Civil Defense Meeting Held

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—With the moan of air raid sirens as background, 300 delegates today mulled over the immensely complex business of civil defense in an atomic age.

Emphasis at the third annual conference of the United States Civil Defense Council was on the developing art of swiftly evacuating a city threatened by atomic attack.

Systems set up to give advance warning of any approaching enemy bombers were outlined yesterday by Air Force Maj. Gen. J. V. Crabb, commander Central Air Defense, headquartered at Grandview Mo.

Gen. Crabb told the crowd that "sky watch" posts that will need at least 100,000 volunteer workers are planned for the nation's southwest underbelly.

The Gulf states, and their neighbors, lie across a potential bomber route heretofore relatively unguarded. Similar networks have long been maintained around the nation's northern Perimeter—the side closest to Russia.

Crabb said 17 filter centers (clearing agencies for receiving, plotting and relaying information on aircraft movements) probably will be set up by Jan. 1.

Each center would handle about 200 observation posts. States involved are: Alabama, Mississippi, Texas, Oklahoma, Missouri, New Mexico, Colorado, Arizona, Louisiana Utah, Arkansas and Kansas—and parts of Tennessee and Florida.

Maj. M. C. Des Voigne, Nashville, state coordinator for the Ground Observer Corps, said each center would require about 1,000 volunteers. Each post will need at least 25—more if watch is kept on 24-hour basis.

New Form Of Old Snakeroot Drug Aids Mental Patients

CHICAGO (AP)—A research team today reported "dramatic" and seemingly "incredible" results in treating "hopelessly" insane patients with a new form of an old snakeroot remedy from India.

They said the drug, reserpine, brought improvement in 80 per cent of the 74 "back ward" mental hospital patients they treated. Eight have been discharged and 20 others have become so much better with continued use of the drug that they may be sent home on leaves of absence.

Reserpine also appeared to help mentally retarded patients.

The doctors said reserpine should not be regard as a "panacea in the treatment of the mentally ill and mentally retarded." However, if further studies bear out their results, they added, "reserpine will be the most important therapeutic development in the history of psychiatry."

They said they expect it to revolutionize present psychiatric treatment.

They added they believe reserpine can be substituted as superior for the often-feared electroconvulsive shock treatments in 75 per cent of mental cases.

Reserpine is a chemically pure derivative of rauwolfia serpentina. This Indian plant has been used for centuries in the treatment of mental illness, insomnia, snake bite, anxiety states and other conditions. Lately, it has been found effective in lowering blood pressure in hypertensive patients.

The team of American physicians, Drs. Robert H. Noce and David B. Williams of Modesto, Calif., and Walter Rapaport of Sacramento, investigated reserpine because of recent enthusiastic reports from India on its effectiveness in mental illness.

They selected for their study only those mental patients at Modesto State Hospital with the poorest prospects for recovery.

Writing in the journal of the American Medical Assn. on results obtained with the drug, they said, "Patients have undergone a metamorphosis from raging, combative unsociable persons to cooperative, friendly, cheerful, sociable relatively quiet persons who are amenable to psychotherapy and rehabilitative measures. . ."

The drug apparently acts on the hypothalamus, the seat of emotional behavior in the brain. The doctors said the drug not only exerts a tranquilizing action but "we believe that a reorganization of the personality is taking place in an amazing, rapid, satisfactory manner."

Plunge Fatal To Oregon Driver

OREGON CITY (AP) — A Portlander who had plunged 125 feet in his automobile into the Clackamas River was found dead Thursday. The body of Henry J. Michalke, 44, was recovered from the water near the wreck. He had apparently crashed through a guard rail and into the river late Wednesday night.

Take it from me girls...stay Smart and Healthy

By BESSY, The Basin Bossy

Naturally, I'm a pusher for fresh milk cocktails, but knowing nevertheless that the world spins on all around, we might pause here today for a look at what the dress designers have prepared for the more formal cocktail parties.

Fifth avenue, New York, you know, is a showcase for fashions in America. And there, not too long ago, brilliant, vivid colors flooded forth from windows where cocktail dresses were on display. There were emerald satin dresses, hip-draped reds, and black and white fur accessories were commonplace (those furs are becoming truly important, aren't they?)

Always new fashions, new designs.

And, you know, that's how the milk industry keeps up to date. Improvements, new methods, new equipment. Always progressive.

And, too, that's how the Oregon milk marketing act works, too. Sure, it is doing a good job insuring a steady milk supply to all who want and need it at fair prices. But that doesn't mean it isn't constantly being improved upon.

On the contrary, even we cows know how the dairy industry strives to provide the best to all concerned. After all, we cows are a part of the industry — darned important, you'll admit.

So there is constant striving to improve the complex law that any milk act must be. Take it from me, the Oregon milk marketing act is for YOU, the people. Keep behind it. — BESSY
