Neuberger Urges Public Atomic Power Control

State Senator Richard L. Neuberger, Democratic nominee for United States Senator, Thursday told a crowd of supporters at the Multnomah County fair in Gresham that he "definitely and firmly" favored public control of the atomic energy patents which have cost the American people at least $12,500,000,000.

Neuberger said that the prolonged debate in the Senate over the atomic power issue had helped to alert the voters of the nation. "This fact," he said, "resulted in the defeat of a bill that would have given atomic energy patents to a favored few gigantic industrial corporations, to exploit for private gain at the expense of the public interest."

Neuberger assailed those who label as "socialistic" public ownership over the atom and he criticized the vote of his opponent, Guy Gordon, who favored the administration bill which would have allowed private power companies to use atomic patents.

"One of the greatest of conservative Republicans, Arthur Vandenberg, believed the public should keep in its own hands the means of producing atomic energy," claimed Neuberger.

The Democratic Senate nominee quoted from Vandenberg's autobiography in which the late Michigan Senator declared that, until a complete international agreement had been reached for outlawing atomic weapons, "it is absolutely vital that public ownership and public control of atomic energy should be as completely airtight and fool proof as it is possible to make it. Anything less would be a surrender to the greatest hazard of the ages."

"That's what Arthur Vandenberg wrote," said Neuberger. "Yet Senator Gordon and Secretary McKay—in defiance of the wisdom of Senator Vandenberg—want to extend the reckless give-away program to atomic energy. They want to make a gift of the atomic program to a few monopolistic power companies. It is a blessing that the Democrats, a few liberal Republicans and Independent Senator Morse have kept this bargain-basement presentation from being carried through."

Neuberger declared that, if elected to the Senate, he would follow the advice of Senator Vandenberg with respect to retaining public control over atomic energy. "We don't want an atomic war between Pacific Power & Light and Portland General Electric," he quipped. "It would be too dangerous to the people."
