

Canadian Potato Crop In Lower Bracket Than 1953

The Canadian potato crop is estimated at 54.3 million bushels, down 19 per cent from last year's 67 million bushels. A wet season brought blight troubles to Eastern Canada as it did to Maine. Production in British Columbia is 2,588,000 bushels as compared to 3,060,000 in 1953.

By an agreement made in 1939 between Canada and our government, if in any year the U.S. crop as of September 1 is estimated by the USDA to be less than 250 million bushels, the import quota on Canadian potatoes at the reduced rate of 37 1/2 cents per cwt., is to be increased by an amount equal to the difference.

In spite of low prices for the 1953 crop, Canada sent its her full table stock quota of 1 million bushels. To the end of May Canada had shipped us 60 per cent of her 2 1/2 million bushel seed quota.

This year Canada's table stock quota of one million bushels is increased by four and one-half million bushels, the difference between this year's 345.6 million bushel September estimate for the U.S. and 250 million bushels.

Potato growers maintain the 1939 agreement with Canada is unfair, because production goals suggested by USDA totaling 329 million bushels for the nation are considered to more nearly represent an adequate national supply.

Maine potato growers have been attempting to secure a reduction of the 250 million bushel figure at which the agreement with Canada is based.

For 1950, the last price support year, the 250 million bushel base was reduced to 335 million by agreement between the two governments. However, U.S. production in 1950 was 439 million bushels and the agreement had no practical value for that year.

Clover Seed Finds Told

Clover root weevils collected in Klamath County clover seed fields are found to be depositing eggs now, according to Walt Jendzrejewski, county extension agent. Specimens were collected and a survey made with the cooperation of R. W. Every, Oregon State College extension entomologist.

Many weevil eggs were found in containers in which weevils were kept over the week-end.

"Evidence of egg-laying during autumn months seems to indicate the desirability of control measures in late summer or early fall," Jendzrejewski stated. "Fall application of insecticides, however, will probably need to be followed up by early spring application, also, because root weevil adults do migrate from field to field."

Examination of cloverfields last week found as many as 12 adults per square foot. Each adult female is capable of depositing from 150 to 200 eggs, the county agent declared.

Worker Slays Wife, Self

BOONSBORO, Md. (AP)—An aircraft factory worker who had been fired from the plant where his wife also was working shot his wife to death yesterday and then turned the gun on himself while his children looked on.

Dr. Samuel H. Wells, Washington County medical examiner, termed the death of Mrs. Margaret Catherine O'Neal murder, and that of her husband Fred suicide.

State Trooper Clyde Tucker said Mrs. O'Neal had just returned from work at the Fairchild aircraft plant in Hagerstown and was in the kitchen with one of her five children preparing supper.

Then, Tucker said, O'Neal shot his wife with a single-barrel shotgun. She ran through the house and dropped dead on the front porch, before her other children.

O'Neal put the gun muzzle in his mouth and pulled the trigger. Tucker said the children, who range in age up to 19, told him their father and mother quarreled frequently. O'Neal was fired from his job for drinking, Tucker said.

PTA SUMMERS

At the first meeting of Summers PTA, held September 17 at the school, William Kurtz, principal, showed colored slides of Northeastern Oregon which he took while attending Eastern Oregon College at La Grande this summer. He showed interesting pictures of Mt. Hood's Canyon, Wallowa Lake, the Wallowa Mountains and surrounding areas.

Mrs. Phelps also introduced the other PTA officers for the coming year: Mrs. W. E. Rabston, vice president; Mrs. Troy Chambers, secretary; and Mrs. Maniel Nichols, treasurer. The following committee chairmen were announced: program, Mrs. Fred Doulton; publicity, Mrs. A. E. Gross; hospitality, Mrs. T. L. Winterringer; ways and means, Mrs. Fred Wolfrum; refreshments, Mrs. Delmar Kelly; budget, Mrs. Lyle Hickman; and membership, Mrs. H. L. Crawford.

Following the meeting, refreshments were served by the officers.

COMPLETE OKLAHOMA CITY

—Police said a man arrested yesterday admitted he once stole a television set from the floor display of a downtown department store, then returned sometime later and took a television chair to go with it.

POTATO DIGGING OPERATIONS WERE STARTED last week in sandy soil north of Malin on two fields owned by James Ottoman. Quality was good but the tubers small. Yields were estimated at 300 sacks per acre in the fields of Russets. Pictured on cat is Dick Halousek; James Ottoman operating truck.

McKay Opens Oregon Tour

PORTLAND (AP)—Douglas McKay, secretary of the Interior, opened his Oregon political tour Tuesday in Portland.

In four days he is to make more than a dozen formal and informal talks, including one at a dinner in Roseburg, home of Sen. Guy Cordon.

It is to help Cordon, under strong attack from Democrat Richard L. Neuberger, that McKay scheduled the tour. He is expected to plug for all Republican candidates, but his chief attention is presumed to be centered on the administration of resources.

McKay's opening appearance Tuesday at a luncheon, was to be followed by an evening TV and radio talk. Then he was to head for Astoria on a trip to end at noon Friday at Medford.

Biggest Dairy Farm In India

The biggest dairy farm in the world is near Bombay, India. It covers 4,500 acres, has 26 modern barns, an up-to-date pasteurization plant, and 12,500 milking animals, big black water buffaloes.

The foreign service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture reports that up to five years ago Bombay's milk supply came from buffalo herds stabled in the city, was sold raw, and with little sanitation.

The big farm was set up to create a safe, steady milk supply and get the buffaloes out of the city. Now other Indian cities plan similar farms combining private ownership of buffaloes with city responsibility for a better milk supply.

Cattle Brand Warning Out

The state department of agriculture will cancel all livestock brands not renewed before December 31, officials warned this week.

The five year re-recording of brands has been in progress since July 1. Up to mid-September 9,000 of the 19,000 brands on the book had been re-recorded. Since then, re-recordings have fallen off.

Brands considered abandoned after December 31 will be available to other applicants, as stipulated in the state brand recording law.

The department also advises that only brands on record as of January 1 will be included in the 1955 edition of the new Oregon livestock brand book. Brands recorded after that date will appear in the first supplement scheduled for mid-1956.

The department's division of animal industry, which handles the re-recording, says a surprising number of horse brands are being renewed. About 4,000 horse brands were on the books on June 30. Officials expected this number to drop considerably because horse population has declined at least 12,000 head since 1950. (The January 1, 1954, livestock inventory counted 50,000 horses on Oregon farms.)

Officials figured if horse brand re-recordings dropped materially, this would release many local cattle brands. While horse brands will be down some, they won't be down as much as originally anticipated.
