

Postseason Veterans Get New Year's Day Bowl Bids

By JOHN CHANDLER
The Associated Press

Eight college football teams led by such postseason veterans as Southern California and Georgia Tech made up the cast today for the Rose, Sugar, Orange and Cotton bowls — the four major New Year's Day grid attractions.

Duke, champion of the Atlantic Coast Conference, rounded out the group when the league athletic directors chose it to play in Miami's Orange Bowl against Nebraska of the Big Seven. Duke ended its regular season with a 47-12 thumping of North Carolina.

ANNOUNCEMENT

One more bowl announcement is expected sometime later today when the Cotton Bowl section committee picks two teams to play in the Dec. 31 affair at Jacksonville, Fla.

This is the lineup for the Big Four on Jan. 1:

Rose Bowl, Pasadena, Calif. — Ohio State (9-0) vs. Southern California (8-3).

Sugar Bowl, New Orleans—Navy (7-2) vs. Mississippi (9-1).

Orange Bowl, Miami — Duke (7-2) vs. Nebraska (6-4).

Cotton Bowl, Dallas — Arkansas (8-2) vs. Georgia Tech (7-3).

The Sugar Bowl grabbed Navy and Mississippi late Saturday with minutes after the teams had scored victories in their season's final games. Navy accepted a bid to New Orleans after rocking Army 27-20 in the annual service clash before more than 100,000 spectators at Philadelphia.

INVITATION

Mississippi blanked arch rival Mississippi State 14-0 to capture the Southeastern Conference championship and earn an invitation to the Sugar Bowl.

Although the Cotton Bowl has had Arkansas, the Southwest Conference champs, for a week, the other half of the Dallas classic had to wait until Georgia Tech whipped Georgia 7-3. Arkansas wound up with a 19-0 win over Houston.

Southern California and Ohio State ended their conference schedule a week ago. But the Trojans lost 23-17 to Notre Dame Saturday. Nebraska, assured of the Orange Bowl for a week, wound up its season Friday night in Honolulu by beating Hawaii 50-0.

A scattering of games headed by the Notre Dame-Southern Methodist nationally televised game from Dallas wound up the regular season this Saturday.

Southern Methodist defeated Texas Christian Saturday 21-6. Oklahoma defeated Oklahoma A&M 21-0 to wind up its season with a 10-0 record.

THUMPED

Miami defeated Florida 14-0. Auburn shut out Alabama 28-0. Vanderbilt blanked Tennessee 26-0. Clemson thumped the Citadel 55-0. Louisiana State edged Tulane 14-13, and West Virginia defeated Virginia 14-10 in the main Southern title.

In the East Villanova won its first game of the season by clubbing Fordham 41-0, and Boston College whipped an old rival, Holy Cross, 31-13.

Rice defeated Baylor 20-14 and knocked the Bears out of a chance to tie Arkansas for the Southeastern Conference crown. Arizona defeated Wyoming 42-0. Texas Tech downed Hardin-Simmons 61-19, and San Jose State defeated New Mexico 26-14.

Mo Named To State Second '11'

PORTLAND (AP) — South Salem placed two men and Marshfield one man on the Oregonian's state high school all-star football team. The two schools are co-champions of the 1-A division.

The South Salem players are end Phil Burkland and halfback Neal Scheidel. Terry Salisbury of North Salem also made the first team.

The all-star team selected by the newspapers: ends, Burkland, South Salem, and Dick Woolstenhulme, North Bend; tackles, Arnold Siaven, Grants Pass, and Jack Stone, Gresham; guards, Lee Steiner, Lincoln of Portland, and Doug Minthorn, Pendleton; center, John Hinds, Dallas; backs, Salisbury of North Salem, Scheidel of South Salem, John Johnson of Marshfield, and Nub Bender of Roseburg.

The second team: ends, Greg Altemhofen, Beaverton, and Everett Kastner, Medford; tackles, Freeman Cross, Prineville, and Ralph Allen, Pendleton; guards, Larry Newsome, South Salem, and Modesto Jimenez, Klamath Falls; center, Mickey Gray, Roosevelt of Roseburg.

Rams, SF Waxed In Pro Tilts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Cleveland Browns and the Detroit Lions had the conference titles in the National Football League all but mathematically wrapped up today following a hectic Thanksgiving weekend that saw several of the contenders "gobbled up" in the shambles.

Herring miraculously in the form of sharp reversals of form. It appears that the Browns and Lions, titans of the pro game, will meet for the championship next month for the third straight time.

IDLE

While Cleveland moved closer to the clincher by handing its closest pursuers, the New York Giants, a 16-7 setback, the idle Lions saw the Los Angeles Rams and San Francisco 49ers drop out of contention, leaving only the Chicago Bears in the race.

