Workers Aid In Bringing Family To US

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Mike Katsanevas doesn't say much when asked what he's going to get for Christmas. He just smiles and tries to explain: "Only in America could such a thing happen like this."

For Mike is going to get the best Christmas present in the world — his family. His fellow workers at the Clearfield Naval Supply Depot are taking up a $3,000 collection to bring seven members of his family to America from Crete.

And Sen. Arthur V. Watkins (R-Utah) has promised to do all he can to cut the red tape involved in getting them here.

Mike is 66. He has been back and forth between America and Crete several times. Now he works as a janitor at the supply depot. He has had a dream since he got the job in 1948 — and because of it his floors are the cleanest and his brass the shiniest in the vast establishment.

Maybe that's how the word got around. Mike was saving up his janitor's pay to bring the rest of his family to America.

Last week a spontaneous campaign started among his 2,100 fellow workers to help him do it. In less than a week $3,100 of the needed $3,000 was collected.

"We'll make it," says Sandy Cahoon, who is president of the Civilian Employees Assn. at the base.

Mike first came to America 55 years ago. In 1924 he returned to Crete to see his dying mother. He married and returned to the coffee shop he operated in Sait Lake City. But his wife died in childbirth, and Mike, grief-stricken, went back again to Crete. He farmed the small family olive grove, remarried and started raising a family.

When the Germans invaded Greece, Mike fought for his country and ended up in prison. When he was released his family was starved, his home had been burned, his olive grove despoiled.

After Congress passed a law allowing all former American soldiers stranded in Europe free transportation back to the United States, Mike got together enough money to bring two sons and a daughter with him. His wife and the others had to stay behind.

"It won't be long," he promised, "before I send for you."

But a janitor's pay is small, and it is now almost seven years.

Thief Poses As Plumbing Worker

LONDON (AP) — A thief posing as a plumber was greeted by Mrs. Ruth Osborne's two poodles as he walked up the stairs of her house yesterday.

The maid who let the impostor in said the friendly dogs — Susie and Simone — lifted their paws and the "plumber" gravely shook them.

He then proceeded to Mrs. Osborne's bedroom and fished a box containing jewels worth 3,500 pounds ($9,800).

He came downstairs, shook the poodles' paws a second time and departed with the loot.

Justice Asks Smaller Jury

LONDON (AP) — Lord Goddard, the lord chief justice of England, suggests the size of juries be reduced from 12 to 7 in all court actions except murder trials. And he says verdicts should not be unanimous but by majority vote.

Lord Goddard says retrials have become more frequent recently because one "unreasonable or prejudiced juror" can cause a mistrial. Smaller juries sat in courts during the war and served without risk of real injustices, he contends.

The question of a majority vote by reduced juries also has been advanced by Sir Gerald Dodson, senior judge of Old Bailey, London's criminal court. He told a jury which could not reach a verdict because one of its members differed from the rest:

"Perhaps one day our legislature may see fit to decide that a majority verdict of say 10-12ths may be valid."

Many lawyers opposed the idea of majority verdicts in murder trials.

"British justice has been built up on the belief that an accused man is always entitled to the benefit of any doubt in the minds of his fellow men," said one.

Justice Asks Smaller Jury

BERLIN (AP) — Ten East Germans were convicted Friday of espionage for the United States. Communist courts sentenced them to prison terms ranging from three years to life.

All 10 were charged with betraying military and industrial secrets to American intelligence agencies in West Berlin.
