SEARCH FOR LOST FAMILY HALTS

In The Day's News

By FRANK JENKINS
India's prime minister Nehru arrives in Peiping this morning for a state visit to red China. As he steps from his plane at the airport, he is welcomed by vast and cheering crowds (of communists). He is personally greeted by old Chou En Lai.

Whenever he goes in Peiping, the red carpet is rolled out for him. Ordinary people know that when you set a trap for a mouse you bait it heavily with luscious cheese. But Nehru, I suppose, being a do-gooder with his head up in the rosy clouds, never stops to think of such low and practical things.

In Vienna, which is still occupied partly by the Russians and partly by our side, a Russian GI deserter his unit, climbs a high barbed wire fence surrounding an American radio station, and turns himself over to the Americans. A U. S. spokesman says this morning the Russians have been notified of the desertion.

I certainly hope we don't send him back. After the shooting war ended in 1945 we sent back thousands of Russians who had surrendered to our side to get away from communism, and the record indicates that when the commies got hold of them they either shot them against a wall or sent them to slave labor camps.

Speaking of war aftermaths: Officials of the United States and Japan gather at the big American naval base at Charleston, South Carolina, this morning for a ceremony in which we turn over two American destroyers to the Japs to be added to their new navy.

The destroyers are the Ellyson and the McComb—both of which fought against the Japanese in the Pacific. When we took them out of the mothballs to turn them over they were still heavily decorated with symbols of their prowess in battles with the Japanese navy.

We thought it best to paint these symbols out before giving the ships to the Nipponese, and did so.

War is strange business. With the Russians as our allies, we fought the Japs and the Germans in a bloody stalemate. Now the Russians are our enemies, and the Japanese and the Germans look like the staunchest friends we have in the world.

Such is life. Over in Utah, they've just had an interesting political experience. A demagogue by the name of Stringfellow was running for congress on the Republican ticket. He dramatized himself as a war hero, and did quite a lot of chestbeating about his exploits.

A few days ago it turned out that his much-publicized accounts of his heroic conduct were all moonshine—just a hoax to get himself elected. The hoax was turned on him and he resigned from the campaign.

A college president has just been named to run in his place. You have to admire these Utah people. They take their politics seriously.

Correction In Death Told

Due to an error it was reported in Monday's Herald and News that Gerald Eugene Johnson, 16, of Merrill was killed by the accidental discharge of a shotgun held by Leroy Rudolph Schlecht, 15, also of Merrill.

Oregon State Police headquarters records show that the gun was in the hands of Dennis Letroy Letroy, 11, of Merrill when the accident occurred.

The boys, accompanied by a fourth youth, Duane Warren Johnson, 12, brother of the slain boy, were on a duck hunting trip when the accident occurred.

The gun was accidentally discharged when an attempt was made to eject a 16 gauge shell which had been inadvertently placed in the chamber of a 12 gauge shotgun.

W. Germans, French Hold Conference

PARIS (AP) — French Premier Mendes-France and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer Tuesday began a series of conferences designed to enlist a rearmament West Germany as an equal partner in a Western defense system.

The Premier and the Chancellor met in the chateau of Celle-Saint-Cloud on the outskirts of Paris. With only an interpreter present, they went immediately into a private session which both French and West Germans hope will produce a settlement of the old French-German dispute over the Saar.

Mendes-France was reported ready to propose a French-German industrial and commercial partnership as a foundation for future European unity as well as an overall framework for a solution of the Saar controversy.

The French leader has said a decision must be made on the future of the German-speaking, coal-bearing border state, now linked economically to France, before his National Assembly will approve the Allied program for bolstering Western defenses with West German manpower.

Adenauer flew in from Bonn in mid-morning. "I have come to Paris with a great deal of hope that these next few days will bring great advantages for peace of our peoples, for Europe and for the world," Adenauer said.

The two leaders also were to discuss plans for ending Allied occupation of Germany, restoring German sovereignty and West Germany's role in the Western defense setup.

Their conference was a curtain raiser on other talks designed to complete agreements reached at the recent London conference.

Foreign ministers of United States, Great Britain, France and West Germany hope to agree tomorrow on amendments to the two-year-old Treaty restoring sovereignty to West Germany, and ending the occupation. The Bonn Treaty originally was pegged to the ill-fated European Defense Community and must be altered now that EDC is dead.

Thursday the four foreign ministers, plus five others from Canada, the Netherlands, Belgium, Luxembourg and Italy, plan to draft details of a revised Brussels Treaty. Under this plan West Germany and Italy will be added to the five charter members—Britain, France and the Benelux countries—to form a seven-power pact.

