Demo Hopefuls Crowd California Election Rolls

Editor's Note—This is another of several stories by roving Associated Press political reporters analyzing the campaign in key states.

By MORRIS LANDSBERG
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—No matter where you look in this thousand-mile-long state, the big fact about the 1954 election is that party politics has come back—with a loud bang—to California.

There is more noise largely because more Democratic candidates are going into November balloting than ever before.

And in a state where "non-partisanship" was the successful slogan for years under the primary cross-filing system which permits a candidate to seek both party nominations, candidates are being forced to choose sides—for or against the Eisenhower administration, for or against state platforms.

"Vote Democratic!" the billboards urge, playing down the ticket.

"Don't fall for blind partisanship," pleads A. Ronald Button of Los Angeles, Republican national committeeman.

The party resurgence rose out of the results of the June primary for governor and five other top state positions, the state legislature, 30 seats in Congress and the remaining two years of Vice President Richard M. Nixon's term in the Senate.

For the first time in 40 years, the primary ballot listed the candidates' political affiliation. And the Democrats, with a 750,000 lead in registration, nominated their first full slate of the modern era.

Most candidates ran on both tickets, however, and Republican incumbents, holding every statewide office except attorney general, entered the fall campaign with a generally heavy advantage in the two-party vote.

Democratic leaders say they expect to pick up three or four seats in Congress, perhaps re-move Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel (R-Calif.), who was appointed by former Gov. Earl Warren, and perhaps dump Warren's successor, Republican Gov. Goodwin J. Knight.

Kuchel, 44, a former state legislator and state controller, is staking election on "100 per cent" for President Eisenhower. His opponent, Rep. Samuel W. Yorty, 45 on Oct. 1, is an outspoken critic of the administration and of the 53rd Congress.

Knight, 57, lieutenant governor for eight years and a Los Angeles county judge for 13, is campaigning vigorously against a political newcomer, 47-year-old Richard P. Graves, longtime executive director of the League of California Cities.

Of California's 30 U.S. Representatives, 18 of the 19 Republicans and 10 of the 11 Democratic incumbents are seeking re-election.

James Roosevelt, whose 26th District voters nominated him handily despite his repudiation by the Democratic National Committee, is tabbed a shoo-in to succeed Yorty in the 2-to-1 Democratic district. The eldest son of the late President was asked to step out after his wife accused him of infidelities. He denied the charges.

Roosevelt is opposed by Republican Theodore R. Owings, a less experienced campaigner.

The Republicans are more hopeful of toppling Rep. Robert L. Condon of the 6th District. His opponent is John F. Baldwin Jr. Some neutral sources believe Condon may squeak through in the heavily Democratic and union-minded district despite the "security risk" pinned on him by the Atomic Energy Commission—unjustly, Condon contends.

"There is a real swing to the Democratic party at this moment," says Mrs. Elizabeth Snyder of Los Angeles, new Democratic state chairman.

Republicans are not conceding anything. But some are worried—and saying so—that party apathy may let the Democrats capitalize this time on their registration edge.

The Democrats face some pretty tough figures for the primary.

Knight, while losing the Democratic nomination to Graves, polled a two-party total of 1,917,591, a record for a gubernatorial candidate in the state. He emerged with a 900,000 vote margin over Graves.

Kuchel's combined vote bettered Yorty's by 640,000.

The two Republicans drew heavy Democratic support, but the two Democrats attracted only a light Republican vote.

The primary election brought out 3,194,565, or 56 per cent, of the 5,664,688 voters. Election officials look for a 6-million registration and a larger turnout Nov. 2.

Mrs. Snyder, first woman ever named to head a major party in California. A dynamic 40-year-old blonde, she appears certain the Democrats will pick up four Congressional districts:

9th, generally rated a close one between Republican Rep. J. Arthur Younger and his 1952 opponent, Harold F. Taggart, both of San Mateo.

12th — Republican Rep. Oakley Hunter vs. B. F. Sisk, a tire company executive, both of Fresno. Hunter led in the primary with a two-party vote of 49,375 to 46,130. The three-county San Joaquin valley district is 2-1 Democratic.

18th — Republican Rep. Craig Hosmer vs. Joseph M. Kennick, both of Long Beach.

30th — Republican Rep. Bob Wilton, San Diego first-termer, vs. retired Rear Adm. Ross T. McIntire.

the late President Roosevelt's personal physician.

Only two Representatives are certain winners. Democrats Clair Engle of the 2nd District in Northern California and John P. Shelley of San Francisco's 5th won both nominations in the primaries.

In 1952, prior to the party designation law, 14 House members won both nominations. Most were Republicans.
