Emilie Dionne Will Be Buried In Bushland Site; Throngs Pay Last Homage

CALLANDER, Ont. (AP) — Emilie Dionne will be buried today in a country cemetery grave dug by her uncle.

The body of the 20-year-old girl, one of the famous quintuplets, will be borne from the faded red brick Roman Catholic church at nearby Corbell to its resting place in a northern Ontario bushland burying ground, near the graves of her four pioneer grandparents and a mile from her home.

The Rev. W. H. Lafrance of Corbell, longtime friend of the Dionne family, was to officiate at the funeral mass in the little church of the Sacred Heart of Jesus.

Oliva Dionne, Emilie's father, said last night the public would be admitted to the service after the family and close friends were seated. The church accommodates only a few hundred persons.

Because the Corbell parish has no official gravedigger, each family must prepare its interment spot. Aime Marasse, a graying uncle of the quint, prepared the last resting place for the star and gentle girl who died last Friday at a Roman Catholic hospital in Ste. Agathe, Que., following an epileptic stroke.

Meanwhile, U.S. experts on the neurological disorder reacted sharply to a Quebec medico-legal expert's report that an autopsy showed her death was caused by epileptic seizures brought on by "glandular disorders" creating lung congestion.

Fearful of the effect of the announcement of the estimated 11 million epileptics in the United States, Dr. H. Houston Merritt, director of the Neurological Institute at Columbia University's Presbyterian Medical Center, told a news conference in New York that the mortality rate among epileptics is no greater than among non-sufferers. Epileptics, he said, usually die of natural causes, from falls during seizures or suffocation from burying their faces in pillows during or after an attack.

Speaking with Dr. Merritt for the Epilepsy Association of New York and the Variety Club Foundation to combat Epilepsy, Dr. William Amols of the Neurological Institute said a "complete and accurate" report of the autopsy should be made available to medical journals as well as in laymen's language for the benefit of other epileptics.

In its open gray metal casket, Emilie's body lay yesterday in the living room of the Dionne home halfway along the five-mile road between Callander and Corbell. An estimated 5,000 persons filed past it. For the first time since public viewing of the five girls was stopped 14 years ago, the big iron gates protecting the home were opened to the public.

The surviving quintuplets — Yvonne, Annette, Cecile and Marie — were not present. They met their sister's body when it arrived by funeral coach from Montreal Saturday night, then sat beside it until 2 a.m. Sunday. Shortly after dawn, they arose and resumed their tearful vigil, but when the black-clad girls went to an upstairs bedroom, the four fenced-in Dionne property, the four black-clad girls went to an upstairs bedroom.

Faulty Pen Leads To Wild Shooting, Chase; One Death

DANVILLE, Va. (AP) — A pen that wouldn't write set off a bizarre chain of circumstances here yesterday that led to a shooting spree, a police chase and the death by drowning of an Air Force private.

Police said Pfc. Melvin L. Gerbitz and Pvt. Augustine Smith, both of Ft. Bragg, N.C., were in a local restaurant when one of the two — it hadn't been determined which one — became angry because his fountain pen wouldn't write.

He handed the pen to his companion, told him to hold it at arm's length, pulled out a pistol and shot the pen to bits.

The restaurant owner called police. The airmen hopped in a car and sped away. Police gave chase.

At a bridge across the Dan River near town, the airmen's car smashed into an embankment. The two crawled out of the car and tried to swim the river.

Boy Kidnapped Accidentally

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP) — Four-year-old Bruce Parker was safe at home today after an accidental kidnap experience that left him a little hungry and thirsty but otherwise unharmed.

The youngster was found Saturday, still in the car which had been stolen from in front of a supermarket in Allentown, as he lay asleep in the back seat.

Edward Diehl, returning from a hunting trip, discovered the abandoned car on a dirt mountain road three miles east of Lehigh, ending the 37-hour search.

The child's mother, Mrs. Albert Parker, left the car keys in the ignition and police theorized the thief drove off in the car without even noticing the youngster in the back seat.
