Red Chinese Apologize For Shooting British Airliner

By GENE KRAMER
The rescuers set their plane down in the protection of a small island about 2 1/2 miles from where the survivors were huddled on a small raft. Seas were running high. The Albatross tossed lines to the people on the raft.
"The survivors were dazed," Woodyard said. "They just didn't say anything as they were helped aboard. The little girl cried a bit but that was all. They were in a state of shock. They appeared unable to comprehend what was happening." The little girl is 6-year-old Victoria Parish of Iowa Park, Tex. Her mother, Mrs. Leonard L. Parish, suffered a broken collar bone.
Radio operator Lawrence Rodriguez, 20, of Carpinteria, Calif., said, "It was worth my whole career to pull that little girl out."
Officers at Clark Field said the rescue was one of the most outstanding in Air Force history. While the Albatross was en route, the plane received a message that the Chinese Reds at Canton had warned military aircraft to stay away from the scene.
