WALL STREET NEW YORK (AP)—Oils and motors helped the stock market to higher ground Tuesday. Volume was nearly three million shares.

Stokowski's Wife Seen In Debut

MOUNTAINHOME, Pa. (AP)—Gloria Vanderbilt Stokowski made her long-awaited stage debut here last night, overcoming an obvious early nervousness to win the cheers of a full house for her galant portrayal of a princess in Ferend Molnar's romantic fable "The Swan."

In so doing, the tall, brunette, 30-year-old wife of conductor Leopold Stokowski and mother of two children fulfilled a driving ambition, known chiefly in an artistic way for her painting, she had determined to find out what she could do in the theater.

As she put it before first night curtain time at the Pocono Playhouse in this eastern Pennsylvania resort country: "If I can't act, I want to know it—and now. But if I can act, I want to make the most of that ability, to develop another side of my career."

"Wonderful! Wonderful!" she exclaimed. "The audience was so good and I am so grateful." Cameras wanted pose after pose, Gloria obliged more than a little heady with the magic still fresh even to one who has known such riches.

She spoke in gusts of emotion: "Everyone has been so kind and helpful... A marvelous experience... There were moments when I wasn't sure I'd make it... What else can I say? Then she retired to her dressing room.

In the play Gloria is an aloof princess of a kingdom belonging to that faraway world of Hapsburg and Bourbons. If her performance was more a brave silhouette than a three-dimensional characterization, the audience charitably concluded that's usually what you see in a princess.

Stokowski did not attend. His wife wished to meet the challenge alone—on first night anyway.

NY Coffee Price Lowers

NEW YORK (AP)—A 10-cent-a-pound drop in coffee prices spread among smaller roasters Tuesday but the big companies held back to await a steadier green coffee market.

For the second straight day the price of coffee futures fell the 3-cent-a-pound limit and trading was at a standstill as the result of easing of foreign exchange regulations by Brazil.

The first cut in wholesale prices came Monday from Joseph Martinson & Co., a roasting firm which distributes in several states. It reduced its wholesale price from $1.30 to $1.20 a pound.

Aborn's Coffee Corp., in Boston, announced a 10-cent cut in the wholesale price Monday night and said it should be reflected at retail in about a week. The retail price has been about $1.40 a pound.

But General Foods Corp., distributors of Maxwell House coffee had no news of a price cut, nor did the A&P or Standard Brands Inc.

Methodist Board Elects Leader

CHILQUIN—The official board of the Chilquin Methodist Church has elected Bob Mezger, Klamath Agency, for its leader during the next year, with Bill Rogers, Klamath Agency, vice president; Mrs. Lewis Jones, recording secretary and Mrs. Bert Bickers, Modoc Point, as lay leader.

The Rev. Edmund Stanton last week returned from Dead Indian Soda Springs where he was the leader of a summer camp for junior high school-age young people.

Fifty four were in the camp including Jim Herron, Bill Fricke, Barbara Adams, and Orin Kirk, Chilquinn, and Dennis Briggs, Klamath Agency. Cooks for both that camp and several others at the springs were the Rev. and Mrs. Harley Zeller, and their son, James Zeller, was counselor. The camp nurse was also from this area, Mrs. Marie Veatch, Fort Klamath.

Earlier in the summer Melvin Oles and Gordon Herron attended the camp for 4th, 5th and 6th graders and two weeks ago Cherry Wolf as camper, and Frieda Kirk as counselor, attended camp at Kirgruder on the Oregon coast. Frieda continued on to Suttle Lake near Bend to counsel for another Methodist young people's camp and plans to return there next week for a camp for her own age group.

During Stanton's absence, the church service was conducted by Howard Commons, Fish Hatchery, who is a member of the Fort Klamath Methodist Church, and by Bob Mezger, Commons conducted the worship service and Mezger brought the sermon. The two men also officiated earlier in the morning at the Fort Klamath church.

The local church is conducting a junior and senior high school summer day camp program under the direction of Rev. Stanton and Mrs. John Jaderholm. Each Thursday the group meets at 1:30 for seven hours of recreation, cook-outs, nature study, and worship. They have gone to several locations for the outings, including places where they can swim.

Odd Fellows Plan Trek

A "Trek to Jacksonville," Sunday, August 29 for the official dedication of Oregon's Historical Odd Fellows Lodge is being planned.

Grand Master Harley Looney is asking all branches of the order to join the trek.

Jacksville Lodge No. 10 was proclaimed the Ancient and Historical Lodge of Oregon at the last grand lodge session in Grants Pass in May.

Meetings have been held in the same building for over 90 years since Lodge No. 10 was instituted. Prosperity Rebekah Lodge No. 104 will entertain visiting brothers and members of Klamath Lodge 137 at the next meeting, Thursday evening, August 19 when plans for the Jacksonville trip will be discussed.

Woods Employes Return To Work

The entire crew of Meadow Valley Lumber Company at Quincy and Spanish Ranch, California, have returned to work. The employees, numbering about 115 men, are represented in negotiation by AFL local 1123.

