

Scribe Picks Uclans

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK (U-P)—Oh, hush, some of the political forecasters were wrong in the election, too, weren't they?

Last Thursday's list of games had 35 winners and 14 that were incorrect for an average of .715. That listed the season's average to .701 with 232 games picked correctly and 99 wrong.

Here are the winners this week-end:

UCLA over Oregon: The Uclans, now rated the country's best, are stomping all their Pacific Coast rivals. Two of the season's best backs, Prina Villanueva of UCLA, and George Shaw of Oregon, occupy the same field.

Ohio State over Pittsburgh: The situation here is ideal for an upset but one doesn't dare pick against the Buckeyes as long as Hopalong Cassidy still is around.

Oklahoma over Iowa State: The all-winning Sooners have been threatened enough lately to be alert.

Rice over Arkansas: The game is in Arkansas but Rice is the pick in the belief that the Razorbacks have run out of mirrors.

Notre Dame over Pennsylvania: This is one Penn that isn't mightier than a sword, especially an Irish sword.

Army over Yale: The possibility that Bob Kysky, Army's fleetest back, will rejoin his Cadet teammates after a few weeks absence with injuries, puts an even heavier burden on Yale.

Iowa over Purdue: Purdue has a passer and Iowa has a pass defense for this Hawkeye homecoming.

Southern California over Stanford: Those Trojans are Rose Bowl bound.

Duke over Navy: The game will be played at Norfolk, Va., as the eighth annual Oyster Bowl game. The Middies gave their all against Notre Dame last weekend.

Minnesota over Oregon State: How did the goppers ever lose that game to Michigan by 34-0?

The others without comment:

FRIDAY NIGHT
Virginia Tech over George Washington, Kansas State over Drake, Marquette over Boston College.

SATURDAY
East: Boston University over Villanova, Brown over Springfield, Colgate over Bucknell, Cornell over Syracuse, Dartmouth over Columbia, Penn State over Holy Cross, Princeton over Harvard, Rutgers over Lafayette, Temple over Brandeis.

Midwest: Miami (Ohio) over Indiana, Nebraska over Kansas, Michigan State over Washington State, Missouri over Colorado, Michigan over Illinois.

South: Clemson over Furman, Georgia Tech over Tennessee, Florida over Georgia, Kentucky over Vanderbilt, Louisiana State over Chattanooga, Maryland over North Carolina State, South Carolina over North Carolina, Wake Forest over Richmond, West Virginia over Fordham, William & Mary over Virginia Military, The Citadel over Newberry, Mississippi State over North Texas State, Miami (Fla) over Auburn, Mississippi over Memphis State.

Southwest: Baylor over Texas, Southern Methodist over Texas A & M, Houston over Tulsa, Hardin Simmons over Texas Western.

Far West: Wyoming over Utah State, California over Washington, Cincinnati over Arizona State, Texas Tech over Arizona, Utah over Colorado A & M, Denver over Brigham Young, Montana over New Mexico.

EUGENE, Ore. (U-P)— Coach Len Casanova warned the Oregon Ducks Wednesday "our only hope" against powerful UCLA Saturday "is a stronger defense against single wing rushing plays."

The coach then put the Ducks through a long defensive drill.

He said he expects the Uclans, the nation's No. 1 team in the last Associated Press poll, to use an attack similar to the one the Ducks faced in the Southern California game.

HIDDEN WEAPON . . . Any time 137-pound halfback Leon Smith feels California opponents are getting ready to smear him, he ducks behind 255-pound tackle John Carroll and he can't be seen, much less reached. Smith, in this case, is ready to pass the ball in case you didn't notice him.

Time Changes Things For MSC Spartan 'II'

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (U-P)— One of the wonders of the current college football season, which has had many, is the sickening drop of the Michigan State Spartans from the top spot in the Big Ten conference, the toughest gridiron league of them all, into virtual oblivion.

