"I DON'T KNOW WHAT HE DID. I THINK HE'S JUST TRYING TO WORRY ME."

Cancer Kills Famed Atomic Scientist Enrico Fermi

CHICAGO (AP)—Fellow scientists today mourned the death of Enrico Fermi, self-exiled Italian physicist who became the architect of the atomic age.

Fermi died of cancer yesterday at the age of 53. If he had been spared a few more years, Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission said, "he might have been saved by medical techniques derived from his own discoveries."

The Nobel Prize winner's controlled release of nuclear energy made atomic power a reality. He first suggested the possibility of an atomic bomb to the U. S. government in 1939. Three years later the atomic pile he built at the University of Chicago provided the key to the manufacture of the A-bomb.

Private burial services are to be held today in Oakwood Cemetery, Chicago.

MEMORIAL SERVICE

Fermi's associates will attend a memorial service Friday at the University of Chicago's Rockefeller Memorial Chapel. Fermi was professor of physics in the university's Institute for Nuclear Studies.

His death at his home near the university came as a shock to his physicist colleagues, although many of them knew he was suffering from cancer.

A spokesman said Fermi's experiments with nuclear energy did not contribute to the disease since his work did not subject him unduly to radioactive substances.

Fermi showed the first symptoms of illness in September after returning from a visit to Italy. He said he had difficulty swallowing. An exploratory operation disclosed cancer of the stomach which doctors called "too extensive for treatment."

The scientist was told late in October that he had cancer but not that he was dying.

SPECIAL AWARD

Just 12 days before his death the Atomic Energy Commission named him the winner of its first $25,000 special award for nuclear work.

Son of an Italian railroad official, Fermi was born in Rome Sept. 29, 1901. He studied at the universities of Pisa, Leyden and Göttingen and became professor of theoretical physics at the University of Rome in 1927. At Rome, he and fellow scientists succeeded in splitting the uranium atom and also learned that the speed of neutrons could be slowed and the amount of radioactivity they produced increased.

He was awarded the Nobel Prize in 1938 for his leadership in this work. He went to Sweden to receive it and was criticized in the Italian press for refusing to wear a uniform or give the Fascist salute at the ceremony.

COMES TO U. S.

Shortly afterward, Fermi took his wife Laura and two children to the United States, where they remained.

At Columbia University, he learned of German fission experiments and suggested that neutrons might be emitted during the process, a guess which suggested that such neutrons, bombarding other atoms at tremendous speed, might produce a chain reaction. It was then he took his theories to the Navy Department.

He directed activation of the first experimental atomic pile at the University of Chicago. His announcement, "The reaction is self-sustaining," ushered in the atomic age.

Wilson Predicts Defense Budget

NEW YORK (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson says he wants a budget for the military of "some thing like $5 billion dollars" in the fiscal year starting next July—a 5 billion dollar boost over this year's budget.

In an interview being published this week in Fortune magazine, the former General Motors head also says he lost more than a million dollars in selling his GM stock. He had to sell the stock to win Senate confirmation of his defense job in the spring of 1953.

Wilson said present military policy with the "increased budget" would "be just about right" to keep this country strong.

Red China Rejects US Note Asking Freedom For Fliers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Communist China's defiant refusal to free 13 Americans jailed as spies confronted the United States government today with the perplexing problem of how to make the Reds change their minds.

With the British serving as intermediaries, the Chinese Communists yesterday rejected an American note protesting the imprisonment of 11 captured airmen and 2 U. S. Army civilian employees on spy charges. The State Department called the charges "baseless."

But the British government, reporting the Chinese turned down the U. S. note as "unacceptable," said the Reds insisted the evidence against the 13 Americans was incontrovertible.

The British acted as go-betweens because the Chinese does not recognize the Red China regime and maintains no direct diplomatic contact with Peiping.

The U. S. government's next move remained an open question as state department officials reported "all appropriate measures are being considered."

Secretary of State Dulles was scheduled for a major foreign policy speech tonight in Chicago and it seemed likely he would touch on the potentially explosive Far Eastern situation. Dulles' speech (10:30 p.m. EST) was to be broadcast by Mutual and NBC radio and by NBC TV.

President Eisenhower may have marked out the bounds for American action in this case when he used the phrase "within peaceful means" last week in assuring the mother of one of the imprisoned airmen that the United States is doing everything possible to win their freedom.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader in the Senate, sounded a call Saturday for direct action against the Chinese Reds—a naval blockade. One of the possible countermeasures reported under study at the State Department was said to involve such a blockade, but diplomatic informants said they found little evidence of support for the idea.

U. S. POLICY

Ultimately, this country's policy in this situation probably will be determined by the President and the National Security Council.

Eisenhower, at Augusta, Ga., for the Thanksgiving holiday weekend, made no comment on Knowland's blockade suggestion. But there were indications the President might have something to say on the matter of the jailed Americans after he returns to Washington. He was due back here late today.

At the United Nations, the U. S. delegation stood by for instructions from Washington.

Some delegates said they looked for the issue of the 13 imprisoned Americans to come up this week during debate in the U. N. Political Committee on the Korean peace settlement deadlock.

Nehru Accuses Indian Reds

NEW DELHI (AP)—Prime minister Nehru, one of the chief exponents of peaceful coexistence with foreign communism, yesterday accused India's own Reds of stirring up violence and discontent.

Speaking at a mass meeting in the capital, Nehru warned that his government would act sternly against all who harm Indian unity by making trouble.

"The Indian Communists know they will become weak as India progresses," Nehru said. "Therefore they are interested in retarding India's pace of development by fishing for trouble, turmoil, discontent and disturbances."

He said the Communists at home look toward Russia and China, failing to see the progress "unparalleled in history" that India has made during her seven years of independence.

"It is foolish to imagine that progress can be made only through violent revolution and that destruction can follow only after destruction," he said.

Communist attempts to create disturbances in Hyderabad in 1948 and 1949 failed, Nehru said, and "now they seem to have shifted the emphasis to enter Parliament."

JETS

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—The first batch of American F86 Sabrejets for Nationalist China arrived on Formosa today, qualified sources reported. The shipment reportedly contained about a dozen planes.

transport plane downed over international waters, according to the U. S. position in the matter.

The Red Chinese claim the B29 was shot down "after intruding into China's territorial air space" in Manchuria and that the American civilians were caught dropping supplies to "American espionage agents in northeast China."

Meanwhile, American and Chinese Nationalist diplomats were reported to have reached substantial agreement on a new treaty—a pact under which the United States would guarantee to shield Formosa, the neighboring Pescadores and perhaps some coastal islands held by the forces of Chiang Kai-shek.

It was understood U. S. diplomats believe a formal pact of this sort would discourage Red attempts to conquer Chiang's Formosa stronghold.

Among other things, the new treaty would: (A) pledge both countries to use peaceful means in settlement of disputes and to refrain from use of force except in defense; (B) pledge the United States to regard an armed attack on the Formosa area as a threat to its own safety; (C) outline the area to be protected by the United States, including Formosa itself, the Pescadores and whatever other Nationalist-held territories are deemed by the United States to be essential to Formosa's defense; (D) provide for an indefinite period of effectiveness.
