WALL STREET

NEW YORK (AP) — Aircraft and steel provided the main support for the stock market Monday in the late afternoon.

Many individual issues also joined in the rise which went to between 1 and 3 points in many cases. Losses amounted to a point in a few instances.

Volume expanded on the rise and came to an estimated 2,100,000 shares. That compares with Friday's 1,850,000 shares traded in a firm market.

GRAIN

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO (AP) — Grains punched out respectable advances in active dealings on the board of trade Monday.

Soybeans scored the biggest upturn on light receipts of cash beans and additional harvest delays in central and northern Illinois. All oats except May set new seasonal highs in sympathy with strength at Winnipeg.

Corn moved ahead with oats. Holland bought small quantities of corn. Wheat joined the upward parade, helped by news of more very bad weather in the Canadian prairie provinces over the weekend. This was also a factor in the advance of oats and rye.

Wheat closed 1 3/4-2 1/2 higher, Dec 2.18 1/2; corn 1 1/2-1 3/4 higher, Dec 79 1/2; rye 2 1/2 higher, Dec 1.44 1/2-1.45; soybeans 2 1/2-3 1/4 higher, Nov 21 1/4-21 1/2, and hard 3 to 20 cents a hundred pounds lower, Oct 14.60.

Wheat Curb Laws Bring Hot Protest

HILLDALE, Mich. (AP) — Signs proclaiming "No trespassing by federal employees" popped up on several farms along the Michigan-Ohio border Monday in the wake of a rally of farmers' aroused by government wheat controls.

The rally was called by Ralph A. Shinnaberry, a Hillsdale County farmer who is pressing a federal court suit to have wheat controls declared unconstitutional.

An estimated 350 turned up for the rally Sunday at the Hillsdale County fairgrounds. Reporters found representatives from Michigan, Ohio and Indiana. Shinnaberry said some came from Illinois, too.

James Mannix of Greenville, Ohio, chairman of the Independent Farmers of Ohio, Inc., brought the no trespassing signs. He said he had posted his farm with them. Many at the rally bought the orange and black signs.

A collection was taken to help Shinnaberry defray expenses of his suit. No definite figures were announced, but the farmers said they raised "several hundred dollars" for him. He has estimated the cost at $4,000 to $5,000.

Mannix accused the Agriculture Department of trying to "brainwash the American farmer" on crop controls and called for more suits similar to Shinnaberry's.

He termed the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Agency "American society for communism."

Shinnaberry started his suit following imposition of a federal penalty of $638.40 for exceeding his allotted wheat acreage.

Civic Service Group Elects

Mrs. Lena Dennis, president of the Klamath Basin Civic Service League, now traveling in Europe, was reelected at the annual meeting of the league held September 29 in the Community Lounge.

Mrs. Fred (Lulu) Reynolds, Klamath Falls is the new board member. Other officers include: Mrs. Earl Kerns, vice president; Mrs. Fred Dennis, secretary; Mrs. Ruck, Bonanza, secretary; Mrs. Lee Holliday, Klamath Falls, treasurer; Mrs. Leland Harris, Bonanza; Mrs. Lawrence Birk, and Alice Vitus, Klamath Falls, board members.

The league sponsored the community lounge, now located on North Seventh Street. Registrations of local, out-of-town and out-of-state visitors have doubled in the three months since the lounge was moved from North Eighth Street to its present location.

Total number of persons visiting the spot in the past 12 months: 22,803 and in the four years between 1950 and June of this year, the grand total is 68,700.

Annual cost of operation, financed jointly by Klamath County, the city of Klamath Falls and organizations, is approximately $5,000.

Uranium Ore Rush Squelched

BAKER, Ore. (AP) — There is no appreciable amount of surface uranium ore in the Whitman National Forest, where 20 claims were staked out last week, a geologist for the Atomic Energy Commission reported Saturday.

The geologist, Herbert Norman, flew over the region with a scintillation meter in his plane Saturday. The meter, an electronic device which picks up and measures radiation from ground mineral deposits, showed no unusual activity, he said.

"There could be a commercial vein on the ridge, but if so, it is not exposed sufficiently to register," he added.

Last week Mayor Norris Poulsen of Los Angeles and a group of associates staked out the claims after they said they found indications of radiation down in the shaft of an abandoned gold mine high in the Wallows Mountains.

