

Primary Held In Arizona

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Ernest W. McFarland, staging a spectacular political comeback, today holds the Democratic nomination for governor of Arizona.

Surprising even his most optimistic supporters, the former majority leader of the U. S. Senate overwhelmed State Sen. William Kimball in a lopsided race that was decided within four hours after the polls closed yesterday.

He led from the start in all 14 of the state's counties and even carried Kimball's own district. "The Democratic voters of Arizona have not only spoken, they have shouted," Kimball wired the victor. "Congratulations."

In Arizona's two congressional districts L. S. Adams of Phoenix, minority leader in the State House of Representatives the past four years, won the Democratic nod in the 1st District. Stewart Udall, member of a pioneer Arizona family, won in the 2nd.

The United Nations has received 1,600 Allied bodies — 1,381 Americans, 42 Britons, 19 Australians, 49 Koreans and 189 unidentified.

Doctor Salk Optimistic At Results Of Polio Vaccine

ROME (AP)—Dr. Jonas E. Salk, whose polio vaccine is undergoing one of medical history's most closely watched tests, reported today that man eventually may gain long-term immunity against polio from as little as two injections.

The young bacteriologist from the University of Pittsburgh submitted his eagerly awaited report to physicians and scientists of 40 nations, gathered in Rome for the International Poliomyelitis Congress.

Salk developed the vaccine which has been given to 425,000 children in the United States in a massive trial supported by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Its effectiveness will not be known definitely until next March, when the field test results are evaluated and announced by Dr. Thomas Francis Jr. of the University of Michigan, Salk's former mentor and also a delegate at the congress.

But Salk reported there already is evidence that the vaccine generates antibodies — virus-fighting particles — in the blood streams of vaccinated persons. He said they are equal to antibodies found in the blood of persons who have recovered from the disease.

"The indications are that such can be accomplished with as few as two injections," he reported. "provided the potency of the vaccine and the interval (between shots) are both adequate."

It is still not certain how long the effect of the vaccine will last, Salk said, adding:

"That there is still much to be learned is clear indeed. Nevertheless, it does appear . . . that by suitable manipulation of the dose of vaccine and of the intervals between inoculations, it should be possible with relatively few injections properly spaced to provide long-term immunity."

that the interval is longer than five weeks."
