PTA
 The second meeting of the Fairview PTA was held in the school auditorium October 28. The flag salute was led by Robert Trivett and Steven Moeen. Mrs. Hagreen, president, presided over the business meeting. The PTA rummage sale will be held at 127 South Sixth October 29. Mrs. Charles Swafford and Mrs. W. A. Reinmiller are in charge. Mrs. Francis Otto and Mrs. Spence volunteered to cut and sew the felt for music awards which will be given out this year to band and orchestra members. Mrs. B. Simon reported that the PTA has more than 280 members. Mrs. Davis room won first prize for members and Mrs. Parker's was second. The Study Club will meet November 1. Mrs. Otto reported that there were 300 boxes of Christmas cards to be sold. This is one of the PTA projects for this year. Mrs. Parker's room won the room prize for the most parents at this meeting. Mrs. Erickson won the door prize. The entertainment consisted of some films on safety which were shown by Irma Wauchope. The next meeting of the Fairview PTA will be November 17. Refreshments were served in the school cafeteria.

Girls Scouts Hold Macdoel Meeting
 MACDOEL - The cookout which has been planned by the Girl Scouts for October 22, turned out to be a cook-in. The weather was too windy for outdoor fires, so it was held at the home of the Girl Scout leader, Mrs. James Butler. The Girl Scouts chose to have the cook-out this year instead of a Halloween party.

TALKS
 MANILA (AP) - Ambassador Felino Neri said Thursday resumption of Philippine-Japanese reparations talks hinges on Japan's willingness to negotiate on a fresh basis.

Oregon Demos Staging Hard Fought Campaign

By PAUL W. HARVEY JR.
 SALEM (AP) - The Democrats are putting on a campaign that is generating more heat than ever before. Here's why.
 A newspaper editor asked Richard L. Neuberger, Democratic candidate against U. S. Sen. Guy Cordon, why Neuberger started his campaign so early. He was working hard early last summer, long before Cordon got home from Washington. Neuberger replied that this is the year that the Democrats in Oregon have to make their biggest pitch. It's a case of winning now or never, because the Democratic chances never will look any brighter than they do now.

 That brings up the question of why Oregon has been so predominantly Republican throughout most of this century.
 If Neuberger wins, he will be the first Democrat elected to the Senate from Oregon in 40 years. Western Oregon never has sent a Democrat to the U. S. House of Representatives. Most state officials have been Republicans.

All of this seems odd, in view of the fact that there are almost as many Democrats as there are Republicans. In registration, the Republicans lead by the scant margin of 404,694 to 402,383.
 But as a matter of fact, the registration figures don't mean a thing, and never did. Oregon's voters don't vote along party lines.
 Ever since 1940, when the Republican registration lead was down to less than 6,000, the Democrats have hardly elected anybody. In 1950, the Democrats even went into the registration lead, but it didn't do them any good.

One reason the registration totals are meaningless is that many of Oregon's Democrats are conservative, having opposed the Roosevelt and Truman administrations. So they vote for Republicans. Also, the Republicans always get the vote out better than their opponents.
 The split that has existed among Oregon Democrats for at least 15 years has hurt them. The party has had two, and sometimes three, warring factions.
 The party is in a dilemma. If it goes to the left, it loses its conservative supporters. And if it goes to the right, there's no difference between it and the Republicans.
 But, with Neuberger setting the pace with his bitter criticism of the Republican power policy, the Democrats hope they can make Oregon a two-party state—with the Democrats on top, of course.

Merrill Camp Fire Girls Meet

MERRILL - The Merrill Camp Fire Leaders' Association had Ellen Plumb as their guest when they met in the recreation hall for their regular monthly meeting. Miss Plumb is the regional field adviser for Camp Fire Girls, and was introduced by Mrs. Naomi French, Klamath County Camp Fire director.

February 10, the tentative date set for the annual dad-daughter dinner, to be held in the recreation hall. The next regular meeting of the Leaders' Association will be November 10, at the recreation hall. Handicrafts will be the topic, and all leaders are requested to bring samples of handicraft made by their group.
 In addition to the two guests Miss Plumb and Mrs. French, those present included Mrs. James Graham, Mrs. Maurice O'Keefe, Mrs. W. O. Brickner, Mrs. Alonzo Hodges, Mrs. Axel Felt, Mrs. Robert Walker, Mrs. Ralph Swisher, Mrs. Ivan Kamra, Mrs. Don West, Mrs. Charles Cunningham, Mrs. Paul Lewis, Mrs. Dale West, Mrs. Fasalch Hodges and Mrs. Wendell Moore.

Merrill School Carnival Slated

MERRILL - Merrill high school students are busily preparing for their annual carnival, set for Friday evening October 29, in the gym.
 Each class has selected candidates for king and queen of the carnival. Janice Lisk and Brian Fields will represent the seventh grade; Donna Conner and John Haskins are the eighth grade candidates; Sue Munro and Johnny Rogers, freshman; Darlene Daniels and Bill Moore, sophomore class; Patsy Ralston and Jim Ralston, juniors; and Sharon Kothoff and Lee Wolfram, are the senior class candidates. Coronation of the king and queen will open the evening's festivities. The successful candidates are chosen on the basis of tickets sold.
 Various concessions are planned including a country store, fun house, and refreshment booth. Admission is 25 cents per person, and all proceeds are used to purchase school equipment.
