STOCKS

WALL STREET

NEW YORK (AP) — Steels and aircrafts led the stock market higher Thursday in moderate activity. Volume was about 2,400,000 shares.

Chemicals, motion-pictures, mail order houses and rubber producers were also generally higher while the rest of the market mixed small gains and losses.

Grains

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO (AP) — Small price changes were recorded in most grains on the board of trade Thursday although September soybeans moved over a fairly wide range.

After rallying early, September soybeans fell back. Toward the finish they moved up again, carrying deferred contracts with them. The market was helped by an inquiry for cash beans from Formosa.

Wheat, oats and rye were steady most of the session without adding much to previous closing prices. Corn suffered from occasional weak spells.

Wheat closed ¼ lower to ¾ higher, Sept 2.13 ¼-⅛; corn ⅜ higher, Sept 1.64 ⅛-¼; oats unchanged to ⅛ lower, Sept 73-73 ⅛; rye ½ to 1 cent higher, Sept 1.19 ½; soybeans 2 ½-4 ⅛ higher, Sept 2.16-3.17, and lard 10 to 35 cents a hundred pounds higher, Sept 16.60.

ELECTIONS

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — First returns in the South African provincial elections Thursday showed Prime Minister Daniel Malan's color-bar candidates are gaining power.

Ike Begins Pre-Election Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhowrr flies to Illinois today for two speeches to start what ultimately will amount to a cross-country drive to strengthen his party's hold on congress.

Appearances at Springfield and Evanston this afternoon are but two of six the President has definitely scheduled for the doubtful Senate election states of Illinois, Iowa, Oregon, and California; and in Washington state, where seven House seats are at stake Nov. 2. Other speeches are planned but dates and places are yet to be determined.

Republicans from Eisenhower down are anxious to boost their hairline margin over the Democrats in Congress, whom they outnumber in the Senate by just one and in the House by five.

At Springfield, the President was scheduled to speak at Republican Day ceremonies at the Illinois State Fair. He planned another informal talk later on the Northwestern University campus at Evanston to the Assembly of the World Council of Churches.

White House officials gave no hint what the President might say, except that the Springfield talk would be on "domestic questions" and that at Evanston would be international in nature.

The Springfield visit was to have all the trappings of an old-fashioned political rally, with GOP candidates flocking to the presidential platform in a show of unity notably lacking before July 3.

It was on that day that the White House made public letters between the President and Joseph T. Meek, Republican candidate for the Senate in Illinois. In that exchange Meek pledged his loyalties and support to Eisenhower and the President gave Meek his blessing by saying he looked forward to greeting the November opponent of Democratic Sen. Paul Douglas next Jan. 3 as the junior senator from Illinois.

Meek has differed on several issues with the Eisenhower administration, but Eisenhower has said a candidate does not have to be 100 per cent for his program to have his support.

Republican Gov. William G. Stratton will introduce the President.

Portland Hosts Steel Unionists

PORTLAND (AP) — Representatives of 58,000 CIO Steelworkers in 11 western states began arriving in Portland Thursday for a weekend convention.

Policies on wages, contracts and political issues will be discussed in the three-day session. Hugh Mathews, Renton, Wash., sub-district director for Oregon and Western Washington, will be temporary chairman.

Basque Immigrant Law Goes To Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill making it possible for a number of Basque sheepherders to temporarily escape deportation has been sent to President Eisenhower.

The measure would suspend the application of immigration laws to the Basques who came to this country as seamen with plans to work on sheep ranches in the West.

Rep. Walter (D-Pa) said the Judiciary Committee will consider in the future a bill to allow the men to stay in the United States.

Sentences Given By Judge Foster

A 32-year-old carpenter with a long criminal record who blamed his troubles on alcohol failed to arouse the sympathy of Circuit Judge Charles Foster when he came up for sentence Thursday.

The defendant, Francis M. Mitchell, was given a five year term in Oregon State Prison. He had pleaded guilty to a bogus check charge.

The judge pointed out that although Mitchell claimed compulsive drinking was responsible for a series of crimes, he was once paroled in Kansas to Alcoholics Anonymous and only was out of jail three months.

"You have had a good many chances," the judge said. "I don't doubt that alcohol has something to do with your plight. I am going to recommend to prison officials that they carefully investigate your case and see if you need psychiatric treatment."

Defense Attorney Ben Goddard, in a plea for leniency, called the court's attention to Mitchell's war record. He said the defendant saw service on Guadacanal in World War II. He also said Mitchell suffered a head injury while stationed in the Hawaiian Islands.

