Shakespeare Plays Slated

ASHLAND — It's another busy weekend ahead at the Oregon Shakespeare Festival, which opened its 14th annual season here August 1.

On Saturday, August 7, the annual hour-long radio show, direct from the state in Ashland over the NBC network, will be broadcast coast to coast.

On Sunday, August 8, the first music concert of the season will be presented on the stage, with the Portland Symphonic brass ensemble, the unique group which appeared in Ashland last year, featured. The group will play a concert made up predominantly of Elizabethan music.

The NBC radio show will be an adaptation of the season's tragedy, "Hamlet." It will be directed by Andrew C. Love, one of the network's top producers, and released through NBC affiliate KMED in Medford, Oregon. Jennings Pierce, general manager of KMED, was instrumental in establishing the network show as an annual affair four years ago.

The radio version of the famous tragedy, called "Scenes from Hamlet," will begin at 2:30 p.m., Pacific standard time, Saturday afternoon.

The Sunday evening concert by the brass ensemble begins at 8:30 p.m. The group, the second of its kind to be formed in the United States, is made up of five outstanding members of the Portland symphony orchestra. The ensemble has a tremendous hit in Ashland last year, and returns by popular demand.

Those taking part in this race are the lots of Howard Manning, Walter Bliss, C. B. and R. B. Matt, R. P. Duncan, Eugene Linkenbach and Frank and Rita Braman. Two outsiders, Bill Chrysler from Medford and Bill and Denver Hardin, Grants Pass, will also enter the race.

Some 160 birds have been training for the race series. A few days ago 65 birds were released in Crescent for a trial run under adverse conditions, low ceiling, snow on the ground and heavy air, but several made it back in three hours and 15 minutes.

Other races scheduled include Lapine on August 15, a distance of 100 miles; Lapine again on August 22 and Redmond, a distance of 140 miles, on August 29. Septembers will see a race from The Dalles, a distance of 250 miles, on the fourth; from Yachima, a distance of 310 miles, on the 11th.

A new series for very young birds has been scheduled with a race from Crescent on September 26, from Lapine on October 3 and from Redmond on October 10.

The club now boasts of 18 members, nearly all of whom will have birds ready to race by next year.

Indian Meeting To Be Attended

FORT KLAMATH — Tuesday, August 3, Lefty Wild Eagle and Genie Wilder, accompanied by their three sons, Leonard, Tony and Albert, and by her nephew, Steve Collins, Fraser, Montana, who has been visiting the Wilders, left for Sheridan, Wyoming, where they will attend the All American Indian Days celebration August 7 and 8. A project of Kalif Shrine Temple of Sheridan, this is the largest gathering of Indian tribes to be held in the United States, and is dedicated to building better understanding between Indians and white people, and to emphasize the Indian's place in the modern world, also the Indian contribution to culture. Net proceeds from the two day affair will go to Shrine hospitals for crippled children.

A mammoth parade will open the festivities Saturday morning.

Lefty is a member of the Yarak, or Upper Klamath River, tribe of Indians, while Genie comes from the Assiniboine tribe in Montana. The family plans to take part in competitive features, garbed in their colorful native dress; the group has often appeared here and elsewhere in Klamath County, presenting social and war dances, and has become very popular since coming to Fort Klamath two years ago from their former home at Depoe Bay on the Oregon coast.

During their absence, their local business, the Junction service station, Indian art and gift shop, and museum, was left in care of Douglas Hodson, who hails from Salem, and is a long time friend of the Wilder family.

Girl Scout Camp Activities Told

Girl Scouts who attend the camp sessions August 10 through 17 and August 18 through 28 will have opportunity for religious activity, according to Mrs. Charlie McFarlan, manager.

Sunday mornings at 10 a.m. services will be conducted by scouts. Every morning before breakfast there will be Bible study for those who wish to attend.

"Scouts own" — devotions, hymns and prayer — will close each day. In addition, a secluded spot in the woods has been reserved to be available at anytime for those who wish to spend time in quiet meditation.
