

AAA Withdraws Sanction Of Auto Racing In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two auto racing tragedies this year were given as factors in the decision of the American Automobile Assn. to withdraw its sanction of auto racing in the United States after this year.

Indications came that the National Assn. of Stock Car Auto Racing (NASCAR) may try to take the role AAA is leaving. At Daytona Beach, Fla., Bill France, NASCAR president, said all AAA drivers and car owners are welcome to compete in NASCAR-sanctioned events if they meet qualifications.

The Sports Car Club of America was mentioned as a possibility of taking over sponsorship of the annual Memorial Day race at Indianapolis.

The death of Bill Vukovich, popular racing figure, at the 500-mile Indianapolis race this year was one of the tragedies mentioned in the AAA decision yesterday. The other was that at LeMans, France, where 79 persons were killed and 91 injured in a racing accident that spilled into spectators.

The AAA has nothing against automobile racing itself, AAA president Andrew J. Gordon, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., said in announcing the decision.

He added that the AAA felt that racing, with emphasis on speed, contributed little to one of its main objectives of the AAA: promotion of street and highway safety.

The AAA has given its sanction to only about 10 per cent of the auto races in this country, officials said, but these were the major ones, including the Indianapolis classic.

Anton Hulman Jr., owner of the Indianapolis Speedway, said the 40th annual 500-mile race will go on as scheduled next May 30.

Tacoma Pro Open Winner

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (AP)—They couldn't beat the player tabbed as the man to beat and Tacoma professional Ockie Eliason Thursday won the new Pacific Northwest Open Golf champion.

Eliason, who earned the "man to beat" rating when he forged into the lead midway of the three-day tournament, continued his superb golf Wednesday, firing a 4-under 68 on the final 18 holes to capture the crown with a 72-hole total of 277.

Two other pros, Tom Boucher of Walla Walla and Ken Towns of Ft. Lewis, tied for second at 282. Bud Hofmeister of Hayden Lake, Idaho, was third at 283, and Joe Greer of Yakima and Chuck Congdon of Tacoma deadlocked in fourth at 294.

Art Abrahamson of Everett was low amateur at 290 and Jim Shriver of Seattle runnerup at 291.

Eliason picked up a check for $800 for his victory and Boucher and Towns each earned $450. Hofmeister earned $330 and Greer and Congdon, $260 each.

Only a stroke ahead of Boucher after 54 holes, Eliason applied the pressure in the final 18 netting three birdies in the out nine and one coming home.

Eliason, in winning his first major Pacific Northwest tournament, also was the first professional to win the Northwest Open in three years. Amateurs Al Menkert of Spokane, Bruce Cudde of Portland and Eddie Draper of Seattle were previous winners, in 1952-53-54, respectively.

The scores and earnings (x denotes amateur): 277 — Eliason, 137-72-68—$200; 282 — Towns, 142-70-70 — $450; Boucher, 140-70-72—$450;

283 — Hofmeister, 140-71-72—$330; 284 — Congdon, 143-71-70 — $260; Greer, 139-75-70—$260;

288 — Whittle, 143-72-73—$152.50; Steiger, 143-73-73—$152.50; Puelz, 142-74-72—$152.50; Abrahamson (x) 141-73-74; West, 140-76-73 — $152.50; 289 — Bob McKenrick, Oswego, Ore., 144-72-73—$95; Glen Spivey, Portland, 144-74-71 — $95;

290 — Wendel Wood, Eugene, Ore., 144-73-73—$80;

291 — Shriver (x) 145-75-72; Larry Lamberger, Portland, 143-75-73—$35; Jim Russell, Walla Walla, 135-78-74—$35;

292 — Jim Hickey (x) Pocatello, 149-72-71; Al Feldman, Tacoma 143-87-73;

293 — Stroup, 142-70-81;

New England Training Site Archie's Dream

By JACK CUDDY
United Press Sports Writer
SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UP)—Archie Moore, the most independent heavyweight challenger since Gene Tunney, heastly denies reports that he will shift from North Adams, Mass., to another training camp.