Pickets have been removed, but no contract has been signed, according to Pine Industrial Relations Committee.

The Quincy plant has been operating for several weeks with the crew crossing the picket line.

The Spanish Ranch sawmill resumed operation last Saturday, but the woods employes did not return to work until this morning.

Robbery Case Goes To Jury

A jury Tuesday afternoon was deliberating the fate of William Roberson, accused of a $185 barber shop burglary, after he testified in circuit court that he was the "fall guy" in the case and another person perpetrated the crime.

Roberson took the stand in his own defense and told the jury that on the night of June 11 when the Medical Dental Building Barber Shop where he was employed as porter was burglarized, he was menaced with a gun in the place and virtually kidnapped.

According to the defendant, the money was taken from the cash drawer in the barber shop by a Negro known to him only as "Roosevelt." He said Roosevelt forced him with a revolver and covered him into an automobile driven by another man, Al Dunsuir, California, he said he was put out of the car. Roberson said he then hitchhiked to Monterey, California, where he was subsequently arrested.

Donald Wells, proprietor of the barber shop, said a few days after the money was stolen he received a telephone call from Roberson in Monterey. He said Roberson denied the theft and put the blame on Roosevelt, also a former employe of the barber shop.

Wells also said the defendant offered to return to Klamath Falls and work out the loss.

Shortly before closing the prosecution's case, District Attorney Frank Alderson called Deputy Sheriff Thomas Martin of Monterey County, California, who described how he arrested Roberson. He said the defendant told him another man had committed the burglary.

Defense Attorney Ben Goddard made an eloquent plea for acquittal. He pictured his client as the innocent victim of another person's wrong-doing. He also pointed out that although Roberson was jointly charged with another person listed as "John Doe," no other arrest in the case had been made.

The trial was held before Circuit Judge Charles Foster of Lakeview, who was assigned to the case by the state supreme court. Circuit Judge David R. Vandenberg of Klamath Falls was disqualified to try the case on a motion of District Attorney Alderson. The supreme court assigned Judge Ralph M. Holman of Oregon City but he was disqualified by Attorney Goddard. Then Judge Foster was ordered to preside.

Shetland Pony Mane 'Clipped'

A job that has all the appearances of having been executed by the Feather Merchants of Hoot-in-Holler, in the comic strip Smurfy Smith, was performed on a small Shetland pony in a pasture at 2124 Ogden Street during the past weekend.

The "merchants" apparently anticipating a small fortune in "horse freaks" from the mane of Judy Trinker, Shetland pony owned by the three children of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Shiff, caught the pony in the pasture and snipped its mane.

Nary a hair was left that would furnish a clue to the identity of the "shifless skunk" who clipped the beautiful flowing mane.

Doctor Out On Bail In Murder Case

CLEVELAND (AP)—Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard was back at his hospital practice today while police complained about his day-old freedom and the grand jury swung into the second day of a hearing that could end it.

Sheppard, 30, shed his prison denials yesterday after Common Pleas Judge William E. Thomas freed him on $50,000 bond. The handsome, athletic osteopath is accused of clubbing to death his 21-year-old pregnant wife Marilyn July 4.

Sheppard helped his brothers read X-ray films at the Bay View Hospital, a grand jury moved through a list of 16 witnesses called to give testimony on the first-degree murder charge against the prominent osteopath.

The county prosecution indicated the jury might begin deliberation today, and would have Sheppard re-arrested immediately if an indictment is returned.

Authorities strongly protested Judge Thomas' action granting bail request and freeing Sheppard, in view of the severity of the charges against him. Judge Thomas said evidence didn't warrant his refusing bond.

County Prosecutor Frank T. Cullinan said, "I never heard of it in any 22 years here."

Cleveland's detective chief, James E. McArthur, expressed "shock" at the judge's action and heathily suggested that the city well might pull out of the murder case and leave it to county or suburban Bay Village authorities.

McArthur said the investigation is just about complete anyway. A preliminary hearing to present evidence that Sheppard should be held was scheduled for yesterday, but the hearing was bypassed when the prosecution, seeking to keep Sheppard's attorneys in the dark about its plans for presenting the case should it reach a trial, brought matters directly to the grand jury.

In The News

I'm sure that if there had been radio and TV back in Edmund Burke's day he would have included them when he pointed up to the reporters gallery in the house of commons and said: "Yonder sits the Fourth Estate, more important than them all." (The other estates to which he referred were the "Lords Spiritual, the Lords Temporal and the Commons.")

Quite considerable progress has been made in United Nations world plain, simple, unpretentious reporting of the news by TV. There are hidden behind the glass screens in the balconies where they seem to disturb the proceedings relatively little.

But even there they are a disturbing influence as yet, as Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb brought out strikingly a while back when he remarked that with everything that went on at UN being televised and seen instantly by maybe a fourth of the population of the world one couldn't even scratch his head without unconsciously putting on a show.

What has happened, I think, is that our communications facilities have multiplied fantastically faster than our ability to adapt our normally solemn and serious court and legislative procedures to the new order of things without making ham actors out of those who participate in them.
