Eklund-Hescoek Nuptial Vows Taken in Ft. Klamath Church

FORT KLAMATH — The Fort Klamath Community Methodist Church was the setting for an impressive wedding at 8:30 p.m. Sunday, July 31, when Patricia Louise (Patty Lou) Hescoek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur B. Hescoek, Fort Klamath, became the bride of Donald M. Eklund, U. S. Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Berger M. Eklund, 2444 Wiard St., Klamath Falls.

The single-ring candlelight service was read by the Rev. Edmund Stanton before the altar banked with arrangements of pink gladioli and white pompon chrysanthemums in large baskets against a background of potted palms and lighted white tapers in candelabra. Present for the ceremony was a large crowd of friends and relatives, including many from out of town points.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an exquisite gown of white nylon net and lace over bridal satin, fashioned with a tight fitting bodice with sweetheart neckline and long lace sleeves. The full, pleated skirt extended into a chapel length train. Her fingertip veil of illusion net was caught by a coronet of seed pearls, and she carried a white Bible, on which rested a single white orchid, encircled by stephanotis and held by white satin ribbon streamers.

Something old worn by the bride was her maternal grandmother's wedding ring; something new was the white Bible she carried; and something borrowed was her mother's crystal necklace, worn at her own wedding 24 years ago. Completing the bridal tradition, the bride wore a blue garter and a penny in her shoe for luck.

Maid of honor was the bride's sister, Sharon Hescoek, who wore a sleeveless ballerina gown of pale blue nylon lace over blue satin. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses, and wore a wreath of blue carnations in her hair. The two bridesmaids Carmen Hill, Klamath Agency; and Nellie Guenther, Chiloquin; wore sleeveless Nile green net over taffeta ballerina gowns identical in design to the maid of honor's. Carmen's bouquet was pink carnations, and her head band was of green carnations; Nellie carried a bouquet of mixed carnations, with a wreath of green carnations in her tilian hair.

The petite flower girl was five year old Louanne Eklund, Klamath Falls, niece of the bridegroom. She was in a floor length bouffant frock of Nile green nylon net over taffeta. Green carnations were in her hair and she carried a basket of rose-petals.

Helen Gay Hescoek, young sister of the bride, was candlelighter. She wore a floor length gown of pale blue nylon net over blue satin. Her bouquet and headband were of blue carnations.

Best man was Robert Eklund, Klamath Falls, brother of the bridegroom; and ushers were two brothers of the bride, Glenn Hescoek, Fort Klamath; and Floyd Hescoek, Chiloquin.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hescoek wore a gray suit with matching accessories of white, and corsage of yellow tallman roses-buds, Mrs. Eklund, mother of the bridegroom, chose a beige suit, with brown accessories and her corsage was similar to Mrs. Hescoek's.

Incidental piano music and the traditional wedding marches were played by Kay Detroit, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Detroit, Klamath Falls, who also accompanied her aunt, Mrs. Jack Thomas, Fort Klamath, who sang two solos. Preceding the wedding ceremony, Mrs. Thomas sang "Always" and following the service, "The Lord's Prayer."

After spending Sunday night in Fort Klamath, the newly married couple left Monday morning on a four day trip, during which they will visit relatives at Eugene and enjoy a tour of the Oregon coast. They plan to return here for a brief stay before going on to San Francisco, where they will be at home at 126 Sujan St. The bridegroom is stationed with the U.S. Navy at Treasure Island, near San Francisco, and has two and one-half years to serve of a four year enlistment.

Marksman Visits At Chiloquin

CHILOQUIN—An evening of reminiscing about yesteryear's hunting trips was diversion at the Roy Gienger home Wednesday evening honoring Bill Shreeves, San Francisco, who visited Chiloquin often in the 1930's as a representative of the Remington Rand Company. Shreeves is a skilled marksman and has held many shooting exhibitions at the rifle range on the government irrigation manager's grounds. Ray McKeever was the irrigation engineer in those days.

Shreeves usually managed to get a fall vacation to go to the Silver Lake country on hunting trips with numerous Chiloquin friends. A log of the camp had been kept through the years and Mrs. Gienger was requested to read the entire log during the evening.

The few remaining Chiloquin residents who were associated with the camp were invited for the evening. They were Guy Staiger, Dwight Kircher, Ted Markwardt, Fred Markwardt, Henry Wolf, Gerry Wolf and the hosts. Several of the wives also attended who had been active at hunting camps.
