

SACRED HEART CATHOLIC CHURCH Setting for Impressive Young-Murray Rites

"A TRULY LOVELY WEDDING" . . . was the repeated comment made by guests who were deeply impressed with the simple dignity of the Young-Murray nuptials in Sacred Heart Catholic Church, last Sunday. There was also a great abundance of friendly warmth as evidenced by the pictures above. Some 300 guests, many of them close friends of the two families for many years, witnessed the marriage of Rosemary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Murray, and last of their three children to "walk down the aisle," to John Alan Young, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Young.

Rosemary Murray Summer Bride Of John Young August 1st In Sacred Heart Catholic Church

In a beautiful wedding gown of white pure silk tissue shantung, Rosemary Murray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Murray, 812 Pacific Terrace, became the bride of John Alan Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Young, 1951 Erie, in Sacred Heart Catholic Church last Sunday afternoon.

The richness of the gown's fabric was stressed in the simple lines of the chapel length dress, truly majestic in effect on the tall, slender bride. Only trimming was a deep band of lace outlining the Young wore a two-piece silk pique in a "luscious" shade of rose-pink, trimmed with a deeper rose velvet and pearls; and a tiny rose velvet hat. On their way to Holloman Air Force Base, New Mexico, where they will live while John is stationed there—they planned leisurely stops at Tahoe, San Francisco and other points of interest. Date of arrival at the base is scheduled for August 10.

Out-of-town guests here for the important occasion included Mrs. Laura Jones, Mrs. Young's sister from San Francisco, who has followed her nephew John's life from birth—making it a point to be present on all important occasions or anniversaries to his wedding day. Others from San Francisco were Joan Moore and Joy Kent.

Mrs. George McIntyre was organist for the wedding. She played Alexander Schreiner's "Wedding March" for the processional; and Felix Mendelssohn's march for the recessional.

The bride's mother entered the church to the strains of "Hail Mother, Queen Enthroned"—a favorite hymn of Rosemary's. A little different from the usual—the Bach-Gounod "Ave Maria" composition for organ, played by Mrs. McIntyre as a solo—the bride's request instead of a vocal solo.

The wedding was a "family affair"—and the bride's sister, Mrs. Rodney Bell (Marcella), was matron of honor. She wore a pale blue shantung white length dress of imported Doupoint pure silk, with draped off the shoulder neckline bows of the same material topping the brief sleeves. Matching slippers and a small bandeau of blue net outlined with narrow gathered folds of the same material with forehead veils completed the ensemble; and her shower bouquet was of mixed field flowers, predominantly daisies.

Rodney Bell, brother-in-law of the bride, served as best man; and ushers were Rodney Murray, Robert Hillon, Robert McPherson and James Steele.

Mrs. Murray was charming in beige lace over cream satin; as was the senior Mrs. Young, in navy blue lace combined with net styled with a bouffant skirt. Mrs. Murray's dress was accented with a green orchid corsage; Mrs. Young wore a rubrum lily.

The 300 guests were received at Reames Golf and Country Club shortly after the ceremony. Pouring were Mrs. Harold Teale, Mrs. Ed Bell and Mrs. Earl C. Reynolds. Mrs. Robert Balderston cut the cake; Marilyn Hemmingson and Mrs. Robert McPherson were at the punch bowl; and Jean Henderson assisted.

Mary Hooker registered the guests; and other assistants included Mrs. Glenn Kent, Mrs. Bryant Williams, Mrs. R. Parcher Ellingson, Mrs. Ralph W. Stearns, Mrs. Victor E. O'Neill, Mrs. Raymond Bigger, Mrs. R. E. (Gene) Hooker and Ann Murray.