The best the Bears can do is tie Detroit for the Western Conference lead. They can do that only if the Lions lose all of their three remaining games and the Bears win the pair they have left.

Cleveland can nail down its fifth Eastern Conference crown by winning two of three, no matter what the Giants and Philadelphia Eagles, in a second-place deadlock.

The Browns' important triumph over New York highlighted yesterday's action. In other games, the Bears downed Los Angeles 24-13, Baltimore dumped San Francisco 17-13, Philadelphia whipped Washington 41-33 and Pittsburgh nipped the Chicago Cardinals 20-17. Detroit, 28-24 victors over Green Bay Thanksgiving day, had the day off.

Cleveland's impregnable defense again played a vital role in its game with the Giants. So stalwart were the Browns' defenders that New York gained a net of only four yards rushing and their passes picked up only 64 more yards.

COMPLETED

The Giants defense did right well too, but it was unable to stop Otto Graham, who completed 18 aerials and bucked over for Cleveland's lone touchdown. Lou Groza, as usual, chipped in—this time with three field goals. Herb Johnson ran back a Browns punt 48 yards for the only New York TD during a pin-point passing also played a major part in the other tilts.

Zack Bratkowski, outstanding rookie from Georgia, heaved two touchdowns passes and completed 14 of 28, overall for the Bears. End Larry Brink also helped the Chicago cause by dashing 79 yards into the end zone after intercepting Norm Van Brocklin's pass in the first quarter. The powerful Rams were held without a score in the second half.

HISTORY

A Garry Kerkerian to Royce Womble pass, covering 78 yards, enabled Baltimore to defeat San Francisco for the first time in its gridiron history. San Francisco victories and one tie in the series. The victory was Baltimore's second of the season.

Adrian Burk threw five touchdown passes for Philadelphia after entering the game against Washington in the second quarter. Ruining the Redskins was nothing new for Burk, who last Oct. 15 baseball's greatest realignment of teams, other leagues held off their meetings until the picture cleared.

This much was known: The Yankees want to move their Kansas City AA franchise to Denver, currently in the Class A Western League. The Cardinals are ready to vacate Columbus and switch that AA franchise to Omaha, also in the Western. The Cardinals, incidentally, also own the Omaha franchise. The independent owned Denver club is operated by Bob Howsam.

REPORTEDLY

The Yankees reportedly have offered $50,000 for the Denver franchise. This has been refused. Western League directors have refused to set any price and have challenged the American Assn. to initiate draft for its territory procedures as permitted under the rules.

The Yankees prefer negotiation to draft for two reasons. First, they would like to settle the matter peacefully. Second, a draft victory would still leave them without a ball park, which they would be forced to either rent or purchase from Howsam. The Yankees don't want to buy the Denver park and Howsam doesn't want to lease it.

Minor League Meetings Underway

HOUSTON (AP)—The New York Yankees' efforts to place the Kansas City American League franchise in Denver and the St. Louis Cardinals' plan to shift their Columbus club to Omaha reached the "showdown" stage today as the minor leagues prepared to open their annual convention.

With the Dec. 1 deadline for any franchise shift, only 48 hours away, officials of the clubs and leagues involved were knee-deep in special sessions and private caucuses hoping to bring baseball's newest and biggest headache to some sort of solution.

SEPARATE

The American Assn. and the Western League scheduled separate meetings before tangle in a joint session later in the day.

In the meantime, officials of the Yankees, Cardinals, Denver and Omaha clubs were engaged in private conferences.

Realizing that the ultimate decision reached at these meetings and conferences could lead to baseball's greatest realignment of teams, other leagues held off their meetings until the picture cleared.

This much was known: The Yankees want to move their Kansas City AA franchise to Denver, currently in the Class A Western League. The Cardinals are ready to vacate Columbus and switch that AA franchise to Omaha, also in the Western. The Cardinals, incidentally, also own the Omaha franchise. The independent owned Denver club is operated by Bob Howsam.

REPORTEDLY

The Yankees reportedly have offered $50,000 for the Denver franchise. This has been refused. Western League directors have refused to set any price and have challenged the American Assn. to initiate draft for its territory procedures as permitted under the rules.

The Yankees prefer negotiation to draft for two reasons. First, they would like to settle the matter peacefully. Second, a draft victory would still leave them without a ball park, which they would be forced to either rent or purchase from Howsam. The Yankees don't want to buy the Denver park and Howsam doesn't want to lease it.

Minor League Meetings Underway

HOUSTON (AP)—The New York Yankees' efforts to place the Kansas City American League franchise in Denver and the St. Louis Cardinals' plan to shift their Columbus club to Omaha reached the "showdown" stage today as the minor leagues prepared to open their annual convention.

