

AAUW Annual Fellowship Tea

FALL CROCUS IN PALE LAVENDER was the featured flower at the AAUW tea last Saturday, when Mrs. Julian Eccles opened her home to Klamath Basin women who patronized the beautifully arranged fall event. A shell-pink Italian cloth of cut work embroidered linen over pink satin draped the tea table. The centerpiece, shown above, was a large silver bowl filled with crocus blossoms; and the fountain effect was achieved with graceful sprays of spun glass. Pale pink and lavender tapers in crystal holders completed the striking setting.

Mrs. Robert L. Smith, pouring, serves Mrs. Ronald Carter, left, Mrs. Richard Pope and Mrs. Ira Kostenbader.

MRS. DON ZUMWALT, left, active member of AAUW for many years in Klamath Falls, receives warm reception from Mrs. Robert A. Thompson, general chairman of the tea; Mrs. Julian Eccles, hostess for the afternoon; and Mrs. Dick B. Miller Sr., president local branch AAUW.

ON THE STAIRWAY — a group of tea patrons, from the top down, Mrs. William A. Whelan, Mrs. Orton Mann, Mrs. John O'Neill, Mrs. Cecil Drew and Mrs. Walter Franklin.

Each year, the local branch of the American Association of University Women stage a silver tea to raise funds for two scholarships given annually. One is given to a graduating senior girl in the Klamath Basin who may attend a school of her choice. The other is flexible and is decided as to type during the year awarded.

YOUNGEST GUEST — Martin Douglas (Marty) Chin, center, is held by his mother, Mrs. George Chin, this year's local AAUW historian. With them, Mrs. Harry Todd, also member and one of the afternoon's assistants.

In keeping with the prevailing colors, the young man was decked out in pink satin for the occasion.

— All tea photos by Kettler

Wives of Local Rotarians Entertain at Luncheon

SOCIETY

by Milly Ramsby

Mrs. Kersey Eldridge, Wife of District Governor of Rotary is Guest of Honor at Yacht Club, October 15.

MRS. KERSEY ELDRIDGE, center, admires the seasonal floral arrangement of rusty, gold and bronze used on the luncheon table at the Yacht Club Friday, October 15, when she was honored guest of the wives of local Rotarians. With her, Mrs. Wesley Lorenz, left; and Mrs. Loren Palmerton. Mrs. Eldridge was here with her husband, District Governor of Rotary, on an official visit to the local Rotary Club. — Photo by Kettler