Another law breaker fared better when he faced Judge Holman for sentencing. He was William Roberson, porter at the Medical Dentzl Building Barber Shop. He was found guilty by a jury of stealing $185 from the tonsorial parlor.

Judge Holman imposed a two-year suspended sentence on Roberson and placed him on five year's probation. On recommendation of District Attorney Frank Alderson, the court also ordered the defendant to repay the stolen money to Donald Wells, proprietor of the barber shop. He also must pay the court costs in connection with his case.

Driver Escapes Serious Injury

A California car was badly damaged but the driver escaped serious injury in a car-truck accident about two miles north of the Spring Creek hill on Highway 97 north of here Wednesday afternoon.

Fay Cahan, Carmarillo, California, in attempting to pass a truck and semi-trailer, hit the shoulder and lost control of her car. The vehicle swerved back onto the pavement and was struck by the big freighter, Oregon State Police reported.

The Cahan car went in the ditch, but Richard Lewis operator of the truck was able to stop on the highway.

Staunch Italian Democrat Lost As De Gasperi Dies

SELLA VAL SUGANA, Italy (AP)—Alcide de Gasperi, the lean old statesman who led Italy out of postwar chaos and onto the path of democracy, died today of a heart attack.

Death came to the former Premier as he rested here in his north Italy mountain retreat, far fom Rome and the political war in which he had battled without respite for nearly a decade.

His passing robbed the cause of European union of one of its staunchest supporters. Italy's struggle against communism lost one of its hardest fighiers.

Although it was known the 73-year-old leader's health was failing, there had been no public hint he was seriously ill. Only after his death was it revealed that he had suffered a heart attack a week ago. His condition was not considered serious until Tuesday, when the heart pains became more intense.

ATTACK

He suffered another attack at 2 a.m. today and died an hour later after still another seizure. His family was at his bedside.

De Gasperi had stepped down from the titular leadership of his pro - Western, middle-of-the-road Christian Democrat party—Italy's largest—a little more than a month ago.

He ended his 8½ years as head of the Italian government a year ago, in July 1953, after losing a confidence vote in the Italian Parliament. But his party supplied succeeding cabinets and a protege of De Gasperi, former Interior Minister Mario Scelba, now holds the premiership.

A messenger brought the news of the death before dawn to Scelba and the Premier hurried from his own vacation spot, Fiuggi, to the scene of the death of his old mentor.

RED FOE

Known in the troublesome early days of the Italian republic as the master of political compromise, De Gasperi changed later to become a two-fisted foe of the growing menace of communism.

The tall, hawk-faced leader first became premier in December 1945 because he was leader of Italy's biggest party. A noted anti-Fascist imprisoned often by Mussolini, he had served since the previous April as foreign minister.

In his first two years as premier he tried to work with his nation's Communists and fellow-traveling Socialists, but in the spring of 1947 abandoned the effort and in the 1948 elections inflicted a smashing defeat on the Reds.

For five years after that he fought the Reds at every turn, battling to keep his nation closely allied with the United States and the anti-Communist West, pushing the cause of European unity.

ALLIANCE

In 1949 he brought Italy into the North Atlantic alliance against Communist aggression as a charter member.

The Schuman coal-steel plan, the Council of Europe and the six-nation European army all received his enthusiastic support.

Honoring his pioneer work, the Coal-Steel Assembly last May elected him its president. Ironically, he died only a few hours before the foreign ministers of Italy and the five other nations of the projected European Defense Community gathered in Brussels at a meeting which may mean the death of the long-cherished international army plan.

Under De Gasperi's leadership, Italy became one of the most politically stable countries in Western Europe. In recent years, however, this stability began to crumble under the nation's chronic economic distress and deepening inroads by not only the Communists, but the Monarchists and Fascists as well.

COALITION

In the 1953 parliamentary elections, De Gasperi's Christian Democrats tried to capture a majority in the Chamber of Deputies but finally were forced to rely on an uneasy center coalition to hold precarious control of the government.

On July 28, 1953, the combined opposition of Communists, Socialists, Monarchists and Fascists defeated De Gasperi by a narrow margin of 282-263 on his bid in the Chamber of Deputies for a vote of confidence. Worn by eight stormy years of continuous political battling, the old man handed in his resignation to President Luigi Einaudi.

He remained the dominant member of his party but a little more than a month ago, after a siege of declining health, he relinquished his leadership.