With the Dec. 1 deadline for any franchise shift, only 48 hours away, officials of the clubs and leagues involved were knee-deep in special sessions and private caucuses hoping to bring baseball's newest and biggest headache to some sort of solution.

SEPARATE

The American Assn. and the Western League scheduled separate meetings before tangle in a joint session later in the day.

In the meantime, officials of the Yankees, Cardinals, Denver and Omaha clubs were engaged in private conferences.

Realizing that the ultimate decision reached at these meetings and conferences could lead to baseball's greatest realignment of teams, other leagues held off their meetings until the picture cleared.

This much was known: The Yankees want to move their Kansas City AA franchise to Denver, currently in the Class A Western League. The Cardinals are ready to vacate Columbus and switch that AA franchise to Omaha, also in the Western. The Cardinals, incidentally, also own the Omaha franchise. The independent owned Denver club is operated by Bob Howsam.

REPORTEDLY

The Yankees reportedly have offered $50,000 for the Denver franchise. This has been refused. Western League directors have refused to set any price and have challenged the American Assn. to initiate draft for its territory procedures as permitted under the rules.

The Yankees prefer negotiation to draft for two reasons. First, they would like to settle the matter peacefully. Second, a draft victory would still leave them without a ball park, which they would be forced to either rent or purchase from Howsam. The Yankees don't want to buy the Denver park and Howsam doesn't want to lease it.

Minor League Meetings Underway

HOUSTON (AP)—The New York Yankees' efforts to place the Kansas City American League franchise in Denver and the St. Louis Cardinals' plan to shift their Columbus club to Omaha reached the "showdown" stage today as the minor leagues prepared to open their annual convention.

With the Dec. 1 deadline for any franchise shift, only 48 hours away, officials of the clubs and leagues involved were knee-deep in special sessions and private caucuses hoping to bring baseball's newest and biggest headache to some sort of solution.

SEPARATE

The American Assn. and the Western League scheduled separate meetings before tangle in a joint session later in the day.

In the meantime, officials of the Yankees, Cardinals, Denver and Omaha clubs were engaged in private conferences.

Realizing that the ultimate decision reached at these meetings and conferences could lead to baseball's greatest realignment of teams, other leagues held off their meetings until the picture cleared.

This much was known: The Yankees want to move their Kansas City AA franchise to Denver, currently in the Class A Western League. The Cardinals are ready to vacate Columbus and switch that AA franchise to Omaha, also in the Western. The Cardinals, incidentally, also own the Omaha franchise. The independent owned Denver club is operated by Bob Howsam.

REPORTEDLY

The Yankees reportedly have offered $50,000 for the Denver franchise. This has been refused. Western League directors have refused to set any price and have challenged the American Assn. to initiate draft for its territory procedures as permitted under the rules.

The Yankees prefer negotiation to draft for two reasons. First, they would like to settle the matter peacefully. Second, a draft victory would still leave them without a ball park, which they would be forced to either rent or purchase from Howsam. The Yankees don't want to buy the Denver park and Howsam doesn't want to lease it.

Minor League Meetings Underway

HOUSTON (AP)—The New York Yankees' efforts to place the Kansas City American League franchise in Denver and the St. Louis Cardinals' plan to shift their Columbus club to Omaha reached the "showdown" stage today as the minor leagues prepared to open their annual convention.

With the Dec. 1 deadline for any franchise shift, only 48 hours away, officials of the clubs and leagues involved were knee-deep in special sessions and private caucuses hoping to bring baseball's newest and biggest headache to some sort of solution.

SEPARATE

The American Assn. and the Western League scheduled separate meetings before tangle in a joint session later in the day.

In the meantime, officials of the Yankees, Cardinals, Denver and Omaha clubs were engaged in private conferences.

Realizing that the ultimate decision reached at these meetings and conferences could lead to baseball's greatest realignment of teams, other leagues held off their meetings until the picture cleared.

This much was known: The Yankees want to move their Kansas City AA franchise to Denver, currently in the Class A Western League. The Cardinals are ready to vacate Columbus and switch that AA franchise to Omaha, also in the Western. The Cardinals, incidentally, also own the Omaha franchise. The independent owned Denver club is operated by Bob Howsam.

REPORTEDLY

The Yankees reportedly have offered $50,000 for the Denver franchise. This has been refused. Western League directors have refused to set any price and have challenged the American Assn. to initiate draft for its territory procedures as permitted under the rules.

The Yankees prefer negotiation to draft for two reasons. First, they would like to settle the matter peacefully. Second, a draft victory would still leave them without a ball park, which they would be forced to either rent or purchase from Howsam. The Yankees don't want to buy the Denver park and Howsam doesn't want to lease it.

TIME OUT

Haven't you a pair that's built up a little higher, with more room across the ball of my foot and narrow in the heel... and I'd like them in royal blue!

