for her sister, and wore a red and white striped nylon and a corsage of red and white carnations. Best man was Richard Christensen.

The reception was at the home of the bride's parents; Mrs. Clara Moore poured and Mrs. Glen Scott cut the cake.

The newlyweds spent their honeymoon in California, and are now at home in Klamath Falls.

BETTY YANCEY . . . above, recently elected lecturer of the Oregon Juvenile Grange, is 13 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Yancey, 4009 Homedale. She has been a junior grange member for five years. The young lecturer, in her last year of junior high school, also shows musical ability in her list of accomplishments.

CHEESE CANAPES

Try mixing equal parts of grated Cheddar cheese and blue cheese and blend to a spreading consistency with vermouth—either dry or sweet. Spread on rounds of toast or on crackers and slip under the broiler until brown. Serve at once.