On Friday the North Atlantic Treaty Organization foreign ministers are expected to vote West Germany into the Allied defense system.

All these expected actions are subject to parliamentary ratification in the nations concerned.

The Saar, a small industrial area between France and Germany long has been a source of friction. It now has its own regime, linked to France in an economic union which the French seek to maintain.

The Germans consider the Saar a part of Germany. Its inhabitants are German in culture and language.

Adenauer and Mendes-France have not disclosed their plans for approaching the problem, but the German Chancellor is expected to seek political freedom for the region's pro-German parties. Mendes-France is believed to favor a form of Europeanization under the new Western European union.

Hal Crawford testified at a board hearing that an economic study of the airline showed that Southwest is a "low cost local carrier with history of improvement which merits permanent certification."

Crawford said Southwest has developed a sound route system and the permanent public need for the service has been proven.

Churchill Aide Warns Dockmen

LONDON (AP) — The Churchill government gave an implied warning to striking dockers Tuesday that troops may be called out to unload ships unless they return to work.

Labor Minister Sir Walter Monckton told the House of Commons the 15-day-old strike is having a serious effect on exports, endangers food supplies and threatens widespread unemployment in other industries.

Appealing to the strikers to return while a government commission investigates their grievances, he said: "If the stoppage continues, efforts will become progressively more serious and the economic life of the nation will be endangered."

The government are, of course, watching the situation closely and will take any steps which may become necessary to protect the national interest.

The main Atlantic liner port of Southampton was threatened by a shutdown by the strike, which the Communists are backing. The vast London dock area is closed and work has been sharply curtailed at Liverpool, Britain's second biggest port.

Nearly 35,000 of Britain's 76,000 dock workers are off the job and 193 ships are idle at their moorings.

Sir Walter assured the strikers if they return to work the government court now investigating the dock dispute will consider their case "without prejudice."

The labor minister did not disclose what steps the government had in mind to cope with the situation otherwise—but in previous disputes troops were called out.

Only a year ago soldiers manned gasoline tank trucks when the drivers struck.

CAB Feeder Ruling Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Washington airline consultant Tuesday urged the Civil Aeronautics Board to grant permanent operating authority to Southwest Airways for its feeder route in California and Oregon.

Hal Crawford testified at a board hearing that an economic study of the airline showed that Southwest is a "low cost local carrier with history of improvement which merits permanent certification."

Crawford said Southwest has developed a sound route system and the permanent public need for the service has been proven.

The cost of service is not undue and the trend shows progressive improvement," he said.

Crawford also said a grant of permanent instead of temporary authority which must be renewed periodically would help the carrier obtain needed financing.

Health, Accident Insurance Companies Accused By FTC Of False Advertising

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) Tuesday accused 17 companies in the health, hospital and accident insurance business of "false and misleading advertising."

Together, the 17 firms—including the four largest in the field—represent annual premium payments of more than 300 million dollars, or about one third of the total health and accident policies written on individuals in the country.

Among those named in the FTC complaints—which grew out of a 10-month nationwide investigation—were the Bankers Life and Casualty Co. of Chicago (The White Cross), Mutual Benefit Health and Accident Assn. of Omaha (Mutual Co. of Dallas, and United Insurance Co. of Chicago.

Each firm was charged with from three to five allegedly deceptive practices. Each was allowed 30 days to file replies. Individual hearings are to be held in December.

If, after these hearings, the FTC finds there is basis for the charges it may issue orders forbidding these practices in the future.

FTC Chairman Edward P. Howrey said the action is aimed at false or deceptive advertising claims concerning the extent of insurance protection and benefits payable.

Howrey said in a statement this first broad inquiry of its kind grew out of "a flood of letters" sent by policy holders who he said complained the insurance coverage they received was not the same as advertised.

The FTC complaints attacked the following alleged misrepresentations:

1. Policy termination. A typical advertising claim, it was charged, talks about "no automatic termination age. . . You and your family are covered from 1 to 75." Actually, FTC said, most policies are renewable only at option of the company and can be cancelled at the end of any term for any reason.

2. Extent of coverage. FTC said that, whereas benefits are advertised "for each sickness or accident," many policies pay nothing for losses due to nervous disorders, venereal disease, childbirth, dental operations and so on.

3. Maximum dollar limits. Advertising claims of "up to $25 for each surgical operation" are deceptive in many cases, said FTC, because the full amount is payable for only one or two relatively rare operations.

