

County League Basketball Action Opens This Evening

A four team jamboree tonight and Saturday night at Henley High is the highlight of the opening of the 1954-55 County League basketball season this weekend, as all of the league court teams swing into action.

Henley, the county's A-2 delegate in the state athletic ranks, hosts three top teams in the county as Merrill, Bonanza and Malin all take part in the two-night stand in the Hornets' spacious and dazzling gymnasium.

In the first game, Bonanza meets Malin with the game slated to get underway at 7:30 for the first half, while Henley and Merrill meet in the second half of the program with game time set for 8:30.

LETTERMAN
Leading the Malin attack against the Antlers will be Layton Travis and Glen Steyskal both two-year lettermen from Jim Conroy's ball club, while four other monogram winners are on hand for added help. For the Antlers and Bob Johnson, Cornelius Janssen and Don Tuning along with six lettermen seem to hold the stakes of any chance to upset the favored Malin quintet. Janssen is a three-year letterman and Tuning a transfer.

For Henley, Gary Cunningham, a transfer, along with lettermen Lou Zarosinski, Tom Wright and Dale Seay could spell the difference for the Hornets in their battle with Merrill. Coach Ray Bader of Merrill will have six lettermen to pick his starting lineup including two year winner Leroy Johnson, and five other single time letter winners.

In other County League action, the strong Bly Bobcats, tabbed by many as a surprise team this year meets Paisley on the Bly High School basketball floor. Coach Bernard Smirch will have all five of last year's starters to choose from when it comes time to select a starting lineup for the Paisley scrap and several of last year's top reserves.

Chiloquin favored along with Malin to rank high in league standings when the season draws to a close, travels north to meet Gilchrist in a non-league battle on the Grizzlies home floor.

WALLOPED
This is the first game for the Panthers, while Gilchrist walloped La Pine in a Wednesday night game. Frank Diullo of Chiloquin will have returning lettermen Dick Siemens, Vernon Joe and Jojo George to lead the way along with four other monogram winners from last year's team. Gilchrist and their coach Bob Wilson will have to rely upon the playing of letterman Tom Larson and Charles Roland and a reserve for the Grizzlies last season.

Jim Souza's Sacred Heart Trojans travel to Tulelake in a battle against the Honkers as Roger Seibert, a two-year letterman leads the Trojans onslaught of six lettermen and 10 hoopsters who have court experience.

In tomorrow night's games, the same four teams meet in the second night of the Henley jamboree, while Bly travels to Lakeview. All the other teams are idle.

Northwest Footballers Given Honor
NEW YORK (AP)—Larry Paradis of Whitworth and J. C. Owens, College of Idaho's great passing end, landed berths on The Associated Press 1954 Little All America football team.

Paradis, of Seattle, a sparkplug for the Pirates as they rolled to the Evergreen Conference championship and an undefeated season was tagged as a tackle on the AP first team.

Owens, the only junior on the squad, also made the first team opposite William McKenna of Brandeis.

Whitworth's Bill Vanderstoep was named third team center and Andrew George of Willamette third team guard. Eight other Pacific Northwest small college stars got honorable mention.

Others on the first team are Joe Veto, Juniata, tackle; Robert Patterson, Memphis State, and Gene Mel, Gustavus Adolphus, guards; Stokeley Fulton, Hampden-Sydney, center, and Alvin Beal, Texas Trinity; Richard Young, Chattanooga; Leo Lewis, Lincoln of Missouri; and Don Miller, Delaware, backs.

The honorable mention list included Wayne Buchert, Whitworth; Clayton Evans, Central Washington; Gene Eitzen, Lewis & Clark; Frank Lancaster, Pacific Lutheran; Dale Meshke, College of Puget Sound; Darrell Everett, Lewis & Clark; Joe Hahawai, College of Idaho; and Don Radner, Whitworth.

BY JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK (AP)—Texas Christian University looks like a cinch to capture the Southwest Conference championship and Southern California should win the Pacific Coast title after a three-way struggle with UCLA and Stanford.

Utah figures to finish on top of the Skyline eight after a stiff fight with Wyoming. Idaho State should win the Rocky Mountain Conference crown for the third straight year.

Texas Tech is the team to beat in the Border Conference and Santa Clara and San Francisco probably will battle it out for the California Basketball Assn. championship.

Even of USC's top 12 men who won the PCC are back and they again will be led by 6-5 1/2 Roy Irvin, a reliable workhorse at center. The lad to watch, however, is sophomore Jim Kaufman who is being called the best player ever developed at Los Angeles High.

UCLA has Don Bragg and Don Moore, a veteran duo who head one of the strongest Bruins teams in years. Stanford has a pair of great scorers in Russ Lawler and George Selleck.

Pete Newell, new coach at California, inherits an excellent big man in Bob McKeen and little else. In the Northern Division, any choice is tempered by the Swede Halbrook's eligibility status. The 7-3 Oregon State center will miss the early non-conference games and could get back in good scholastic graces to start the regular season. If he does, Oregon State will win the Northern title with ease. If not, it will get a tough battle from Washington with 6-7 Dean Parsons, and a strong Idaho club.

Santa Clara's main competition for the California Basketball Assn. title will come from San Francisco, Seattle, as a major independent, should continue to enjoy

Out Of Doors With The Sportsman

By CLAYTON HANNON
KLAMATH BASIN duck and goose hunters will have to wait a short while longer if they are seeking a blustering snow storm to bring the ducks and geese in range of the scatterguns, because the little storm that surrounded the Basin in past few days didn't seem to make too much difference.

Should the storm fail to materialize, for those who think that the stormy weather is absolutely necessary for a good kill, there is one last resort coming our way next week.

The California season reopens on Monday, December 6, and from all signs gathered to this point, there are quite a few birds, both ducks and geese resting on the other side of the state line without being disturbed by hunters, and should the California gunners really open up with a big barrage this Monday, hunting could very well improve come Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday.

For how long, nobody knows. In the Tulelake areas and around Dorris near the reserves, a growing number of specs, honkers and mallards, along with some pintails have been seen by wishtful Oregon hunters, and with opening of the California season, a few of them might get their directions crossed temporarily and fly towards the line, where Oregon hunters will probably be waiting.