"This is the camp I picked, and here I will stay," the 38-year-old boxer-puncher told a group of New York sports writers who visited him at North Adams Wednesday while en route to Wednesday night's Ezzard Charles-Hurricane Jackson fight here in Syracuse.

It's an open secret that officials of the International Boxing Club have been hoping Archie would shift to a camp nearer to New York City to sharpen for his Sept. 20th title fight with Rocky Marciano at Yankee Stadium.

Promoter Jim Norris wanted him to train at Atlantic City, N.J. Recent reports indicated Moore might cooperate with the IBC and move away from the quarters he established Monday at picturesque Camp Kenwood on the outskirts of North Adams. But Archie blasted those reports Wednesday.

PRESSURE
However, he denied that the IBC had been putting any pressure on him. He said, "Nobody from the IBC ever told me I had to train any place. Of course I knew they wanted some place else. And my manager, Charley Johnston, asked me to make camp at Atlantic City."

But Archie, a ring gypsy who has fought in most major American cities and in South America and in Australia, picked the "spot I've been dreaming about ever since I had a fight in North Adams in 1949 with Escoc Greenwood."

Of all the areas he ever visited, North Adams in the Berkshire Hills was the "perfect site" for training, he explained. It's 1,300 foot altitude, its steep slopes for roadwork, and the tan of pine trees, birches, elms and maples was just right for "building up stamina."

The most surprised and delighted man in the United States on July 19 was Charles Kramer, manager of the North Adams Chamber of Commerce, when Moore telephoned from Detroit and asked if North Adams could accommodate him and his entourage while training for Marciano.

EXPENSES
"It came out of a clear sky," Kramer said. "We never had approached Moore. And we had no idea he was even considering our city as a site for his camp. The Chamber of Commerce and the Berkshire Hills Conference immediately made arrangements to underwrite expenses for the camp. And Moore agreed that any profits from his sparring sessions at Glover's Arena would go to a fund for underprivileged children."

There's no luxury connected with Moore's quarters. He lives in a four room white frame cabin in Camp Kenwood—a children's camp on the shore of Windsor Lake. He eats in the camp dining room. Food is prepared by Peter Treanor and his wife, Nellie. During the college year they handle the chaffing in a fraternity house at nearby Williams College.

Moore's independence in selecting his training spot is reminiscent of Gene Tunney's choice of Speculator, N.Y., for his first fight with Jack Dempsey in 1926. Moreover, Moore's start this week as a student aviator and his decision to fly to New York for the fight recalls Tunney's surprise flight from Speculator to Philadelphia for the initial Dempsey brawl.

The win gave the Wools the 1955 championship. Gino's won the league race with a perfect 11-0 record, but dropped two games in the Wools in the all important post-season playoffs.

Last night, Gino's splurged in the opener to post their triumph as Mickey Hayman blasted out two homers for the winners and Billie Shoemaker landed with another four bagger.

In the second game last night, Hayman and Pat Barron hooked into a mound battle with Barron the eventual winner. Gino's was able to collect two hits off Barron, while the Wools could muster just three base knocks off the pitching of Hayman. One of the three Oregon Wools hits was a home run by Bev Lloyd.

Shortscores:
Gino's 11 5 5
Oregon Wools 3 3 1
Hayman and Larson: Barron, Alberts and Walker.
Oregon Wools 6 3 5
Gino's 2 2 3
Hayman and Larson: Barron and Walker.

CLEVELAND (UP)—The Blue Bombers of Winnipeg and the Cleveland Browns clash today—in a courtroom. Results of the battle might leave the National Football League champs with only one quarterback.

The litigation concerns the status of rookie Bobby Freeman, split-T flash from Auburn. If Winnipeg wins the court contest for Freeman's services, the Browns would have George Ratterman as the only quarterback on the roster.

For years, Ratterman has earned his salt as a bench-bound "substitute Graham," but now Otto has retired. Though Graham might be heard from if the judge rules for Winnipeg.