Rams, SF Waxed In Pro Tilts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Cleveland Browns and the Detroit Lions had the conference titles in the National Football League all but mathematically wrapped up today following a hectic Thanksgiving weekend that saw several of the contenders "gobbled up" in the shambles.

Herring miraculously in the form of sharp reversals of form. It appears that the Browns and Lions, titans of the pro game, will meet for the championship next month for the third straight time.

IDLE

While Cleveland moved closer to the clincher by handing its closest pursuers, the New York Giants, a 16-7 setback, the idle Lions saw the Los Angeles Rams and San Francisco 49ers drop out of contention, leaving only the Chicago Bears in the race.

The best the Bears can do is tie Detroit for the Western Conference lead. They can do that only if the Lions lose all of their three remaining games and the Bears win the pair they have left.

Cleveland can nail down its fifth Eastern Conference crown by winning two of three, no matter what the Giants and Philadelphia Eagles, in a second-place deadlock.

The Browns' important triumph over New York highlighted yesterday's action. In other games, the Bears downed Los Angeles 24-13, Baltimore dumped San Francisco 17-13, Philadelphia whipped Washington 41-33 and Pittsburgh nipped the Chicago Cardinals 20-17. Detroit, 28-24 victors over Green Bay Thanksgiving day, had the day off.

Cleveland's impregnable defense again played a vital role in its game with the Giants. So stalwart were the Browns' defenders that New York gained a net of only four yards rushing and their passes picked up only 64 more yards.

COMPLETED

The Giants defense did right well too, but it was unable to stop Otto Graham, who completed 18 aerials and bucked over for Cleveland's lone touchdown. Lou Groza, as usual, chipped in—this time with three field goals. Herb Johnson ran back a Browns punt 48 yards for the only New York TD during a pin-point passing also played a major part in the other tilts.

Zack Bratkowski, outstanding rookie from Georgia, heaved two touchdowns passes and completed 14 of 28, overall for the Bears. End Larry Brink also helped the Chicago cause by dashing 79 yards into the end zone after intercepting Norm Van Brocklin's pass in the first quarter. The powerful Rams were held without a score in the second half.

HISTORY

A Garry Kerkerian to Royce Womble pass, covering 78 yards, enabled Baltimore to defeat San Francisco for the first time in its gridiron history. San Francisco victories and one tie in the series. The victory was Baltimore's second of the season.

Adrian Burk threw five touchdown passes for Philadelphia after entering the game against Washington in the second quarter. Ruining the Redskins was nothing new for Burk, who last Oct. 15 baseball's greatest realignment of teams, other leagues held off their meetings until the picture cleared.

This much was known: The Yankees want to move their Kansas City AA franchise to Denver, currently in the Class A Western League. The Cardinals are ready to vacate Columbus and switch that AA franchise to Omaha, also in the Western. The Cardinals, incidentally, also own the Omaha franchise. The independent owned Denver club is operated by Bob Howsam.

REPORTEDLY

The Yankees reportedly have offered $50,000 for the Denver franchise. This has been refused. Western League directors have refused to set any price and have challenged the American Assn. to initiate draft for its territory procedures as permitted under the rules.

The Yankees prefer negotiation to draft for two reasons. First, they would like to settle the matter peacefully. Second, a draft victory would still leave them without a ball park, which they would be forced to either rent or purchase from Howsam. The Yankees don't want to buy the Denver park and Howsam doesn't want to lease it.

Minor League Meetings Underway

HOUSTON (AP)—The New York Yankees' efforts to place the Kansas City American League franchise in Denver and the St. Louis Cardinals' plan to shift their Columbus club to Omaha reached the "showdown" stage today as the minor leagues prepared to open their annual convention.

With the Dec. 1 deadline for any franchise shift, only 48 hours away, officials of the clubs and leagues involved were knee-deep in special sessions and private caucuses hoping to bring baseball's newest and biggest headache to some sort of solution.

SEPARATE

The American Assn. and the Western League scheduled separate meetings before tangle in a joint session later in the day.

In the meantime, officials of the Yankees, Cardinals, Denver and Omaha clubs were engaged in private conferences.

Realizing that the ultimate decision reached at these meetings and conferences could lead to baseball's greatest realignment of teams, other leagues held off their meetings until the picture cleared.

This much was known: The Yankees want to move their Kansas City AA franchise to Denver, currently in the Class A Western League. The Cardinals are ready to vacate Columbus and switch that AA franchise to Omaha, also in the Western. The Cardinals, incidentally, also own the Omaha franchise. The independent owned Denver club is operated by Bob Howsam.

REPORTEDLY

The Yankees reportedly have offered $50,000 for the Denver franchise. This has been refused. Western League directors have refused to set any price and have challenged the American Assn. to initiate draft for its territory procedures as permitted under the rules.

