City Plans Polio Inoculations

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The City Health Department moved through the process of preparing inoculations for 400 children today after it was disclosed that a campmate of the group had been stricken with polio Monday.

Dr. Angelo M. Perri, chief of the Division of Communicable Diseases, said applications for inoculation with gamma globulin were being processed with the parents of the boys who attended the city camp near Marshall's Creek, Pa., from Aug. 10 to 24.

A guest of the Department of Recreation at the camp, Robert Thiel, was taken to Philadelphia General Hospital Monday with polio.

Dr. Perri said it is not known whether the victim contracted the disease at camp or since his return home.
