

Youth Kills Pretty High School Girl

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A gaunt 17-year-old youth has admitted he raped and stabbed Mary Jelene Friess, the attractive suburban-haired high school girl whose nearly nude body was found in a lonely woods near here last Thursday, Lucas County police said today.

Her face slashed and her body battered, the 17-year-old coed was discovered after she failed to return home from a trip to her rural mailbox.

She had been dragged from her bicycle. Her pink blouse and blue denim shorts were torn and doctors said she had been raped.

Detective Capt. Alfred Bartcowiak of the sheriff's office said the youth, Bernard Schreiber, admitted the crime and implicated a 12-year-old companion, who was brought in for questioning today.

Sheriff William Hirsch said Schreiber will be formally charged today.

Bartcowiak said Schreiber told this story:

The two boys noted the Monday before the slaying that the girl came to a rural mailbox to pick up mail. They decided then to attack her.

He and the younger boy hid in weeds near the mailbox and when the girl passed the 12-year-old leaped from the weeds and hit her with a club.

The girl bolted into the woods, Schreiber in close pursuit.

The younger boy slugged the girl again, while she was struggling with Schreiber, then ran away.

Schreiber pulled out a knife and stabbed her twice. Afterwards he raped her, and went home for lunch, officers said.

The sheriff said Schreiber's arrest came after he got a telephone call from a woman who chose to remain unidentified. The woman said the boy had told his mother, Mrs. Paul Schreiber, he had killed a girl, the sheriff said.

Detective Sgt. William Barber and Sgt. William Sloan, who went to arrest the youth, said Mrs. Schreiber told them she had been conscience-stricken since hearing her son's confession, but didn't know what to do with the information. The detectives said Mrs. Schreiber quoted her son as saying the day of the slaying:

"I just killed a girl. I stabbed her twice."

Ike Issues Plea To Church Leaders At World Meeting

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY
EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—President Eisenhower's fervent plea to the world's spiritual chiefs to lead the way to a just and lasting peace drew an approving "amen" from churchmen today.

He laid his show-the-way challenge before representatives of 170 million Christians yesterday at a session of the World Council of Churches.

It was greeted with applause. Churchmen and laymen attending the convention later told newsmen of their reaction to Eisenhower's speech—including his appeal for a prayerful campaign for peace that could result in a global day of prayer, his public profession of faith and an invitation to criticize government "in the light of religious ideals."

A half dozen or more used terms such as "wonderful" and "very good."

SPEECH
Bishop Otto Dibelius, leader of German Protestantism, appraised it as a "very remarkable speech," and added:

"It comes from the depths of the heart and is very much welcomed by the members of this assembly."

The President addressed a multitude of 18,000 men, women and children who sat or stood in North-western University's Deering Meadow. In the audience were representatives of 163 denominations in 48 countries who are in the midst of a 17-day conference.

Eisenhower spoke of a campaign for "a just and lasting peace," and added:

"I believe that you spiritual leaders of a great world organization, together with your brethren of other faiths, can lead the way."

"The goal should be nothing short of inviting every single person in every single country of the world who believes in the power of a Supreme Being to join in a mighty, simultaneous, intense act of faith."

PRAYER
"That act of faith might take the form of a personal prayer by hundreds upon hundreds of millions delivered simultaneously and fervently for the devotion, wisdom and stamina to work unceasingly for a just and lasting peace."

The President, through most of his remarks was solemn in tone. The black academic robe he donned to receive an honorary degree of doctor of laws from Northwestern emphasized the gravity of his demeanor.

The President, in one part of his speech, referred to religion as "a practical force in our affairs."

Methodist Bishop William C. Martin of Dallas, president of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the USA, told a newsmen: "It thought it was a very forceful statement of the proper relationship of church and state. Problems in the realm of economic and political life can never be effectively solved until the decisions are made in an atmosphere created by Christian faith and hope."

SWISS LEADER
Prof. Adolph Keller of the Swiss Protestant Church Federation said it was "a great moment to hear such a statement," and noted that Eisenhower had made a "declaration of dependence on God."

Bishop Weston Henry Stewart of Jerusalem, a prelate of the Church of England in Jordan, said he was most impressed by the President's profession of faith.

That was the President's statement that "for a moment" he was speaking "as a private citizen, a single member of one of the constituent bodies of this council of churches."

The Archbishop of Canterbury, primate of the Church of England, made this comment on Eisenhower's suggestion for a religious peace movement:

"All such movements must begin from the bottom and not be laid on from the top."

Laborites To Tour Manchuria

Editor's Note — This is another of the stories by the London Daily Telegraph correspondent accompanying the Labor party group on its visit to China. The Telegraph newspaper.