The Yankees prefer negotiation to draft for two reasons. First, they would like to settle the matter peacefully. Second, a draft victory would still leave them without a ball park, which they would be forced to either rent or purchase from Howsam. The Yankees don't want to buy the Denver park and Howsam doesn't want to lease it.

Minor League Meetings Underway

HOUSTON (AP)—The New York Yankees' efforts to place the Kansas City American League franchise in Denver and the St. Louis Cardinals' plan to shift their Columbus club to Omaha reached the "showdown" stage today as the minor leagues prepared to open their annual convention.

With the Dec. 1 deadline for any franchise shift, only 48 hours away, officials of the clubs and leagues involved were knee-deep in special sessions and private caucuses hoping to bring baseball's newest and biggest headache to some sort of solution.

SEPARATE

The American Assn. and the Western League scheduled separate meetings before tangle in a joint session later in the day.

In the meantime, officials of the Yankees, Cardinals, Denver and Omaha clubs were engaged in private conferences.

Realizing that the ultimate decision reached at these meetings and conferences could lead to baseball's greatest realignment of teams, other leagues held off their meetings until the picture cleared.

This much was known: The Yankees want to move their Kansas City AA franchise to Denver, currently in the Class A Western League. The Cardinals are ready to vacate Columbus and switch that AA franchise to Omaha, also in the Western. The Cardinals, incidentally, also own the Omaha franchise. The independent owned Denver club is operated by Bob Howsam.

REPORTEDLY

The Yankees reportedly have offered $50,000 for the Denver franchise. This has been refused. Western League directors have refused to set any price and have challenged the American Assn. to initiate draft for its territory procedures as permitted under the rules.

The Yankees prefer negotiation to draft for two reasons. First, they would like to settle the matter peacefully. Second, a draft victory would still leave them without a ball park, which they would be forced to either rent or purchase from Howsam. The Yankees don't want to buy the Denver park and Howsam doesn't want to lease it.

Minor League Meetings Underway

HOUSTON (AP)—The New York Yankees' efforts to place the Kansas City American League franchise in Denver and the St. Louis Cardinals' plan to shift their Columbus club to Omaha reached the "showdown" stage today as the minor leagues prepared to open their annual convention.

With the Dec. 1 deadline for any franchise shift, only 48 hours away, officials of the clubs and leagues involved were knee-deep in special sessions and private caucuses hoping to bring baseball's newest and biggest headache to some sort of solution.

SEPARATE

The American Assn. and the Western League scheduled separate meetings before tangle in a joint session later in the day.

In the meantime, officials of the Yankees, Cardinals, Denver and Omaha clubs were engaged in private conferences.

Realizing that the ultimate decision reached at these meetings and conferences could lead to baseball's greatest realignment of teams, other leagues held off their meetings until the picture cleared.

This much was known: The Yankees want to move their Kansas City AA franchise to Denver, currently in the Class A Western League. The Cardinals are ready to vacate Columbus and switch that AA franchise to Omaha, also in the Western. The Cardinals, incidentally, also own the Omaha franchise. The independent owned Denver club is operated by Bob Howsam.

REPORTEDLY

The Yankees reportedly have offered $50,000 for the Denver franchise. This has been refused. Western League directors have refused to set any price and have challenged the American Assn. to initiate draft for its territory procedures as permitted under the rules.

The Yankees prefer negotiation to draft for two reasons. First, they would like to settle the matter peacefully. Second, a draft victory would still leave them without a ball park, which they would be forced to either rent or purchase from Howsam. The Yankees don't want to buy the Denver park and Howsam doesn't want to lease it.

Minor League Meetings Underway

HOUSTON (AP)—The New York Yankees' efforts to place the Kansas City American League franchise in Denver and the St. Louis Cardinals' plan to shift their Columbus club to Omaha reached the "showdown" stage today as the minor leagues prepared to open their annual convention.

With the Dec. 1 deadline for any franchise shift, only 48 hours away, officials of the clubs and leagues involved were knee-deep in special sessions and private caucuses hoping to bring baseball's newest and biggest headache to some sort of solution.

SEPARATE

The American Assn. and the Western League scheduled separate meetings before tangle in a joint session later in the day.

In the meantime, officials of the Yankees, Cardinals, Denver and Omaha clubs were engaged in private conferences.

Realizing that the ultimate decision reached at these meetings and conferences could lead to baseball's greatest realignment of teams, other leagues held off their meetings until the picture cleared.

This much was known: The Yankees want to move their Kansas City AA franchise to Denver, currently in the Class A Western League. The Cardinals are ready to vacate Columbus and switch that AA franchise to Omaha, also in the Western. The Cardinals, incidentally, also own the Omaha franchise. The independent owned Denver club is operated by Bob Howsam.

