Elks Memorial Service Held

The impressive memorial service of the Elks Lodge, offered each year in early December in memory of members who have died in the previous 12 months, was given Sunday afternoon, December 5 in the Temple.

Candlelighters for the ceremony at the altar were Jacqueline Murphy and Florence Wamstad.

A male quartet from Klamath Union High School, including Bob Clark, Larry Phair, Garry Phair and Bob Ziegler, sang under the direction of Andrew Loney Jr., director music education in Klamath Falls schools. Accompanist was Roy Behnke.

Officers officiating were Lou Drager, exalted ruler; Ed Hickman, leading knight, chairman of the service; Harry Leonard, loyal knight; George Filcraft, lecturing knight; G. W. Houston, secretary; Homer Ellis, exquire and John Heilbroner, chaplain.

FOR THE MAN WHO USES A FINE CAMERA

THE Sixti. EXPOSURE METER

The Gossen SIXTI is the perfect mate for the fine camera. It attaches to the accessory clip and becomes part of the camera... for built-in light meter convenience... or it can be used hand-held.

Super-sensitive and fully automatic, the Sixti is two meters in one. It measures incident as well as Reflected Light, from dimmest interiors to brightest sunshine... and it gives direct readings with no dials to compute.

The Sixti is the perfect meter for color. It is precision built for absolute accuracy, and a lifetime of reliable service.

With Leather Case. $24.95

KID Offices To Be Moved

Klamath Irrigation District headquarters are being moved this week to the airport, according to E. M. Hammond, president of the KID board of directors.

The district headquarters will occupy part of the quarters formerly used by the Bureau of Reclamation. The plan is to use this space until new offices can be built for KID headquarters next year, Hammond said.

The district headquarters have been at the courthouse for some 20 years. Klamath Irrigation District was established in 1917 and, until the recent voting of district water users, the project was under government management. Through the new agreement, engineering, operation and management responsibilities have been assumed by the district.