4. Starting time of coverage. Although some companies represent insurance as being effective when issued, FTC said, coverage for many sicknesses is delayed until the policy has been in effect for a time—such as six months for tuberculosis or heart disease.

5. Health status of the insured. FTC charged many companies state they do not require medical examination, but fail to say the policy does not cover any loss traceable to a condition which existed when the policy was issued.

6. Sale of a plan. Some companies imply, FTC said, that many benefits are obtainable from purchase of a single policy for a few cents a day, when actually several policies are required to get all the advertised benefits.

7. Some advertisements offer regular monthly income "even for life," FTC charged, but only in cases of total disability due to accidental bodily injury are lifetime payments made.

Demos Plan Carson Rally

A Klamath Basin rally for Joe Carson, Democratic nominee for governor, will be held Friday at 7:45 p.m. at the courthouse.

The former mayor of Portland will be introduced by Guy Merrill, chairman of the Klamath Falls Carson - for - Governor Club. The rally will be held under auspices of the Klamath County Democratic Central Committee.

Carson has had an outstanding public career. He is a World War I veteran and a lawyer by profession. He was elected mayor of Portland in 1932 and served two terms.

In 1941, the late Florella La Guardia appointed Carson inspector general for civilian defense. At that time he was also Oregon department commander of the American Legion.

Shortly after the United States entered World War II, Carson was called to active duty as a reserve officer. He eventually became executive officer of the displaced persons branch of the Army under General Omar Bradley. He was a colonel when separated from the service.

After his return from Europe Carson entered private law practice. In 1947 he was named a member of United States Maritime Commission. He served in that capacity until 1950 when maritime affairs were placed under the jurisdiction of the department of commerce.

N. Y. Truckers Resume Work

NEW YORK (AP) — Sixteen thousand of 24,000 striking truck drivers returned to work Tuesday in the New York-New Jersey area, a union spokesman said.

David Kaplan, chief economist of the AFL International Brotherhood of Teamsters, said 9,000 drivers in New York and Long Island had gone back to their jobs as a result of individual trucking firms signing labor contracts.

Monday night a group of 450 truck firms voted to continue to fight union demands for higher pay. However, before the meeting began, the employers' chief negotiator Joseph M. Adelzai, said the employers' position was weakened by defections in their ranks.

Nehru To Tour Communist China

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru arrived in Peiping by plane today to begin a 10-day state visit to Communist China, according to reports received from the Red capital. He was given an ovation at the airport by a vast crowd of spectators.

The Indian leader flew to China from Hanoi, the North Indochina capital which the Communist-led Vietnam had under the Geneva agreement ending the Indochina war.

While in Hanoi, Nehru won a promise from Vietnam chief Ho Chi Minh to respect the sovereignty of the small Indochinese states of Laos and Cambodia.

Official UF Campaign To Be Dedicated

The 1955 United Fund - Red Cross campaign which starts Wednesday, October 20, will receive official dedication this evening at 8 a.m. when Sheriff Tony Neufeldt called the weather too bad to make the try.

Three spaced shots, fired in the Fanno Mountain region west of here Monday, were reported by Mrs. Steve Addison, a ranch wife. It was only some two miles from where the Zeisler family automobile was found last week. Since the search started, the whole area had been closed to deer hunters, so the shots were regarded by Neufeldt as significant.

He had called for volunteers to make their way through the rugged, heavily timbered area Tuesday and Oregon State College students, state forester employees from Salem, O & C timber cruisers, and others showed up.

But as dawn broke, wind was driving a heavy rain over the search area and much of it was shrouded in dense fog. It would be both unlikely to produce results and might even be dangerous for searchers who might stray from their fellows, Neufeldt said, adding, "When it blows and storms in there it's pretty bad."

The try will be made Wednesday instead, if the weather improves. The family, Zeisler, 23, his wife Esther, 33, and her son, Harvey Hoff, 14, all of Newport, have been unreported since they went deer hunting Oct. 9, planning to stay only a day.

A crew of 40 men, aided by a helicopter, failed Monday to find a trace of them.

US Delegate Scores Reds

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — U. S. Delegate James J. Wadsworth said Tuesday the United States suspects the Soviet Union of planning world conquest "behind their facade of disarmament statements."

He called on Moscow to accept effective inspection and full international controls on disarmament.

In a speech to the U. N. Assembly's Political Committee during the closing stages of a debate on disarmament, Wadsworth said the long discussion had shown "the differences between the Soviet Union and the free world are almost as great as ever."

