U.S. Freedom Crusade Begun

MUNICH, Germany (AP) - The American-financed Crusade For Freedom launched Saturday a campaign to float millions of anti-Communist leaflets into Hungary with balloons.

The first of the propaganda brochures were sent off in the pre-dawn darkness. Crusade officials declined for "security reasons" to say how many were released. The balloons were equipped with control devices to concentrate them on Hungary.

The leaflets will be augmented by special 24-hour anti-Communist broadcasts by Radio Free Europe, which is operated by the Crusade. Crusade officials said the Hungarian campaign will be more extensive than one aimed at Communist Czechoslovakia last summer. It said 50 million leaflets already have been dropped on the Czechs.

The messages floated off Saturday urged the Hungarians to work for freedom of speech, private ownership of land, free trade unions and freedom of religion. They were asked to join a "national opposition movement" which the Crusade said exists in Hungary. "The movement proposes non-violent resistance to achieve its goals and does not purport to be an underground organization," the Crusade said.

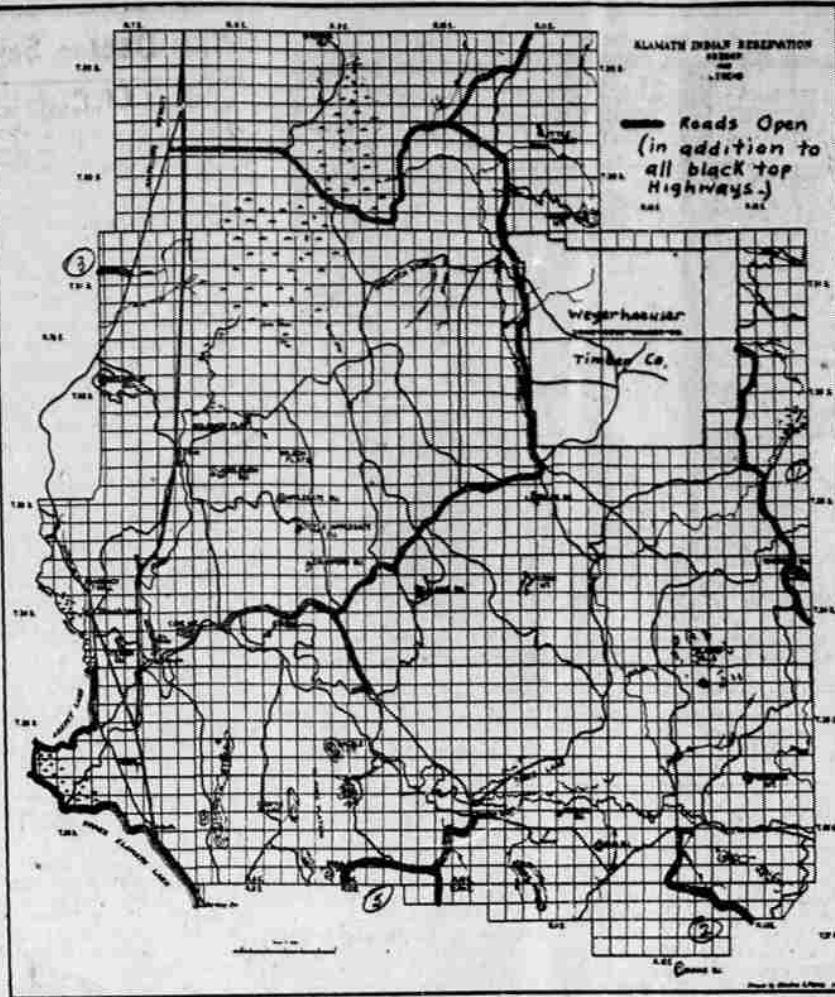

Impulsive Girl Falls in Water

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) - A sentimental brunette gave Brazilian sailors a send-off they won't soon forget. Nor she either.

The training vessel Almirante Saldanha was about to sail yesterday, Lucille Lupita, ran to the dockside to give a flower to her boyfriend on board.

She lost her balance and fell into the water. Four sailors dived in for the rescue. The boy friend, presumably, was among them.

Miss Lupita was treated by the ship's doctor and put ashore. Then the Brazilians put out to sea.

Deer Offer Turned Down

Bob Bonney, Klamath Falls recreation director, in St. Louis for the National Recreation Congress, tried to stage a deer give away program in the Missouri city without much success.

According to the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, Bonney tried to palm off 11 deer from Moore Park Zoo on other recreation directors but couldn't find a taker. Here's the Post-Dispatch version: "Robert E. Bonney of Klamath Falls, Oregon - here for the National Recreation Congress - wanted to contract a deer multiplication problem in the Klamath Falls Zoo by giving away 11 deer."

"But giving away deer is no easy task. Although their heads - stuffed - may look nice over a mantel, a live deer - whole - is not exactly suitable for a house pet. Besides, Bonney thinks it's excess deer should go only to public zoos."

"Bonney announced his free deer offer (I.o.b. Klamath Falls, translated, the recipient pays the freight) to his fellow park superintendents at the recreation convention, with no takers. But Bonney still has hope."

Jet Crash Blamed On Missing Bolt

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Maintenance failure may have caused the crash death last August 25 of ace Capt. Joseph McConnell in an F86H Sabrejet, the Air Force reports.

Unofficial reports indicate a vital bolt may have been left out of the control assembly for the jet fighter's tail, but the investigation is not yet completed, an Air Force spokesman said yesterday.

McConnell, who had downed 16 MiGs in Korea, bailed out of the stricken plane on a test run near Edwards Air Base. His body was parachute unburned.

WHO IS JOE CARSON?

Joseph K. Carson, Jr., Democratic nominee for Governor, was born in Kentucky, but his parents brought their family of twelve children to Oregon when he was a small boy because they wanted them to have the superior education then provided by the Oregon schools.

After leaving school, he worked in the orchards, logging camps and sawmills around Hood River. In 1916 he came to Portland and worked as a shoe salesman in the day time and attended the University of Oregon law school at night.

After graduation and admission to the bar in 1917, he enlisted as a private in the Oregon National Guard.

Carson saw overseas service in World War I and commanded a company. After the war, he was employed in Baker and Grant Counties by a lumber company but in 1921 he commenced the practice of law in Portland.

He continued the practice of law until elected Mayor of Portland in 1932. Carson ran on a program of debt reduction and balancing the city's budget, which he accomplished during his eight years in office. During his two terms a number of public improvements were planned or commenced, among them the sewage disposal system and Harbor Drive.

Carson did not seek office in 1940 and returned to private life but in 1941 the late Fiorella LaGuardia appointed him Inspector General of Civilian Defense. At this time he was also elected Oregon Department Commander of the American Legion.

Carson was called to duty as a Reserve Army Officer in early 1942 and went overseas the following year. He eventually became Executive Officer of the Displaced Persons Branch under General Omar Bradley's Joint Army Corps Staff and was a Colonel when separated from the service in 1946. He was awarded the United States Bronze Star, as well as decorations from Norway, Belgium, Holland and Czechoslovakia.

Upon his return to Portland, Carson reengaged in the practice of law until 1947 when he was appointed by the President to the United States Maritime Commission on which he served until 1950, when maritime matters were placed under the Department of Commerce.

He is married and the father of two children, both of whom attend Roosevelt High School in Portland.