Probation OK In KF Case

A roving Irishman, Patrick O'Donovan, 51, got a "break" Monday when he appeared before Circuit Judge David R. Vandenberg for sentencing on a charge of larceny in a store.

O'Donovan admitted shoplifting merchandise at the Gun Store in the amount of $27.

After reading an FBI report which showed O'Donovan has been in almost every city of any consequence in the United States and had been arrested only for intoxication, the court placed him on three years probation.

O'Donovan was ordered to stay out of saloons for three years.

"It's a tough thing for an Irishman to do," he muttered as he left the courtroom.

Motion Filed In Bitter Feud Between District Attorney And Vandenberg

Attorney George Proctor, counsel for Andrew J. Bushman, who has been held in jail seven months and indicted three times on a sex charge, threw a monkey wrench into District Attorney Frank Alderson's change of judge proceedings Monday.

Proctor filed a motion in opposition to a change of judge in the Bushman case when his client came before Circuit Judge David R. Vandenberg for pleading on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

The defense lawyer took this action after Alderson followed his usual procedure in recent criminal cases and filed a motion for a change of judge.

In his motion, Proctor contended that the law under which Alderson has been filing his change of judge applications is unconstitutional for the following reasons:

1. Without setting forth any grounds or reason, the law allows a litigant or his attorney to request a qualified, unbiased and unprejudiced judge at the litigant's own pleasure.

2. It is not a general law and does not apply equally to all litigants.

3. Without any reason, it provides a speedy trial which is guaranteed under both the constitution of the United States and the constitution of Oregon.

4. The manner for changing judges is vague and indefinite and does not allow equal privileges of the law.

Judge Vandenberg ordered Court Clerk Charles DeLap to forward Proctor's motion as well as the change of judge to Chief Justice Earl Latture of the Oregon Supreme Court.

In the opinion of court officials, the supreme court will have to rule on the constitutionality of the change of judge statute before any more cases can be tried in which Alderson seeks to disqualify Judge Vandenberg.

Circuit Judge Ralph M. Holman of Oregon City, who was given a general assignment by the supreme court to preside in criminal cases here, is due to arrive in Klamath Falls again Tuesday to handle several cases in which Judge Vandenberg has been disqualified on motions of the district attorney.

Judge Holman told the Herald and News on the long distance telephone Monday noon that he intends to carry out his assignment from the supreme court.

"Until I am notified to the contrary," he added, "I will handle whatever matters are presented to me in Klamath County."

Judge Holman is due to arrive in Klamath Falls at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday on the southbound Steamline Shasta Daylight. He will leave again on the northbound Shasta Daylight at 4:30 p.m. for Oregon City.

WHO IS JOE CARSON?

Joseph K. Carson, Jr., Democratic nominee for Governor, was born in Kentucky, but his parents brought their family of twelve children to Oregon when he was a small boy because they wanted them to have the superior education then provided by the Oregon schools. After leaving school, he worked in the orchards, logging camps and sawmills around Hood River. In 1914 he came to Portland and worked as a shoe salesman in the day time and attended the University of Oregon law school at night. After graduation and admission to the bar in 1917, he enlisted as a private in the Oregon National Guard.

Carson saw overseas service in World War I and commanded a company. After the war, he was employed in Baker and Grant Counties by a lumber company but in 1921 he commenced the practice of law in Portland.

He continued the practice of law until elected Mayor of Portland in 1932. Carson ran on a program of debt reduction and balancing the city's budget, which he accomplished during his eight years in office. During his two terms a number of public improvements were planned or commenced, among them the sewage disposal system and Harbor Drive.

Carson did not seek office in 1940 and returned to private life but in 1941 the late La Guardia appointed him Inspector General of Civilian Defense. At this time he was also elected Oregon Department Commander of the American Legion.

Carson was called to duty as a Reserve Army Officer in early 1941 and went overseas the following year. He eventually became Executive Officer of the Displaced Persons Branch under General Omar Bradley's Joint Army Corps Staff and was a Colonel when separated from the service in 1946. He was awarded the United States Bronze Star, as well as decorations from Norway, Belgium, Holland and Czechoslovakia.

Upon his return to Portland, Carson reentered in the practice of law until 1947 when he was appointed by the President to the United States Maritime Commission on which he served until 1950, when maritime matters were placed under the Department of Commerce.

He is married and the father of two children, both of whom attend Roosevelt High School in Portland.
