Primary Votes Recorded

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rep. Carl T. Curtis of Nebraska topped Gov. Robert Crosby in a Republican Senate race Tuesday and another governor—Francie Cherry of Arkansas—was an apparent loser in his bid for a second term.

In Idaho, Sen. Harry C. Dworshak easily won renomination in the Republican primary. Former Sen. Glen Taylor—the 1948 running mate of Henry Wallace on the Progressive party's presidential ticket—held a narrow lead over State Rep. Claude Burtenshaw, a college professor, for the Democratic senatorial nomination.

Curtis won Nebraska's GOP nomination to a 6-year Senate term while Arkaknsas publisher Orval Faubus led Cherry in their Democratic runoff for governor. Barring major upsets, nominations in both contests are tantamount to election.

In Delaware, Frear was renominated for a second Senate term on the Democratic convention's first ballot. The lower, by a vote of 125 to 84, was James M. Tunnell Jr., who resigned last week as a state Supreme Court Justice to make the race.

Republicans will name Frear's November opponent next week. The only announced candidate is Rep. Herbert Warburton.

William H. Roy, 30 - year - old painter, was fined $100 for contempt of court Wednesday by Circuit Judge Ralph M. Holman.

City police arrested Roy on a charge of disorderly conduct. He is at liberty on $100 bail.

Hotel Plans Official Open House

Part of one of the country's top arrowhead collections will be displayed by the Winema Hotel in connection with open house and the official opening of the cocktail lounge — the Pow - Wow Room, on Thursday from 5:30 to 8 p.m.

The collection, which was purchased by the Winema in June, 1952, was gathered by Frank Payne, former resident of Klamath Falls, over a period of about 26 years.

Payne at the time was operator of a dry kiln for Big Lakes Lumber Company, and chose arrowhead collecting as a means to get out in the country. His recreational activity soon became a hobby — even more, a habit, and every possible free minute was spent combing the mountains and lake beds of the Klamath country.

Most of the artifacts, which include arrowheads, matting, mortars and pestles, Indian pipes, lucky stones, beads, etc., was gathered in the Lower Klamath Lake and Clear Lake areas; some in the Tulelake and Lava Beds country and in Fort Rock in Eastern Oregon.

The collection includes a few pieces from Colorado, given Payne by his parents who found them on their home place in Grand Junction. These possibly were his first incentive to arrowhead collecting.

The arrangement of the collection is as interesting as the items. Arrowheads have been placed in several interesting designs common to Indian lore. One string of bone beads is displayed in the same position in which Payne found it lying at Clear Lake.

A portion of the collection was on display at the San Francisco World Fair in 1939.

Only a small part of the collection of about 20,000 items will be shown in the Camas Room at the Winema's open house. These have been selected from the entire collection by Gene Favell, and arranged for display by Attorney George Proctor, themselves arrowhead and Indian artifact enthusiasts.

Payne's interest in arrowhead collecting and Indian lore served as an inspiration to his wife, Doris Palmer Payne, who authored "captain Jack, Modoc Renegade," after many trips to the Lava Beds country.

Payne now lives in Sonora, California, where he still operates a dry kiln. His sister, Mrs. Ward Dolan, lives at 323 Martin.