REPORTEDLY

The Yankees reportedly have offered $50,000 for the Denver franchise. This has been refused. Western League directors have refused to set any price and have challenged the American Assn. to initiate draft for its territory procedures as permitted under the rules.

The Yankees prefer negotiation to draft for two reasons. First, they would like to settle the matter peacefully. Second, a draft victory would still leave them without a ball park, which they would be forced to either rent or purchase from Howsam. The Yankees don't want to buy the Denver park and Howsam doesn't want to lease it.

Mo Named To State Second '11'

PORTLAND (AP) — South Salem placed two men and Marshfield one man on the Oregonian's state high school all-star football team. The two schools are co-champions of the 1-A division.

The South Salem players are end Phil Burkland and halfback Neal Scheidel. Terry Salisbury of North Salem also made the first team.

The all-star team selected by the newspapers: ends, Burkland, South Salem, and Dick Woolstenhulme, North Bend; tackles, Arnold Siaven, Grants Pass, and Jack Stone, Gresham; guards, Lee Steiner, Lincoln of Portland, and Doug Minthorn, Pendleton; center, John Hinds, Dallas; backs, Salisbury of North Salem, Scheidel of South Salem, John Johnson of Marshfield, and Nub Bender of Roseburg.

The second team: ends, Greg Altemhofen, Beaverton, and Everett Kastner, Medford; tackles, Freeman Cross, Prineville, and Ralph Allen, Pendleton; guards, Larry Newsome, South Salem, and Modesto Jimenez, Klamath Falls; center, Mickey Gray, Roosevelt of Roseburg.

Rams, SF Waxed In Pro Tilts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Cleveland Browns and the Detroit Lions had the conference titles in the National Football League all but mathematically wrapped up today following a hectic Thanksgiving weekend that saw several of the contenders "gobbled up" in the shambles.

Herring miraculously in the form of sharp reversals of form. It appears that the Browns and Lions, titans of the pro game, will meet for the championship next month for the third straight time.

IDLE

While Cleveland moved closer to the clincher by handing its closest pursuers, the New York Giants, a 16-7 setback, the idle Lions saw the Los Angeles Rams and San Francisco 49ers drop out of contention, leaving only the Chicago Bears in the race.

The best the Bears can do is tie Detroit for the Western Conference lead. They can do that only if the Lions lose all of their three remaining games and the Bears win the pair they have left.

Cleveland can nail down its fifth Eastern Conference crown by winning two of three, no matter what the Giants and Philadelphia Eagles, in a second-place deadlock.

The Browns' important triumph over New York highlighted yesterday's action. In other games, the Bears downed Los Angeles 24-13, Baltimore dumped San Francisco 17-13, Philadelphia whipped Washington 41-33 and Pittsburgh nipped the Chicago Cardinals 20-17. Detroit, 28-24 victors over Green Bay Thanksgiving day, had the day off.

Cleveland's impregnable defense again played a vital role in its game with the Giants. So stalwart were the Browns' defenders that New York gained a net of only four yards rushing and their passes picked up only 64 more yards.

COMPLETED

The Giants defense did right well too, but it was unable to stop Otto Graham, who completed 18 aerials and bucked over for Cleveland's lone touchdown. Lou Groza, as usual, chipped in—this time with three field goals. Herb Johnson ran back a Browns punt 48 yards for the only New York TD during a pin-point passing also played a major part in the other tilts.

Zack Bratkowski, outstanding rookie from Georgia, heaved two touchdowns passes and completed 14 of 28, overall for the Bears. End Larry Brink also helped the Chicago cause by dashing 79 yards into the end zone after intercepting Norm Van Brocklin's pass in the first quarter. The powerful Rams were held without a score in the second half.

HISTORY

A Garry Kerkerian to Royce Womble pass, covering 78 yards, enabled Baltimore to defeat San Francisco for the first time in its gridiron history. San Francisco victories and one tie in the series. The victory was Baltimore's second of the season.

Adrian Burk threw five touchdown passes for Philadelphia after entering the game against Washington in the second quarter. Ruining the Redskins was nothing new for Burk, who last Oct. 15 baseball's greatest realignment of teams, other leagues held off their meetings until the picture cleared.

This much was known: The Yankees want to move their Kansas City AA franchise to Denver, currently in the Class A Western League. The Cardinals are ready to vacate Columbus and switch that AA franchise to Omaha, also in the Western. The Cardinals, incidentally, also own the Omaha franchise. The independent owned Denver club is operated by Bob Howsam.

REPORTEDLY

The Yankees reportedly have offered $50,000 for the Denver franchise. This has been refused. Western League directors have refused to set any price and have challenged the American Assn. to initiate draft for its territory procedures as permitted under the rules.

