

EVEN MOM AND POP GOT IN THE ACT for this one, when Suzie and Johnny participated in Family Night activities at the YMCA on a tour of United Fund agencies. They learned, by act more than by word, that the "Y" program provides for the individual boy 9 years or older, the individual teenage girl, groups of boys, of girls, of men, of women and of the family, and that it also provides facilities for numerous clubs and organizations to meet, thereby serving the whole community through breakdown into interests. Serving all faiths, all races, its membership has grown from 352 in 1952 and 730 in 1953 to 1400 in 1954. In two years it has moved from a position of 20 per cent self supporting to 55 per cent self supporting.

Home Extension

By Eleanor Thomson
A venison dinner served with all trimmings by the hostess, Sally Bates, was enjoyed by the members of Bly Home Extension unit Thursday October 14. Creative embroidery was the topic of the day ably led by Delores Steffanson who is chairman of the unit.
Mrs. Steffanson resigned as chairman as she and her family are moving to Lakeview. Mrs. Ted Hyde was elected to take her place. Another officer, Mrs. Emil Johnson, secretary has moved recently to Roseburg and Eleanor Thomson was elected to take her place.
Next regular meeting will be at Carrie Obenchain's, Thursday, November 11. Hope Holbrook, Home Demonstration Agent will demonstrate touchups for wood furniture.

Mexican Accident Victims Found

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The bodies of six mountain climbers swept away by an avalanche on Mt. Popocatepetl were found last night in a crevasse near the 17,887-foot summit. Two other members of the party who escaped the snowy slide were rescued earlier.
The dead included two women. It was the highest toll for a single mountain accident in Mexico's history.

Mail Ruined By Chicago Flood

CHICAGO (AP)—Some 3,000 pieces of parcel post and three railroad baggage carloads of magazines, books and newspapers were ruined in the Union Station flood during the record rainfall 10 days ago.
The Chicago post office said today some 28 pouches of soaked first-class mail were being dried out. Mail with legible addresses will be delivered, but the post office will not assume responsibility for noninsured mail.

County Stock Meet Planned

A side of beef will be transformed into ready-to-cook cuts as part of the Klamath County livestock and meat marketing meeting being held on October 28 at the fairgrounds. The meeting, announced by Hope Holbrook and Ray Petersen, county extension agents, will begin at 10 a.m. The meeting will be open to the public.
John Landers, Oregon State College extension livestock specialist, will cut the side of beef into individual cuts. Taking it from there, Agnes Kolshorn, extension nutrition specialist, will show how to wrap it for freezing. She will also discuss cooking methods for the cuts according to their tenderness and other characteristics.
A panel of representatives of all parts of the meat industry will take a look at livestock and meat marketing in Klamath county. They will also discuss the Oregon livestock and meat marketing conference held last January on the Oregon State College campus and how it applies locally.
Among the recommendations of that state conference were a compulsory meat inspection law and more education of consumers on meat.
At that meeting representatives of each part of the industry took part. They included consumers, producers, livestock marketing agencies, packers, retailers and labor.

Oregon Forage Study Planned

Nature's process of supplying the greens, yellows and other colors to "bossy's" feed may lead Oregon State College scientists to better quality forage crops.
OSU agricultural chemists and farm crops researchers have received a $5000 federal grant to study color - adding "chromogen" compounds in forage plants as a possible key to the nutritive value of the plants.
J. Ritchie Cowan, farm crops plant breeder, will coordinate the research project tentatively scheduled as a five to six year program with annual renewal of the grant.
