

CIRCA 1840-1850... is the dress modeled by Phyllis Maddock, OTI student. The committee made every effort to achieve an illusion "another era" with props in profusion, borrowed from antique collections. The dress modeled above traveled from Maine to appear at the show. Mrs. Brooks O. Custer, faculty wife, remained on the stage as part of the background. —All Photos of the Sassy Review by Kettler

"JOHN HOUSTON DID IT!"... decked out in sartorial splendor in keeping with the tenor of the Sassy Souvenir Review, he was commentator for the parade of styles from the past to the present.

At home in any role... he assumed this one with ease—even though it's certain there were no men (during the years when his garb was high style) engaged delivering a running commentary on a style show—and his original performance was played to an enthusiastic audience who patronized the OTI Faculty Wives' production; staged at their scholarship tea.

A FAR CRY... from the miles of today's "traditional" white satin and lace incorporated into contemporary wedding gowns... is this checked silk over a hooped petticoat, worn in 1830 by a bride; and modeled here by Jennie Wilson, one of the many who displayed the interesting collection of "long-ago" styles. —All Sassy Review Photos by Kettler

MEL AND PENNY HOWIE — now have three daughters with brand new Becky Jane — who arrived October 2 — 5 lbs 11 oz — Their other two glamour pussies are Vicki — with big brown eyes and Penny Lynn — a blue eyed blonde — Must call on the new one — Hope she's a red head for REAL variety! Becky Jane was born on Kristie Chilcote's third birthday — and Kristie celebrated with a b-day party — and wondered WHY her real live present wasn't with the other gifts — the Chilcotes and Howies are long time friends.

PALE PINK — pure silk — pearls and ivory shantling sounds de-elishus — and many of Helen Rowell's friends here would love to have seen her in the costume she wore when she became Mrs. J. Oscar Spires Sept 30 — The shell pink pure silk was brought from Italy for Helen by Hazel (Mrs. Brady) Narey when she returned from one of her travel jaunts — Helen designed the dress and everyone knows what her skillful hands would achieve — and with it she wore a small enameled ivory bat and matching silk shantling strip pumps and her corsage was talisman roses — Simple, elegant and appropriate.

OSC and U of O — are settling back to normal after the fall rushing — We couldn't find the OSC men's list at press time — but gals at Oregon State from KP are Barbara A. Horne, Alpha Chi Omega; Sharon Hayford, Alpha Gamma Delta; Suzanne Joy Frei, Alpha Xi Delta; Malinda Ann Pedersen, Kappa Alpha Theta and Janis Bubb, Kappa Delta — Pledges at University of Oregon were Mary Qualls, Alpha Gamma Delta; Donna Beckwith, Alpha Xi Delta; Ann Henderson, Gamma Phi Beta; Sue Sue Ramaby, Pi Beta Phi. Men pledges: Delta Upsilon, Tom Skiene; Pi Kappa Alpha, Floyd Pierce; Phi Kappa Sigma, Sam Thompson; Phi Kappa Psi, Donald Blehn, Don Dexter, Richard Laicoma David Maxwell and Gregg Schultz, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Robert Bye and James Craig.

THE MEMORABLE CLAN — arrived in town last night to be at the wedding of their nephew Gillis Hannigan to Joann Spiremore today — and will visit a sister Mrs. Oogen Brooks in Sprague River — Joann's wedding will bring a flock of out-of-town people to KP.

BLUMBER PARTY — "So-called" at the Rollin Thompson home 4680 Boardman last Friday night is reported by young honey Sharon F's mama Leola as an evening of food — music and VERY LITTLE sleep for the gals Sharon Adams, Elvaine Wamstead, Pat South, Sharon Taylor, Sharon Dearing, Nola Higdon, Carolyn Nancarrow, Mary Lou Craig, Marilyn Nancarrow, Myrna Heaton and Julia Ann Brittain — who were guests at the "no-sleep" marathon.

UNEXPECTEDLY... this dress adorned generously with a froth of lace and elaborate beading is of sheer white wool, and not too dated — as model Wilma Wiley approaches — then the back view reveals a bustle and the period in which the gown was the "vogue" — 1860-1870.

Part of the crowd of tea-spectators are shown with Wilma in the Pine-Grove Room of the Willard Hotel, setting for the successful "peek into the past" afternoon of entertainment, produced by OTI Faculty Wives to raise funds for their scholarship awards.

Pouring during the tea hours were Mrs. David Vandenberg, Mrs. John Houston, Mrs. Victor E. O'Neill and Mrs. Robert L. Smith. In the receiving line, Mrs. Winston D. Purvine, Mrs. H. A. Pederson, Mrs. Jack Douglas, Mrs. John Howard and Mrs. C. C. Grewell. Grand finale of the "sassy review" was "Today's Fall Bride" wearing an Adeline creation from Whytal's store, of lace and satin with sweeping cathedral train.

AAUW Meets

Mrs. Dick B. Miller Sr. presided at the first regular meeting of the Klamath Falls Branch of the American Association of University Women on Saturday, September 25 at 1 o'clock luncheon meeting at Jen-Ed's.

The speaker of the day was Mrs. Betty Lou Dunlop, state chairman of education for AAUW. Mrs. Dunlop gave an excellent word picture of conditions in public grade schools throughout the country, with special emphasis on the schools in Oregon. She urged AAUW members to become actively interested in procuring better schools in local communities; and stressed better school planning and greater interest in securing qualified teachers. She suggested that AAUW members study school budgets, with wiser spending of the tax dollar the end objective.

Joan Monroe, accompanied by Florence Wamstead on the flute, and Mrs. Don Zumwalt, piano, sang "The Jewel Song," from Gounod's Faust; "Gloria" by Schubert; and "The Brilliant Bird," with flute obligato by Florence Wamstead.

Plans for the annual Fellowship Silver Tea scheduled for October 16 were enthusiastically discussed. All college women living in the Klamath Basin who are eligible to become AAUW members, are invited to contact Mrs. Fred Ehlers, local membership chairman.
