ABOVE... the new Mr. and Mrs. Staunton cut the cake at the reception in the garden of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie R. Rogers. In the other picture, also at the reception, are some of the more-than 300 guests.

BEFORE THE WEDDING... Margaret Louise Duckett poses in her exquisite bridal gown before the fireplace in her parents' home in Tulelake. She became the bride of John Marshall Staunton last Sunday in the Tulelake Community Presbyterian Church at 4 p.m., the Rev. Marvin Jerome Keyser, officiant. Bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edger J. Duckett; and the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Webb Staunton, are also residents of Tulelake. Both families are well known throughout the Basin and the wedding was a social event of summer.

MRS. JAMES EDMONDS CRESWELL... the former Carol George, before the 6 p.m. nuptial service in Mt. Laki Community Church, last Sunday. The Rev. William W. Ainley officiated at the double-ring ceremony uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loren W. George, Hill Road; to the son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Creswell, Weyerhaeuser District. Over 200 guests were at the Mt. Laki Church; and later at the reception in the First Presbyterian Church, Klamath Falls.
