UNITED FUND-RED CROSS residential campaign starts this coming week; and in the picture, lower right, Mrs. Cliff Blann points to the important date on the calendar held by Mrs. Bert Schmidt. They are among the many volunteer residential workers; and will call on neighbors in the Lakeshore vicinity.

Although October 26 is the "Big Day," housewives will probably be contacted until October 29, — when Mrs. Percy Murray, residential chairman, hopes to report a 100 per cent response from all neighborhoods.

After getting her oldest of three children, Barbara, seven, a 2nd grader at Mills, off to school, Mrs. Keith Walrath, upper left, a busy mother, starts out with her two pre-school children, Penny, three; and David, four; for a practice-walk before October 26.

The days of the campaign might not be so pleasant; but Mrs. Walrath will still make her calls in the neighborhood; and the youngsters are eager to get going. They already have a desire to take part in "helping"—after mother told them that money collected would provide care for homeless children "just their ages."

Typical of many weary women workers — after a long day of making United Fund-Red Cross residential campaign contacts — is Mrs. Willard Ward, member of the planning committee, who heads five residential districts.

She started her work several weeks ago, lining up volunteers to cover individual neighborhoods. Other than this responsibility, she will, no doubt, as many of the volunteer leaders will, do much of the actual door to door soliciting — because she believes in the United Fund and feels that each housewife should consider it a privilege to do her share.

So — she, like many of the other workers — home from a long day's work, will have to whip up a quick meal for her husband and two sons, Jimmy, eleven; and David, seven; 6th and 2nd graders at Roosevelt. Jimmy is a Boy Scout; and realizes the importance of the United Fund.

"Ready to go" are four of the many enthusiastic volunteers, lower left. Receiving their kits from Mrs. George Goehring, seated, are (l to r), Mrs. Raymond E. Brown, Mrs. Don Curtis and Mrs. Ron Carter. They reflect the spirit of their co-workers which manifested itself by tripling last year's attendance at the kick-off meeting. All determined to top the $6000 quota.

8 & 40 Installs Officers

Officers of the Eight and Forty were installed following the first business meeting of the fall and winter season held recently in Veterans Memorial Hall.

Installed as president was Mrs. Julia Williams; first vice president, Mrs. Henry Petrik; second vice president, Mrs. Pete Peterson; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Katherine Keep; chaplain, Mrs. C. H. Foster; sergeant at arms, Mrs. George Frey; historian, Mrs. Merion Brown; parliamentarian, Mrs. Fred Heilbroner; mistress of ceremonies, Mrs. Lester Finley.

Mrs. Heilbroner, installing officer, was assisted by Mrs. Carl Schubert and Mrs. Edna Russell.

Outgoing president, Mrs. George Kuris, thanked her officers and chairman for their support during the past year, and, as a token of appreciation, presented Klamath Solon 355 with a cash donation. Mrs. Williams appointed the following chairman for the coming year: child welfare, Mrs. John Glubrecht and Mrs. George Kuris; ritual and emblems, Mrs. Fannie Thompson; red book, Mrs. Tom

AAUW Fellowship Tea

Autumn blossoms were used generously throughout the charming home of Mrs. Julian Eccles on Conger Avenue to form the background for the Annual Fellowship Silver Tea given by the local branch of the American Association of University Women.

Guests Dick B. Miller Sr., local branch president; Mrs. Julian Eccles, hostess for the afternoon; and Mrs. Robert A. Thompson, general chairman of the tea.

The tea table featured an unusual arrangement of fall crocus and tapers in shades of shell pink and lavender. Mrs. Laurence Shaw and Mrs. Eric Majors were in charge of decorations.

Presiding at the tea table during the afternoon were: Mrs. Robert L. Smith, president of OTI Faculty Wives Club; Mrs. Willard Duncan, state vice president of AAUW; Mrs. Robert Chilcote, president Klamath Falls Daughters of the Nile Club; Mrs. Eric Majors, president of Klamath Falls Quota Club; Mrs. George Elliott, president of Business and Professional Women's Club; and Mrs. A. B. McVey, finance chairman of the local branch of AAUW.

Hostess chairman for the afternoon was Mrs. Charles B. Larkin; tea table, Mrs. H. O. Juckeland and Mrs. A. Ivan Thompson. Mrs. Edward Hickman, refreshment; and Mrs. R. P. Ellington, OTI.
