Flying Object Seen Over KF

A bright object, described as almost round and all-glowing, was seen at 1:20 a.m. today by Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Book, 2119 Garden, as they were leaving the home of their hosts for the evening on Oak Street.

"I was thrilled," stated Mrs. Book. "After all we've read about flying saucers and here we were surely seeing one."

The object, having much the appearance of a fast-moving, glowing full moon, traveled quickly overhead and apparently disappeared through the cloudy skies in the direction of the airport, Mrs. Book related.

"It all happened very quickly," she said, "as the object passed over the city going quite fast."

Mrs. Alta Lovell, chief observer of the Ground Observer Corps, stated today that she was present in the tower from midnight until 2 a.m. today and no strange object was sighted by the observers.

She added that the GOC welcomes calls from anyone seeing unusual objects in the sky. Any such report received is relayed to the Air Force for investigation and she asks that any witnesses to unusual heavenly bodies call her at 6871.

OSC Graduates In Demand

OREGON STATE COLLEGE, Corvallis — All of the available June graduates from Oregon State College who completed work for high school and elementary school teaching certificates have been placed for the coming year.

A report compiled by Miss May Workinger, college placement secretary since 1920, shows an increasing demand for well-qualified teachers. OSC had dozens of requests for teachers this year it could not fill.

Approximately 125 June graduates were placed along with eight summer session students who registered with the placement office.

For men, greatest calls came in industrial arts, agriculture, mathematics and physical sciences.