A year ago at this time, Coach Biggie Munn's dazzling array was in the national limelight week after week as it waded through a bruising schedule. In winning the Big Ten title the team from East Lansing suffered only one defeat, a 6-0 squeaker to Purdue, while racking up eight victories. Then, in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day it clinaxed a glorious season by outscoring UCLA 38-20.

BATTERED
Seldom, surely, has a team of national standing in any sport fallen so flatly upon its face within so brief a period. As of this week, the 1954 Spartans have won just one game, a 6-0 decision over almost equally battered Wisconsin while taking pastings from Iowa, Indiana, Notre Dame, Purdue and Minnesota.

All this has caused a certain amount of talk in football circles. How could a team which was picked to finish sixth among the nation's gridiron golliwogs in the preseason Associated Press poll of the experts turn out to be so harmless?

"In talent," Stapler writes, "State lacked a good sophomore crop to replace its lettermen lost. This partially stems from the year State was on athletic probation (1952); recruiters reported many difficulties convincing boys to come to State. Competitors from other schools used the probation angle to sway lads away from enrolling at East Lansing; recruits said, 'I caught up with MSC this year.'"

"Additionally, State is minus a large quantity of big men, the kind needed for today's one-plateon football. The small, quick lads that won so many games for State in the two-plateon era are outdated.

"In coaching, State was caught with an inexperienced staff. Six of the seven assistants are nearly or fully newcomers to college coaching.

"Measured in terms of the opposition, State has found it's a long road from William and Mary to Minnesota. When Biggie Munn won 28 straight games for MSC over a three-year period, the opposition included only six Big Ten teams and quite a few of the William and Mary class. This season Daugherty already has faced five Big Ten teams in his first six games and has one more to go."

Macks Under Pressure

PHILADELPHIA (U-P)—Individual members of the Mack family were under heavy pressure from three sides today to make up their collective mind about the future of the Philadelphia Athletics.

At the risk of sounding repetitious, a decision could be reached today.

Arnold Johnson, the Chicago businessman who thought he bought the A's for transfer to Kansas City and then apparently lost out to an eight-member Philadelphia syndicate, reportedly gave the family of Connie Mack until noon today to come to an agreement or a paring of the ways.

REORGANIZED
A reorganized four-man Philadelphia syndicate, meanwhile, was urging the Macks to consider an offer similar to that made by Johnson and even better than the one made by the original eight-man Philadelphia group that was turned down by the American League.

And in Chicago, American League President W. L. Harridge said he had telephoned Roy Mack, the A's executive vice president and key to the current logjam, urging that some sort of decision be reached shortly to facilitate league scheduling. If the A's remain in Philadelphia, they will stay an Eastern club and if they move to Kansas City, Baltimore will become an Eastern club with the A's taking a Western spot.

The Philadelphia syndicate, turned down at a league meeting in New York late last month came back to life in cut-down form last night.

John P. Criscoli, retired Philadelphia automobile dealer, announced he and Mort Liebmman, another member of the original eight-man group, had visited Connie Mack Sr. and his wife yesterday.

Criscoli said when he and Liebmman, with their attorney, Sam Goldberg, arrived at the Mack apartment, Johnson was already there, apparently making an effort to obtain signatures on a sale agreement.

SPOKESMAN
The syndicate spokesman said he and Liebmman pulled out checks totaling $604,000 and offered to buy Connie Mack's share in the A's. They also agreed to "buy out or keep" Connie Mack's two sons, Roy and Earle, Roy has been the chief thorn in developments to date, blowing hot toward the Johnson forces at one point and reportedly favoring the syndicate at another.

The syndicate previously had offered to retain Roy Mack in the front office of the club by virtue of a one-ninth interest in the club. The offer to retain Earle was new.

Johnson, on the other hand, offered to give Roy a front office job and provide Roy's son Connie III with a job that would train him in the big business of baseball. The syndicate hasn't made any open overtures to Roy's son — and that may be the big hitch in the whole affair.
