Reds To Cut Army Forces

MOSCOW (UP) — Russia announced today it will cut its armed forces strength by 640,000 men within four months. It was the first massive Soviet demobilization order since World War II.

The announcement by Tass, the Soviet news agency, said the move was prompted by recent world developments which show a certain "relaxation of international tension." It said the demobilization of army and navy personnel is to be achieved by Dec. 15.

Previously the Soviets said they would discharge some 45,000 troops withdrawn from Austrian occupation duty. It was not known if these would be included in the 640,000 announced today.

Despite the proposed cut, Russia will still have a marked edge over the United States in number of military personnel. Western military experts put the ground strength of Russia and its satellites at 4½ million with another 1½ million in the Communist air forces. The United States has an armed force of just under three million.

Solon Tells Rhee Beliefs

WASHINGTON (AP) —Sen. Ellender (D-La) said Saturday he believes South Korea's President Syngman Rhee may have condoned or encouraged the violence in which Korean mobs have been stoning U.S. troops.

Ellender said he also has heard that "rascality has been going on" in the spending of U.S. foreign aid millions by some South Korean officials.

He said he will look into both matters when he visits Korea on a world tour starting Sunday. The senator announced no date for his arrival in Korea.

Ellender said he believes Rhee "really wants a peaceful settlement" of the dispute arising over the presence of Communists along the Neutral Nations Truce Supervisors, but probably was forced to allow violence because of pressures from political enemies.

Ellender gave no details of the "rascality" he said he had heard about.

"But when I arrive there, I'm going to look into it and try to find out what they are doing with our money," he said.

Tax Case Settled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) has accepted a compromise offer of $2,500 in settlement of income tax claims of $35,295 against Edward J. and Mary Madge Sherman of 1965 N. E. 52nd Ave., Portland, Ore.

The IRS said the offer appeared to be in excess of the forced sale value of their assets. Sherman is 71 and his wife 58. Because of their age and impaired health, the report said there appeared little likelihood that their earning capacity and future prospects would be improved to the point whereby a greater amount could be collected by the government.

The Shermans formed a husband and wife business partnership in 1944, operating as the Edward J. Sherman Lumber Sales Co. in Portland.

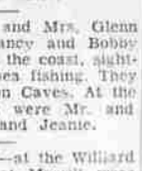
THE CAMERA CORNER

By Bud Buesing

Not long ago we read about an amateur movie camera fan who has been taking wild life pictures for years, just for his own enjoyment. He became so good at it that he built up a reputation . . . and a full length movie was made from his pictures of the animal world.



Whether it's on movie film or a still picture, a good animal shot is always popular. And the chances are, whether you're taking a trip to a national park, to a zoo, or just browsing around town, you'll find good animal subjects everywhere. If you know how to look!

Good animal shots take patience. Just any shot, even of your dog, won't do. Watch him for a while. He may lie around in a sleepy way, but notice his expression when he hears something. His ears cock, his tail comes up, his eyes become alert. It's just such a typical expression or movement you want to catch.

It's the same with all animals . . . birds, kittens, rabbits or what-have-you. You have to learn how to wait for it. If you try this for a while, you'll develop a quickened sense of timing and an understanding of individual expressions that will help all your picture taking. Stop in for a fresh supply of film today . . . and get started on your own album zoo at Bud & CHARLOTTE'S NEWS & PHOTO SERVICE, 1004 MAIN ST., PHONE 4855.

Injunction In Case Granted

NEW YORK (AP) — U. S. Circuit Court Judge J. Edward Lumbard issued a temporary injunction Saturday against an independent group of stockholders of Libby, McNeill and Libby, restraining them from soliciting proxies and also postponing the annual meeting of company stockholders.

The application was made by the Securities and Exchange Commission against Mitchel May Jr., Alfred W. Parry Jr., and Wilbur E. Dow Jr., individually and as members of an independent stockholders committee of Libby, McNeill & Libby.

The meeting of the stockholders had been set for Aug 17 in Portland, Me. Judge Lumbard ruled that the meeting "must be enjoined for a time sufficient to enable the defendant members of the independent stockholders committee to take such steps as they may choose to correct the misleading statements sent to stockholders and to solicit proxies in accordance with the commission's rules."

The Commission's application was heard on Aug. 10 and 11. Because of the need to expedite the case, Judge Lumbard said that he made his ruling "in advance of filing a more lengthy opinion."

Klamath Boy Scout On Way To Jamboree In Canada

Klamath County's Boy Scout representative to the Eighth World Jamboree of New Horizons at Niagara-On-The-Lake, Ontario, Canada, took time out en route to write a letter to the Herald and News.

Victor Sisson Jr., Klamath Agency, who is now at the conclave with 10,000 other scouts and leaders, on August 9 penned the following letter from Missoula, Montana, to Managing Editor Bill Jenkins:

"Hi Bill:

"I am having a swell time on this trip.

"Yesterday at 3 o'clock in the afternoon we left Union Station in Portland to head towards Missoula, Montana, for a two-day training camp.

"On the way up the train followed the Columbia River to Pasco, Washington. During this time we passed the Bonneville Dam, and Celilo Falls which I had never seen before. Also McNary Dam, which is near being constructed. When it is finished it will contribute a little less than a million kilowatts of power. A little while after we passed McNary Dam, the country's vegetation in trees was left behind to show steep hills with dead grass and rocks.

"At 11:30 p.m. we pulled into Spokane. When we got out to change trains, we found out that the train was 25 minutes late.

"From Spokane to Missoula we had berths. Tuesday morning we got up at 5:30 a.m. and arrived in Missoula at 6:45. From the depot we marched five or six blocks to the University of Montana's dormitory along with scouts from Washington. The country around here on the way up reminded me a lot of Klamath except that the trees are smaller.

"There are approximately 64 boys and almost all are Eagle Scouts. These boys comprise the two jamboree troops, 36 and 37. Our "conjunct" leader is Royal S. Stone and troop leaders are Carl Linde, No. 36, and Harry Johansen, No. 37. The boys come from Alaska, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana and California. After we got settled in the dormitories our patrols were formed and the leaders were selected. Later in the afternoon we practiced putting up our camps.

"We eat all of our meals in the residence hall which is a newly constructed building. They serve good meals. Tuesday evening we had a meeting of all the scouts on the top floor. There we were told all about the jamboree; that is, how to swap and act and about the program.

"This is all that has happened up to Wednesday morning so I'll close now.

"Sincerely,
"Victor Sisson Jr."

Mother Issues Appeal To Son

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP) — The mother of a Canadian soldier who disappeared behind the Iron Curtain last May Saturday publicly pleaded for him to return.

The Canadian military mission in Berlin has asked the Russian authorities on several occasions for information about Pvt. Ralph Bernard Frederick Cross, 27, but no reply has been given.

His Vancouver parents, Mr. and Mrs. L.E. Cross, refuse to believe their son deserted to the Reds.

Pvt. Cross went on leave May 2 and was listed absent without leave May 18. He now is classed as a deserter.

Cross' wife and three young children live in Moose Jaw, Sask.

At the time he disappeared Cross was serving with the 2nd Battalion Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

His mother today issued an open letter to her son asking him to return.
