

THE 'PASTURE' LOCALE of the party given by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Reynolds for their daughter Marcell, and new son-in-law, Ray Nelson, was chosen as a "means to an end." Limited space — as reported under pictures on the first page of the society section — precluded ANY indoor entertaining. The choice was a wise one — and the "end" was a gay evening for about half a hundred guests — with plenty of room for all to share the Reynolds' hospitality.

Pictures on the first page include part of the "country" background; and a sharp eye will note some of the temporarily dispossessed cows sulking beyond the fence.

Group of guests in the semi-circle around the "keg-table" are, from the left, Mrs. Edwin A. (Taxi) Thomas, Mrs. George Myers, Mrs. C. A. Henderson, Mrs. Edward Hall Pike, Mrs.

The Reynolds left for Boise Wednesday morning, where he will resume his duties as chamber of commerce manager.

MOOSEHEART ALUMNI CHAIRMAN HOLDS CHAPTER NIGHT PROGRAM

Mooseheart alumni chairman, Hazel Hillman, Women of the Moose, Chapter No. 467 held her chapter night program at Moose Hall, Tuesday August 3.

The regular lodge session was called to order by senior regent, Ruth Chapel. Mrs. Hillman was escorted to the senior regent's station; and in turn introduced Bill Mills, governor of the Loyal Order of the Moose and Fanny May Thompson, member of the Women of the Moose, both of whom gave very interesting talks on the Mooseheart Alumni Association, explaining a revolving fund created by the association used to help boys and girls graduating from Mooseheart who desire to further their education or start in some trade for which they have been trained.

The subject of this fund was brought up at National Moose Convention June 26, 1919, and was approved and recognized by the organization one year later, June 26, 1920. The fund has become self-perpetuating with past officers and life members in both organizations belonging.

Members were also entertained with a tap dance solo by Stephanie Olvera accompanied at the piano by Ruth Wickerman.

At the close of her program, Mrs. Hillman was escorted to the altar where the senior regent presented her with a token gift of appreciation from the chapter.

Three candidates were initiated in honor of the Mooseheart Alumni chairman. They were Hazel Shipp sponsored by Julia Williams; Opal Doak by Hazel Pulley; and Vivien Jones, by Patricia Hescocock. After the meeting, refreshments were served to 47 guests by the chairman and her committee members, Lucille Wait, Virginia Fuller, Patricia Hescocock and Pat McManus.
