

Western Audiences Hear Ike Defending GOP Record

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Eisenhower came out slugging last night for the first time in the young political campaign — and his partisan California audience loved it.

An estimated 18,000 persons gathered at the Hollywood Bowl cheered wildly as Eisenhower told them a Democratic victory in the congressional elections Nov. 2 would lead to "endless political maneuverings, stagnation and inaction."

Fresh from the friendly atmosphere of the Hollywood Bowl rally, Eisenhower turned today to face what likely would be a more reserved audience at the national convention of the American Federation of Labor at nearby Los Angeles.

The President was scheduled to wind up a three-day speechmaking tour with an informal talk to the AFL meeting which only yesterday adopted by voice vote a resolution which held the Eisenhower administration "guilty of many crimes of omission and commission."

The resolution accused the President of "failure to redeem various promises made during the campaign two years ago, particularly the promise to remove the union-busting provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act."

The AFL resolution urged a big turnout of workers to vote for candidates friendly to labor.

In his speech to the Hollywood Bowl rally, Eisenhower dropped the reference which up to then had marked his campaigning.

He declared Republican defeat in the November elections — and loss of control to the Democrats in the 84th Congress — would lead to a "field day" in Washington politics.

He said his administration has "kept faith with the American people" and he claimed its record adds up to "compelling reasons why this great program requires the election of a Republican-led Congress."

Eisenhower got a hearty welcome, both at the Los Angeles International Airport and along the 20-mile motor route to his downtown hotel.

The crowd at the rally gave him a long and loud ovation when he was introduced by Gov. Goodwin J. Knight of California. A "We Like Ike" chant swept the throng, delaying the start of Eisenhower's speech for a brief time.

After his appearance before the AFL, Eisenhower was scheduled to return to his Denver, Colo., vacation headquarters. Since leaving there last Wednesday, the President has visited Montana, Washington, Oregon and California. Everywhere, big crowds turned out.

He spoke first in Missoula, Mont., at the dedication of a "smoke jumpers" forest fire control depot. Yesterday, he appeared at the dedication of the huge McNary Dam on the Washington-Oregon boundary and there defended his administration's power policies which have come under vigorous Democratic attack.

At just about every stop, he shook hands with Republican candidates for Congress and for state office — but it wasn't until he went before the Hollywood Bowl crowd that he started throwing hard punches at the Democrats.

In the meantime, Vice President Nixon last night wound up the first phase of his campaign tour with a speech in Indianapolis, where he said the administration is destroying the Communist conspiracy in this country. Nixon said the Eisenhower administration "has finally put the Reds on the run in America."

He predicted the Republicans would hold control of Congress.

So did House Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts, who told a Salt Lake City GOP rally yesterday: "We are on a mighty mission to make certain our great President . . . has a strong Republican majority in the 84th Congress." Earlier, Martin said, at Reno, Nev., that "disaster would result" if the Democrats should capture control of Congress in November.

Russian Sub Threat Eyed

CHICAGO, U.S. — The Russian submarine threat, says Secretary of the Navy Charles Thomas, is the greatest in all naval history, but the U.S. Navy is capable of dealing with it.

Russia now has a modern fleet of more than 350 submarines, Thomas said last night, and is capable of producing them at the rate of about one each week.

But, he said, in contrast to World War II, "we have the capability of dealing with the submarine anywhere and everywhere — from the factory, to the base, to the high seas."

Thomas spoke at a dinner commemorating the capture of the Nazi submarine U-505 by American sailors in 1944. Eight hundred Chicago civic leaders who helped bring the sub here as a unique scientific exhibit attended the dinner.

The submarine is on display in the Science of Museum and Industry in Jackson Park.

Hormel To Face Dope Hearing

LOS ANGELES (U.S.) — George (Geordie) Hormel II, 26-year-old nightclub piano player and meat packing heir, faces a preliminary hearing on marijuana possession charges Oct. 11.

He was released on bail of $1,500 after arraignment in Municipal Court yesterday.

Hormel was arrested last Sunday. Police said they found 13 marijuana cigarettes in his car.

The young heir, former husband of actress Leslie Caron, told reporters: "I want it to be known that the allegations made against me shall be proven untrue. I feel a great injustice has been done to the family name and I intend to see the honor and integrity of my family vindicated."

Bessy's Dairy Dishes

By BESSY, The Basin Bossy

We cows are pampered, doctored, fed, and bred to give you milk. Our bosses go to a lot of work (milking's a must day in and day out, week in and week out, year in and year out) and a lot of expense (grade A standards demand top equipment and top handling and, boy, it costs) to get it to the distributors who in turn process it and deliver it to you.

So, by gum, it's a sad thing it is that milk has become a political football. Practically every election someone, without any solutions to the problems which beset the important production of milk for you, tries to throw out milk marketing regulations.

Like any good food, you naturally want the best milk. But milk is in itself something superior to any other food. It is important to every one of us. Our families need it for sustenance — for nourishment and proper balance of diet for good health and growth.

These so-called milk marketing regulations are actual milk protection laws — an orderly and equitable plan that assures you of an adequate year-round supply of perfect milk. And at fair and reasonable prices. The milk marketing act, was passed in 1933 to stabilize an industry in turmoil with bankruptcy and price-cutting rampant, and with milk supply short and inadequate. It gave us the type of milk service we have today.

That's what some folks want to toss out. Why, we cows just can't seem to figure. Can you?

Politics and food mix sometimes, so we'll try it here. A recipe for banana milk punch. You'll need four ripe bananas, 2 separated eggs, one quart of chilled milk, 1/2 teaspoon of salt, a teaspoon of vanilla and a pint of ice cream. Slice bananas and mash until smooth and creamy, or put through sieve. Add chilled milk, mashed banana, salt and vanilla. Beat egg whites till stiff and fold into banana mixture, blending thoroughly. Serve very cold, topping each glass with three teaspoons vanilla ice cream and sprinkling of grated nutmeg or chopped nuts. Serves six. —Bessy.
