FAWN FINDS FOSTER MOTHER — "Bucky", about 4-months-old, rustles his own breakfast when a bottle of warm milk is not forthcoming at the Buz Smith ranch west of Keno. Hit by a motorist on Highway 66 near the ranch, Bucky was "taken in" as a star boarder by the Smith family who doctored his injuries and fed him on a bottle. After a period of convalescence the fawn was taken into the woods and released. Apparently the mother had given up the search for her "young-un" and departed to higher ground. Bucky, not liking the loneliness of the woods, returned after a few days to the hospitality of the Smiths. He comes down from the timber each morning and if he finds no bottle available, makes his own contacts with Tiny, the family Jersey cow, for a warm breakfast.