Wadsworth urged the committee to accept a Canadian resolution which would have the Disarmament Commission create once more a five-power group, made up of the United States, Britain, France, Canada and Soviet Union, to continue secret negotiations on disarmament. But he did not hold out much hope of success.

Murderer To Be Executed

MEDFORD (AP) — James Norman Jensen, 25, of Larkspur, Calif., was sentenced Tuesday to die in the state's gas chamber next Jan. 7 for the ax killing of Mrs. Fern Hille last April.

Jensen, convicted Friday night, heard Judge H. K. Hanna pronounce sentence without show of emotion and said "no" when asked if he wished to say anything. He had pleaded innocent by reason of insanity.

The judge said the jury returned a proper verdict for "a wanton and cruel crime." Jensen, just out of San Quentin prison, entered the Hille home in a night robbery attempt and killed Mrs. Hille when she awakened.

Bend Printers Call Strike

BEND, Ore. (AP) — Printers struck the Bend Bulletin Tuesday in a dispute over control of teletypewriter operations but the newspaper, on afternoon daily, went ahead with plans to publish.

Robert Chandler, publisher, said agreement had been reached with the local union on contract terms last June but that "head officials" of the International Typographical Union refused to ratify the agreement because of the newspaper's position on teletypewriter equipment.

Teletypewriter equipment is used to produce type from line casting machines by means of perforated tape. Disputes over whether the ITU should have jurisdiction over the operators producing that tape have occurred elsewhere. At Klamath Falls and Roseburg, newspapers have been operating for several years with non-union printers since being struck over that issue.

An eight-page tabloid newspaper was mailed by the union to rural and city boxholders here in which the union said nine printers were "forced" to the action by the publisher's refusal "to bargain in good faith."

The Bulletin's two pressmen reported for work. They said their union officials had advised them to continue their normal duties.

The Fowler Printing Co., operated in the Bulletin building, was affected by the strike since its type comes from the Bulletin shop.

Canada Aids Hazel Victims

TORONTO (AP) — Relief operations moved ahead swiftly Tuesday in storm-riddled Ontario while the grim search for bodies went on in the hard-hit suburbs of western Toronto.

The death toll from the final strike of Hurricane Hazel stood at 78 in Canada. Six persons were listed as missing and presumed drowned and nine were classified as missing.

A fund to aid those stricken in Friday night's storm neared the million dollar mark Monday, its first day. A goal of 10 million dollars was set.

Survivors moved back into some flood ravaged areas and began to clear their homes of mud and water. Traffic on main roads west of Toronto moved slowly Monday, utilizing the three Humber River bridges left standing. Rail way traffic was returning to normal.

At Ottawa the cabinet met Tuesday to consider what form its assistance in the recovery program will take.

The hurricane took a known death toll of 177 in Canada and the United States.

Deer Causes Auto Mishap

DAYTON, Ore. (AP) — A 140-pound buck deer sent an automobile careening into a ditch, where it caught fire, but both occupants escaped with scratches near here Monday night.

The deer, badly hurt, was killed by another motorist. Mrs. Gust Gustafson of Grand Ronde was driving. Her husband was riding in the front seat with her. The deer darted in front of the car which swerved and plunged into an embankment across a ditch, and broke into flames. The Gustafsons, thrown into the back seat, got out through a front door. The deer was thrown into the ditch beside the burning car. It got to its feet, stumbled toward the flames and collapsed. The motorist dispatched him with a car jack. The car was destroyed.

Ike Hears New CIA Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special study group reported to President Eisenhower Tuesday that the super-secret Central Intelligence Agency is doing a "credible job" but can be improved in "important areas."

The group, headed by Lt. Gen. James A. Doolittle, was appointed by President Eisenhower to give him an independent appraisal of the sensitive aspects of the agency.

Feolette and top members of his staff Tuesday gave Eisenhower a single copy—the only one in existence—of their recommendations for improvements in the top government intelligence outfit.

It was understood the study group's recommendations—if followed by the President—would be handled with the CIA and there would be no public announcement or congressional legislation stemming from the Doolittle inquiry.

Rain; Wind Storm Stops Mass Hunt

DALLAS, Ore. (AP) — A rain and wind storm broke over the Coast Mountains Tuesday, putting a halt to a mass search for a missing family of three.

One of the first substantial clues had fired hope that the Norman Zeisler family might be found, and more than a hundred volunteers were at the sheriff's office at 8 a.m. when Sheriff Tony Neufeldt called the weather too bad to make the try.

Three spaced shots, fired in the Fanno Mountain region west of here Monday, were reported by Mrs. Steve Addison, a ranch wife.