By JOHN RIDLEY
(By arrangement with the Daily Telegraph, London)

PEIPING (AP)—The British Labor party delegation to China headed for Mukden today and a three-day tour of Manchurian industrial plants. At Anshan they will be shown newly developed steel mills and will inspect various welfare schemes set up for workers.

They then go on to Tongshan to see a coal mine before returning to Peiping Sunday night.

It has now been confirmed that the delegation will meet Mao Tse-tung next week during their three remaining days in Peiping before going on south to Shanghai. The exact time and place of the meeting still are being kept secret.

In fact, everything about Mao seems to be a close-kept secret. He is rarely seen by the public except at exceptional functions. Nobody is quite certain where he lives.

Premier Chou En-lai, on the other hand, makes frequent public appearances and unlike other Communist leaders doesn't appear to have a large entourage of guards.

Yesterday two members of the British delegation called at the Food Ministry while the others toured the railway marshalling yard and Peiping University.

Last night the eight Laborites went to the summer palace outside Peiping to dine at the Ting Lee Huan restaurant, famous because there can be heard in the evening the song of the golden oriole.

Eisenhower Urges France, Italy To Approve EDC Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower told Congress today a firm defense of Western Europe against Russian attack will be impossible without German troops to bolster the line.

In a report on the government's foreign aid program during the first six months of this year, Eisenhower again appealed to France and Italy to approve the European army project which would make it possible to add German manpower to Europe's defenses.

"The EDC (European Defense Community)," he said, "offers the best solution for the difficult problem of integrating German armed forces into the European defense system."

"No measures to defend free Europe from Soviet aggression can be fully effective without participation."

ARGUING
The President's statement came as foreign ministers of West Germany, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg and Italy were arguing in Brussels with French Prime Minister Pierre Mendès-France over new French objections to the plan. France and Italy alone of the six countries have not ratified the plan.

Eisenhower said failure to approve EDC during the past six months covered by his report constituted "the most serious single obstacle" to a successful European defense.

Congress last night sent to the White House a bill providing $5,243,575,795 to run the foreign aid program another year, including both military and economic assistance.

The President told the congressmen that, as part of its drive to bolster the free world, the United States shipped $1,700,000,000 in weapons and military supplies during the first half of 1954 to friendly governments.

He said this raised the amount sent overseas since the military aid program began to $9,400,000,000 — about $8,700,000,000 to European countries.

New military aid agreements with Japan and Pakistan, he said, have helped strengthen anti-Communist defenses in the Far East. But, he acknowledged, that Communist gains in Indochina represent a "serious military setback" for the free world.

He said that in order to block further Red drives it would be necessary to strengthen the economic base of Far East countries, thus permitting them to build up their armed forces without dangerous strain on their economies.

He reported the United States is re-equipping the Chinese Nationalist air force on Formosa with jet warplanes and that some of the should be ready for action this fall.

Present aid programs, he said, also involved improving anti-air defenses on the island stronghold as well as a better "communications wing."

About 700 million dollars of the $1,700,000,000 in military aid shipped overseas during the period he said, went to Far East countries.

The President gave this breakdown of the numbers and types of weapons shipped overseas to all countries over the past four years: 34,733 tanks and combat vehicles; 188,497 motor transport vehicles;

Rain Forecast Over West

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Snowers were in prospect for scattered areas in the west, mid-continent and south but a fairly pleasant weather was the outlook for most of the country Friday.

Heaviest hit by rain Thursday were areas from the plains states eastward to the Atlantic but falls generally were light.

Cooler temperatures accompanied the showers in the central Mississippi Valley and also in Oregon and Northern California. It was a little warmer in the northern plains and in a belt extending from lower Michigan and Ohio to Delaware and Virginia.

Cooler air also invaded parts of Missouri and Kansas to break a brief heat wave. But it was again hot in Arkansas and Texas and most of the southern plains eastward through the south Atlantic states. Readings also were 100 and higher in the southwest desert region. It was cool in the Pacific Northwest.

Early morning reports showed New York 73 and cloudy; Boston 72 and cloudy; Washington 71 and cloudy; Atlanta 73 and cloudy; Miami 81 and clear; Memphis 73 and clear; Denver 61 and clear; Salt Lake City 74 and cloudy; Portland 61 and cloudy; San Francisco 58 and cloudy; Los Angeles 65 and cloudy; Chicago 66 and clear; Kansas City 69 and cloudy; Minneapolis 65 and cloudy; Detroit 62 and cloudy; Cleveland 58 and clear; St. Louis 69 and clear.