Freeman signed to play with Winnipeg of the Canadian League this season. Later he switched allegiance to Cleveland. Lineman Jack Locklear, another Auburnite, did the same thing. The draft status of both men is involved, with Freeman and Locklear claiming they can't leave the country.

Graham, who helped the Browns to two world titles, retired with the promise he would never see the Browns without a quarterback. He might prompt Coach Paul Brown to send up a flare for Graham.

There's no other source for even shallow, two-man depth at quarterback. Other NFL clubs would be unlikely to sympathize with the Browns, winners of five straight division titles.

The Browns own former Kentucky All-American Babe Parrill. But he's been in the Army 18 months, is now stationed in Europe and isn't expected to be discharged before the end of the year.

If Winnipeg loses the court tussle, the Browns appear set for generalship. If Winnipeg wins, the Browns are in trouble.

Cross-Town Rivals Eye Water Crown
SEATTLE (AP)—A cross-town battle was assured Thursday Sunday's Gold Cup hydroplane racing classic.

Miss Thriftway Seattle entry sponsored by a Washington State grocery chain, became the third boat to qualify Wednesday after Stan Savres' Slo-Mo-Shun IV, Seattle's three-time winner of the classic, had set a new qualifying speed mark.

Slo-Mo's sister, boat, the V, and at least four others were also scheduled to try to qualify Thursday, under requirements that they travel the 3 1/2 mile course three times at better than 85 miles an hour. Twelve boats can qualify for the race.

Slo-Mo IV, with Joe Taggart driving, flirited with the two-mile-a-minute mark Wednesday but finally settled for a qualifying time of 117.391 miles. That was a short time after orchestra leader Guy Lombardo's Tempo VII, of New York, with Danny Foster at the controls, had qualified at 116.7. The previous qualifying record of 111.832 miles was set by Slo-Mo V last year.

Miss Thriftway made its runs late in the day after the lake roughened. Driver Bill Muncy, Detroit, held it down to an average 103.846 miles.

A mishap which left such crust III, Detroit, owned by Jack Schafer, sinking was expected to be repaired in quick time. A propeller blade was hurled through her hull as Walter Kade, 51, Detroit driver, bolted along.

The 34-foot twin engine boat, largest on the lake, was picked up by a Coast Guard patrol boat and beached in the nick of time.

Gal's Tourney Opens Action Next Thursday
One week from tonight the annual Oregon State Women's Softball Tournament will open in Klamath Falls as 11 teams from all parts of the state eye the crown now setting up the heads of the Klamath Basin-ettes, 1954 state champions.

A total of 20 softball games will be played in the four day tournament. Conger Field and Recreation Park will serve as the playing fields for the first three days of action, then on Saturday night for the semi-finals and Sunday's finals. Gem Stadium will be available according to plans at the present time.

During the past few years, women's softball over the state has been slow in advancement, but this year seems to be a "pay day" for the Oregon program. Several of the teams entered in this year's tourney are all capable of breaking through the four days without a defeat, which means one of the finest state tournaments to be held for the women diamond dusters.

In the past just a few teams have had all the power and playing ability, but the competition has grown to be quite a bit better in all parts of the state. The 11 teams that will be seen in action here in Klamath Falls will be the cream of the crop of Oregon's amateur softball teams.

On Thursday, three games will be played starting at 6:45 in the evening pitting P o r e s a I G r o v e against Lake Oswego in the tournament opener at Conger Field. Lake Oswego was the 1953 state champs and finished a close second behind the Klamath Falls entry last year. Then Friday, which is the big day, eleven games will be played starting with games at both Conger and Recreation at 1 o'clock. Friday's action finds two afternoon games and two evening games and the state playoffs close Sunday with two games, one in the afternoon and the final fray at 7 o'clock that night.

Jack Kemnitz of the Klamath Falls Recreation Department is the tournament director, and he feels that Klamath Falls has the opportunity to stage the finest women's state playoffs that has ever been held.
