

Yummy Dessert

Plentiful strawberries team up with another plentiful food — instant nonfat dry milk — in this Strawberry Pineapple Mallow dessert. The recipe illustrates the whipping of magical Starlac, the wonder instant nonfat dry milk which fills all milk uses in the home — drinking, cooking and baking — and then some.

To use this recipe when there aren't strawberries available in the fresh fruit market, one 10-oz. package of frozen sliced strawberries, defrosted, may be substituted.

STRAWBERRY PINEAPPLE MALLOW DESSERT
 1/2 pound (23) marshmallows
 6 cup water
 1/2 cup fresh strawberries, sliced and sweetened
 1 cup well drained, canned crushed pineapple
 1 tablespoon lemon juice
 1/2 cup instant Starlac no fat dry milk powder

Place marshmallows and 1/4 cup of the water in the top of a double boiler. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until marshmallows are melted. Remove from heat. Stir in strawberries and pineapple. Chill until mixture thickens. Pour remaining water and lemon juice into deep 1-quart bowl. Sprinkle instant Starlac nonfat dry milk powder over surface of water. Beat with rotary beater or electric mixer until stiff, about 8-10 minutes. Fold whipped Starlac into fruit mixture. Pour into 1-1/2 quart mold or individual sherbet glasses. Chill until firm, about 4 hours.

A NEW INSTANT PUDDING flavor is on the market. The new Strawberry Instant Pudding has any number of out-of-the-ordinary uses. Here it makes a delightful Pink 'Sassy' sauce for angel food cake. Just combine the pudding mix, 2 1/2 cups cold milk and 1/2 cup light cream in mixing bowl. Add 2 tablespoons sugar and vanilla if desired. Beat slowly with an egg beater just until well mixed—about 1 minute. Do not overbeat; mixture should be thin. Let stand to set — about 5 minutes. Just before serving stir until creamy. Makes 3 cups. Serve over wedges of angel food cake. Photo and recipe courtesy Jell-O Strawberry Instant Pudding.

INSTANT SAUCE

To those women who have discovered the potentialities of Instant Puddings for quick and easy sauces, it will be welcome news that there's a new Instant Pudding flavor on the market. Strawberry, the newest flavor in General Foods' line of Jell-O Instant Puddings, comes in the convenient 3 1/2 ounce package and is the same price as the other four flavors: vanilla, chocolate, butterscotch and coconut cream. The new pudding is a lovely pastel pink, its flavor a true reminder of June's succulent strawberry season.

The versatility of Instant Pudding may come as a surprise to some, for in addition to the quick and easy busy day desserts, with which we are all now familiar, it makes delicious cake fillings, toppings and sauces. Here it has been prepared as a sauce to be spooned over an Angel Cake of your own making or store-bought. The sauce is made in a matter of minutes — just pour 2 1/2 cups cold milk, 1/2 cup cold light cream, a little sugar and vanilla into a bowl, add a package of Strawberry Instant Pudding and beat only long enough to mix — one minute or less.

Just before serving, stir pudding gently once or twice, pour it into a saucedish to be spooned over slices of the cake. Then accept your due reward in the lip-smacking satisfaction of your family.

TORTE

First, heat oven to 450 degrees. Then butter the bottom of a 9-inch angel food pan. Put into the pan with 1/4 teaspoon salt and 1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar until almost stiff. Gradually beat in 1 1/2 cups sugar, 2 tablespoons at a time, to make a stiff meringue. Beat in 1 teaspoon vanilla. Spread evenly in the buttered pan. Put into the hot oven, turn off heat at once and forget about it until the next morning. Loosen edges, turn out onto plate. Frost with 1/2 pint heavy cream, whipped. Chill until serving time, then garnish with berries or other fresh fruit. You can substitute ice cream for the whipped cream if you wish.

LANOLIN SPRAY

Lacquers that plaster hair to the skull and set rigid waves and curls are out of date. No woman who ever sat under a dryer or struggled herself with that old-fashioned sticky stuff will regret that a new day has dawned. Harriet Hubbard Ayer's new "Ayer-Net" hair spray with lanolin contains no lacquer, yet gives the body to the hair, holds the wave firmly but softly and keeps under control those wandering wisps.

Not only does lanolin in the formulation make for softness but the inclusion of silicones give that lovely sheen and gleam. Modern, too, is the method of application. "Ayer-Net" is aerosol-sprayed onto the hair with the lightest press of the finger on the valve. It comes in a pretty bottle.

YOU DON'T NEED an old-fashioned hairnet or even a lacquer to keep those fly-away, come-out-of-curl locks in place. Times have changed since mother went to school. Now you can use Harriet Hubbard Ayer's new "Ayer-Net," the modern spray-on protection from wind, weather and sleep-flossing. "Ayer-Net" contains no lacquer but does contain lanolin for a soft, natural curl held gently, but firmly, in place. And the addition of silicones gives your hair a lovely gleam and protects it from the effects of dampness and humidity.

with gold-flecked transparent cap and a gold bow around the neck. It is an attractive asset to dressing table or bathroom cosmetic shelf and a perfect traveling companion. Use as much as you want where you want it. There are no dribbles to run perilously down the back of your neck. It can be sprayed on either after the hair has been put in pins for a long-lasting set or after it has been combed, to keep coiffure lovely for hours. Running a wet comb through the hair will reset the wave.