The Yankees prefer negotiation to draft for two reasons. First, they would like to settle the matter peacefully. Second, a draft victory would still leave them without a ball park, which they would be forced to either rent or purchase from Howsam. The Yankees don't want to buy the Denver park and Howsam doesn't want to lease it.

Minor League Meetings Underway

HOUSTON (AP)—The New York Yankees' efforts to place the Kansas City American League franchise in Denver and the St. Louis Cardinals' plan to shift their Columbus club to Omaha reached the "showdown" stage today as the minor leagues prepared to open their annual convention.

With the Dec. 1 deadline for any franchise shift, only 48 hours away, officials of the clubs and leagues involved were knee-deep in special sessions and private caucuses hoping to bring baseball's newest and biggest headache to some sort of solution.

SEPARATE

The American Assn. and the Western League scheduled separate meetings before tangle in a joint session later in the day.

In the meantime, officials of the Yankees, Cardinals, Denver and Omaha clubs were engaged in private conferences.

Realizing that the ultimate decision reached at these meetings and conferences could lead to baseball's greatest realignment of teams, other leagues held off their meetings until the picture cleared.

This much was known: The Yankees want to move their Kansas City AA franchise to Denver, currently in the Class A Western League. The Cardinals are ready to vacate Columbus and switch that AA franchise to Omaha, also in the Western. The Cardinals, incidentally, also own the Omaha franchise. The independent owned Denver club is operated by Bob Howsam.

REPORTEDLY

The Yankees reportedly have offered $50,000 for the Denver franchise. This has been refused. Western League directors have refused to set any price and have challenged the American Assn. to initiate draft for its territory procedures as permitted under the rules.

The Yankees prefer negotiation to draft for two reasons. First, they would like to settle the matter peacefully. Second, a draft victory would still leave them without a ball park, which they would be forced to either rent or purchase from Howsam. The Yankees don't want to buy the Denver park and Howsam doesn't want to lease it.

Minor League Meetings Underway

HOUSTON (AP)—The New York Yankees' efforts to place the Kansas City American League franchise in Denver and the St. Louis Cardinals' plan to shift their Columbus club to Omaha reached the "showdown" stage today as the minor leagues prepared to open their annual convention.

With the Dec. 1 deadline for any franchise shift, only 48 hours away, officials of the clubs and leagues involved were knee-deep in special sessions and private caucuses hoping to bring baseball's newest and biggest headache to some sort of solution.

SEPARATE

The American Assn. and the Western League scheduled separate meetings before tangle in a joint session later in the day.

In the meantime, officials of the Yankees, Cardinals, Denver and Omaha clubs were engaged in private conferences.

Realizing that the ultimate decision reached at these meetings and conferences could lead to baseball's greatest realignment of teams, other leagues held off their meetings until the picture cleared.

This much was known: The Yankees want to move their Kansas City AA franchise to Denver, currently in the Class A Western League. The Cardinals are ready to vacate Columbus and switch that AA franchise to Omaha, also in the Western. The Cardinals, incidentally, also own the Omaha franchise. The independent owned Denver club is operated by Bob Howsam.

REPORTEDLY

The Yankees reportedly have offered $50,000 for the Denver franchise. This has been refused. Western League directors have refused to set any price and have challenged the American Assn. to initiate draft for its territory procedures as permitted under the rules.

The Yankees prefer negotiation to draft for two reasons. First, they would like to settle the matter peacefully. Second, a draft victory would still leave them without a ball park, which they would be forced to either rent or purchase from Howsam. The Yankees don't want to buy the Denver park and Howsam doesn't want to lease it.

Minor League Meetings Underway

HOUSTON (AP)—The New York Yankees' efforts to place the Kansas City American League franchise in Denver and the St. Louis Cardinals' plan to shift their Columbus club to Omaha reached the "showdown" stage today as the minor leagues prepared to open their annual convention.

With the Dec. 1 deadline for any franchise shift, only 48 hours away, officials of the clubs and leagues involved were knee-deep in special sessions and private caucuses hoping to bring baseball's newest and biggest headache to some sort of solution.

SEPARATE

The American Assn. and the Western League scheduled separate meetings before tangle in a joint session later in the day.

In the meantime, officials of the Yankees, Cardinals, Denver and Omaha clubs were engaged in private conferences.

Realizing that the ultimate decision reached at these meetings and conferences could lead to baseball's greatest realignment of teams, other leagues held off their meetings until the picture cleared.

This much was known: The Yankees want to move their Kansas City AA franchise to Denver, currently in the Class A Western League. The Cardinals are ready to vacate Columbus and switch that AA franchise to Omaha, also in the Western. The Cardinals, incidentally, also own the Omaha franchise. The independent owned Denver club is operated by Bob Howsam.

