STOCKS

WALL STREET NEW YORK (AP) — A selling wave hit the stock market Thursday but it managed to weather the storm and hold losses within moderate limits.

Grains

CHICAGO GRAIN CHICAGO (AP) — Most grains had a firm tone on the board of trade Thursday but soybeans dropped back below the previous close late in the session.

An early buying flurry sent grains pounding up during the first hour. When the flurry subsided, the market retreated from its best levels. Only in soybeans, however, were all the early gains lost.

What closed 1/4% higher, Dec 2.16 1/4; corn 1 1/2% higher, Dec 1.54 3/4; oats 1 1/2% higher, Dec 1.0 3/4; soybeans 2 to 3 1/2 lower, Nov 2.76 1/2-2.76, and Dec 10 to 32 cents a hundred pounds higher, Oct 15.82.

Smokey Bear Campaign Conducted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Smokey the bear, a forest fire escapee who symbolizes prevention efforts, gets an average of 1,000 letters daily from toddlers and teenagers wanting to join his million-kid fire fighting force.

This is dramatic proof to federal Forest Service officials that their campaign, headed by Smokey, is paying off in increased awareness of forest fire's costly danger.

The youngsters, who promise to prevent fires in order to join the Junior Forest Rangers, write to tell Smokey they're doing their bit. And they enclose for Smokey's pleasure such things as Christmas and Valentine cards and cash donations.

The mail comes from all parts of the nation: A Brooklyn boy said he couldn't find any forest fires in the city, but promised he'd stop burning in false alarms.

Another father wrote that his son, a Junior Ranger, "pulled his rank and threatened to prosecute to the full extent of the law when I attempted to burn some leaves."

The Forest Service has signed up more than 250,000 junior rangers in the past year. Each ranger gets a fire prevention kit—including a membership card, blotter, certificate and fire prevention stamps—and each signs a fire prevention pledge.

Police officials named Rafael Garcia Barrena, a University of Havana professor, as leader of the plot. They said Barrena left Cuba Monday for the United States.

UF Directors Hold Meeting

Division heads for the Klamath County United Fund campaign voted Wednesday night at a meeting at the YMCA building to stage a kickoff breakfast at the Winema Hotel Wednesday, October 20, at 8 p.m. All division heads, workers, and other interested persons are invited to the no-host breakfast.

Report meetings will be held at noon at the Willard Hotel on October 22, 25, 26, 27, 28 and 29. The drive is expected to close October 30, according to W. S. McBride, campaign chairman.

The meeting of division heads coincided with a meeting of the board of directors held in the Kent Room of the YMCA building.

Directors approved requests from Merrill, Fort Klamath and Bonanza for a return of 25 per cent of their net collections for use locally. Merrill, which followed this plan last year, is concentrating on a recreation program. Fort Klamath will use its 25 per cent figure for the Civic Improvement Club and Bonanza Big Springs Park Board is expected to foster a swimming instruction program through the funds.

The directors also agreed to grant similar requests to Chiloquin, Bly and Malin if such a desire is indicated.

Turned over to the executive committee were the matters of employee bonds and fire insurance. Rex Dye, board member, recommended that a blanket bond be secured covering all paid employees and elected officers. He further recommended that records and papers in the office, on which the whole fund is built, be stored in a fireproof cabinet and be insured.

By actual count, there were 106 persons in the audience at the Wednesday evening meeting which was opened by Elmer C. Lemler, chairman of the Klamath County duction saddles a region with a one-industry economy, hiring very few men and leaving the region in this bondage for all time. "More than 45 per cent of the hydroelectric power produced by the federal government on the Columbia River is sold to aluminum plants. An argument is going on all the way from the Continental Divide to the Pacific Coast over whether this is responsible for the most serious power shortage in the history of the Northwest."

Brown cited another instance of at least contradictory statements made by Neuberger who, with Senator Holmes, introduced Senate Bill No. 313 in the Oregon Legislature in February, 1952. This bill was "for an act relating to the protection of anadromous fish life in the rivers and streams tributary to the Columbia River."

It provided that "There shall not be constructed any dam of a height greater than 25 feet" on any streams or rivers tributary to the Columbia River downstream from McNary Dam, "nor shall waters of the Deschutes River or its tributaries or of the other streams... be diverted for any purpose other than fisheries..."

The bill also stated: "It shall be the duty of the State Game Commission and the State Fish Commission to acquire and abate any dam or other obstruction... on any streams or rivers tributary to the Columbia River downstream from McNary Dam."

"This is the man," Brown pointed out, "who has paraded as an advocate of big dams such as the Hells Canyon Dam."

Commenting that a good businessman looks at the past record of any man he contemplates hiring for a responsible position, Brown emphasized:

"Neuberger's history of progressive achievement in the Oregon Legislature is a completely sterile preparatory record on the state level and one which would be doubtlessly reflected if promoted to the national level."

He pointed out Neuberger's record of 149 absences in one year from crucial rollcall votes on final passage of bills in the state senate, and his failing to vote on 37 of the 100 days of the session.

"That's exactly twice the number Senator Gordon missed in 10 years under the much heavier schedule of the U.S. Senate," Brown said.

"The self-glorifying ineffectual record he has written in public service only justifies Neuberger's relegation to the ranks of the un-elected," Brown concluded.

Rejuvenated southwest peninsula, roughly 25 to 30 airline miles from Jerome. The Salpan's helicopters reported that roads linking these villages with Jerome were all washed out.

A doctor and interpreter who landed by airplane at Jerome Thursday morning sent back word that no deaths or injuries were reported in the vicinity of Jerome. The town's hospital was reported damaged but was still functioning with adequate supplies.

Capt. George Holley naval public information officer at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, told the Associated Press by telephone that six helicopter sorties had been flown from the Salpan to the Jerome area.

Meanwhile the hurricane passed through the outer Bahama Islands 360 miles east of Miami. The strength it lost in its land passage over Haiti had been regenerated and latest reports showed its top winds were back at an estimated 115 miles an hour.

Hazel already has enjoyed an unusually long hurricane life. Reconnaissance aircraft discovered the hurricane 10 days ago near Grenada Island, deep in the Caribbean area off the coast of Venezuela. She followed a slow, erratic course before turning northward and smashing across western Haiti early Tuesday.

The Salpan's reports that no deaths had been reported in Jerome came after many hours of unverified rumors that hundreds had perished when storm-borne waves crashed through the little coastal town. Downpours in nearby mountains washed out the only road to the Haitian capital, Port au Prince, and other communications failed.

Scores of villages and thickly populated rural areas were still to be heard from, however. Haiti is one of the most densely populated countries in the western hemisphere with an estimated density of 280 persons to the square mile. The bulk of the population is in rural areas.

Republican Central Committee. Troy Cook and Eva Cook, county candidates, E. A. Geary, candidate for reelection as state representative, and Oscar Kittredge, Republican candidate for the state senate, were introduced.

U.S. Congressman Sam Coon spoke on the accomplishments of the Eisenhower administration and told of the 10 pieces of legislation he introduced which were passed, including the bill for appropriation of money for a new school at Chiloquin.
