It Happened This Way In New Pine Creek

By IRVIN FARIS

Now wasn't that nice? Lee Hansen just gave me a ring in response to an inquiry made the day previous. "Yes," he said, "It's okay to go ahead and use some of the forms used on the 4-H dormitory foundation at the fairgrounds."

"Geel!" I said. "That's great. We'll pay for any we cut up and pay for the use of them besides."

"What was it you were building?"

"We wanted them for the footing of the fire hall. Thought it would lessen costs and speed up the work. And since the forms were just stacked up there and probably wouldn't be used for much of anything else — we thought they might be available."

"Well — that's fine. We'll be glad to let you use them for the fire hall. That's a good thing for the community. Just return them when you finish with them. There'll be no charge."

But even our impoverished district can see no reason why the 4-Hers on the fair board who are having their own financial difficulties should not be reimbursed to a reasonable extent for the use of these forms — thanks anyway — Lee.

We aim to get them in and the foundation poured this week. Andy Duncan is slated to be on hand next Monday to start laying up the blocks with his helper. A wall ten feet high with stepping fire wall is estimated to cost $636, provided our brick doesn't cost over 30 cents.

Darvin Robnett donated his truck and a hired man, Jimmy Vincent, who along with Larry Angland and son Robert, took off this morning for Glass Mountain for the order of blocks to do the job. A. L. Woods is donating one of his trucks for a load also but it was being overhauled and was not quite ready to go when the boys took off. It may be used for a load later this week or early next week.

Jack Moffitt brought his trench digger down last Sunday and after digging for awhile left it for some of the boys to use. Bart Scribner ran it a while, then Cliff, then Clarence McClain, the fire chief, nearly finished the excavation. Jack finished it up Monday morning. This gesture was a big boon to the work and was greatly appreciated.

At the meeting of the East Side Grange held last Saturday evening it was decided that the local grange would enter a booth at the Lake County Fair again this year. Those in charge of the booth at present are John Richardson and Mr. L. Persson. They have issued an SOS for produce to be entered. This being a rather poor garden year, a sufficient amount of produce may be a little difficult to secure. All farmers who are grange members in the vicinity no doubt will respond and help put this project on the usual whole-hearted manner.

It has been pointed out that the Lake County Fair exhibits are open to all of the residents in Lake County and all California residents living in Goose Lake Valley, irrespective of the line. This gives the farmers on both sides a chance to enter their exhibits as a community. All are welcome to bring their entries to the East Side Grange booth at the fairgrounds or contact those in charge to see what is desperately needed for the booth. Anything pertaining to agricultural pursuits or hobbies of farmer's wives are acceptable.

Mrs. Freda Evans and children returned last Wednesday from a few days spent in San Francisco at a clinic. On their return they visited friends at Anderson and at Bieber, California.

Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Johnston returned last Wednesday evening from their trip by air back to Pennsylvania. "It was a wonderful trip," Kay said. "The thing that gets you is the speed—the unbelievable suddenness at which you arrive at the various stops made across the continent." Sarah said, "Going back I enjoyed every minute of it but I slept very little. Was just a bit uneasy, I guess, although there wasn't really anything to be uneasy about. Coming back I relaxed more."

Kay said at their airport of destination they checked the airport for about 30 minutes. He said that what they were doing? Why didn't they land? The navigator said, "We're waiting for our landing signal. Traffic is heavy. We have to wait for our air lane to clear."

But Kay said he craned his neck this way and that and he couldn't see any reason why they couldn't land. As far as he could tell the air-lane was clear. Apparently this was a feeling of anxiety speaking ahead of the voice of experience.

Carl Ice, of Grants Pass, visited his aunt, Mrs. Enos Robinson for about a week before going on down to Alturas where he visited a sister.

My! How these lads do grow up. Richard Lawson was getting mail the other day. "Gosh!" he exclaimed. "Looks like the folks'd get their mail once in a while."

Fact was he was up someone's box who was on a vacation. He has grown so much this summer that when he reached out for the box that he thought was theirs, his reach was about four inches taller and he got into the one just above. Oh! me. Imagine his chagrin!

Localities who attended the Bend-Lakeview game last Sunday really got a thrill out of seeing the Gems topple the Bend Loggers 4 to 2. In what was termed the most exciting game of the season. But these fans didn't understand why the prolesed game had to be played the same day. They reasoned Lakeview should have insisted that Bend made a special trip down for the special game.

The way it was the Bend pitching staff seemed to have the edge. Bobby Long after pitching a splendid game then was forced to be on the mound for the start of the play-off game against Bend's fresh shot Gerhman. He pitched two big innings then realized he was too tired for his most effective pitching. Ralph Willis was then called in to finish the game, and he did a good job, for the five remaining innings. Bend used three pitchers in the two games and Lakeview two.

Some thought perhaps the play-off game might not have been played if Bend had had to make a special trip for it. But this is just foam on troubled waters. Fact is the games Sunday were a grand exhibition of good, clean ball playing. Bend won the protest 7 innings game 4-2.

Something mysterious-like has been getting Earl Butler's poultry lately. Some geese and some chickens have come up missing. Last night a noise was heard down at the chicken pens which gave rise to a sorrowful incident.

Earl jumped out of bed, grabbed his bathrobe and headed with his gun to see what the disturbance was about. As he neared the chicken pen he caught sight of a dark object darting from the door of the chicken house that looked like a big cat or a dog. He let go a couple of blasts.

About that time he was conscious of something brushing past his legs and heading for the chicken pens. Again he blasted only later to discover that he had shot part of a front foot of his pet dog. He was an extra good dog, too. You can imagine how badly Earl felt and the true culprit is yet to be eliminated.