REPORTEDLY

The Yankees reportedly have offered $50,000 for the Denver franchise. This has been refused. Western League directors have refused to set any price and have challenged the American Assn. to initiate draft for its territory procedures as permitted under the rules.

The Yankees prefer negotiation to draft for two reasons. First, they would like to settle the matter peacefully. Second, a draft victory would still leave them without a ball park, which they would be forced to either rent or purchase from Howsam. The Yankees don't want to buy the Denver park and Howsam doesn't want to lease it.

Minor League Meetings Underway

HOUSTON (AP)—The New York Yankees' efforts to place the Kansas City American League franchise in Denver and the St. Louis Cardinals' plan to shift their Columbus club to Omaha reached the "showdown" stage today as the minor leagues prepared to open their annual convention.

With the Dec. 1 deadline for any franchise shift, only 48 hours away, officials of the clubs and leagues involved were knee-deep in special sessions and private caucuses hoping to bring baseball's newest and biggest headache to some sort of solution.

SEPARATE

The American Assn. and the Western League scheduled separate meetings before tangle in a joint session later in the day.

In the meantime, officials of the Yankees, Cardinals, Denver and Omaha clubs were engaged in private conferences.

Realizing that the ultimate decision reached at these meetings and conferences could lead to baseball's greatest realignment of teams, other leagues held off their meetings until the picture cleared.

This much was known: The Yankees want to move their Kansas City AA franchise to Denver, currently in the Class A Western League. The Cardinals are ready to vacate Columbus and switch that AA franchise to Omaha, also in the Western. The Cardinals, incidentally, also own the Omaha franchise. The independent owned Denver club is operated by Bob Howsam.

REPORTEDLY

The Yankees reportedly have offered $50,000 for the Denver franchise. This has been refused. Western League directors have refused to set any price and have challenged the American Assn. to initiate draft for its territory procedures as permitted under the rules.

The Yankees prefer negotiation to draft for two reasons. First, they would like to settle the matter peacefully. Second, a draft victory would still leave them without a ball park, which they would be forced to either rent or purchase from Howsam. The Yankees don't want to buy the Denver park and Howsam doesn't want to lease it.

BOWLING SCORES

ALLEY	KATZ	W	L
Troy V. Cook	42	6	0
Poteet's Market	38	10	0
Swan Lake Bowling	35	13	0
Louise Foods	27	21	0
Medo Lane	24	24	0
J. W. Kerns	24	24	0
Balalger Oil	17	21	0
Source Service	14	24	0
Crater Lake Creamery	14	24	0
Perkins News	3	45	0

Troy V. Cook captured the high team and series honors in last night's Alley Kats League at Lucky Lane. Cook rolled the highest high for the season in both events, by rolling a 559 game and a 2743 pin series.

Runnerup game went to Poteet's with a 847, while their series of 2415 was good enough for the runnerup spot behind the last moving Troy V. Cook five.

Individual series action was topped by Vivian Wise with her 512 and Pauline Keffer with her 207 and Wise had the second high line score of 157 pins.

Three splits were picked up in last night's action. Evelyn Blich of the 5-9's, Geneva Brady the 2-7-10 and Betty Johnson with the 2-4-7-10 combination.

Entering his third season at Sacred Heart Academy, Jim Souza has six returning lettermen to enter the coming County League basketball season, and four others who have seen court action before, making it 10 experienced hoopsters for the Trojans.

Sacred Heart, which has always been a threat to county league laurels in the past will be making a strong bid to capture the league's title, something that they have failed to do after the 1950-51 season, but since that time they have been in the middle of the scrap all the way.

Last season, the Trojans finished in a three place tie with Bly, and battled their way to the consolation finals of the post-season tournament, after taking a 45-41 overtime beating from Paisley in the first round. They topped Gilchrist and Bonanza to garner the fifth place honors of the tourney.

In 1952-53, Sacred Heart finished a strong second place behind the undefeated Chiloquin Panthers with a record of six wins and one loss for league play, and in the tournament.

Holland, Reginato, Selbert and Thill are all seniors and are playing their final year of high school basketball, while John Dupuy and Wickline, a three year monogram winner, will be the big man of the Trojan offense as he is six-foot four-inches tall, while Reed, Wickline and Durrell all stretch just over the six-foot mark, giving Sacred Heart some height to work the backboards this coming season.

Wickline, a three year monogram winner, will be the big man of the Trojan offense as he is six-foot four-inches tall, while Reed, Wickline and Durrell all stretch just over the six-foot mark, giving Sacred Heart some height to work the backboards this coming season.

Holland, Reginato, Selbert and Thill are all seniors and are playing their final year of high school basketball, while John Dupuy and Wickline, a three year monogram winner, will be the big man of the Trojan offense as he is six-foot four