EVEN WITH SNOW ON THE GROUND these elk on the Mabel Liskey ranch on Lost River managed to keep warm last winter. This picture was taken in the spring of this year.

THREE BULLDOZERS AND A ROTARY were at work on this stretch of the rim road when the time came to clear off the winter's accumulation of snow.

Cosmetics Favored As Gift For Men Members Of Family

There is probably no other gift that fits a child's Christmas budget better than cosmetics for her father or brother or grandfather.

In the first place, there are few cosmetics that men use: shaving creams, lotions, talcum powders and deodorants. And any one or two or three can make a gift.

It's important, of course, to know what kind of shave the gent likes. If he's an electric shave devotee, forget all about it. The best you can do here is buy an astringent that is used for pre-shaves.

But if he goes for lathers or brushless cream, there are a host of items on the market.

Shulton, for example, has an Old Spice shaving cup—the soap is in a wooden bowl and the brush simply picks up the lather.

Yardley makes a masculine-scented cream that comes out in a ribbon onto the brush. And Shulton has a shaving stick, soap in solid form.

In brushless lathers, there are both the wipe-on variety made by most cosmetics houses and the foam-on cans that are backed up with air pressure to squirt out great gobs of lather.

In the after-shave lotions department, use your own nose in buying the gift. You can't go far wrong, and most men will use any lotion their women think nice.

The deodorants are another matter. If the man doesn't use one and you'd like him to, Christmas is a good time to start him. Otherwise, stick to the kind he's been using.

For the more elaborate cosmetic gift, look into the selection of traveling cases. Yardley, Shulton and others put out regular supplies of cosmetics in such cases.

HOUSE GIFT

Good idea for a household gift: a rotary-electric floor scrubber and polisher. It'll clean and polish any kind of flooring and cut out back-breaking housework.

ELECTRIC TIMER is a gift welcomed by home photographer. This one has eight-inch luminous dial.

JEWELRY for men is limited by custom: ring, cuff links, tie clasp, watch, belt buckle. But all are cherished gifts.

VISE-GRIP is an all-purpose wrench and plier tool. It comes in two sizes and makes an ideal gift for the home handyman.
