

THIS IS A HOG. A hay hog to be sure, working on the Ed Geary ranch, this machine will pick up and blow the Marion bluegrass into the wagon preparatory to being hauled to the threshing machine. The tractor operator, Al Billings, reported that he has loaded a wagon in as little as 12 minutes.

AN OVERALL VIEW of the hay hog in operation at the Ed Geary ranch. This machine is not a chopper, but just a pick-up. It scoops up the Marion bluegrass and blows it into the trailing wagon. The wagon is then pulled to the threshing wagon where it is dumped.

LEADING THE FARM GROUP in song during the noon program of the Tulelake Experimental Farm field day, August 5, is Bill Whitaker, manager of the Tulelake Fairgrounds. The picture was taken in the new judging pavilion on the fairgrounds.

Thieves Loot Pin Ball Games Here

For the second time in two weeks burglars struck at the suburban Tavern's pinball machines early Saturday morning. They stole coins from two pinball machines. Exact amount of the loot has not yet been determined, state police who investigated, said. Entry to the South Sixth Street tavern was gained by breaking in a side door — the same method used by the thieves in the July 23 burglary when some $200 in nickels was stolen.

SPUDS 'N BREAKFAST
One morning recently I caught Earl Schultz at breakfast and at the request of his wife joined in—and guess what! Earl had spuds and bacon and hotcakes! What a farmer—eats the spuds he grows. Anyway, since then I've convinced the wife we should eat spuds for breakfast. THEY SAY THERE IS A 45 MILLION LB. SURPLUS in spuds this year. If we could get 120 million Americans to eat spuds for breakfast the price would no doubt be satisfactory this fall.

Bugs 'n Spuds . . .

Except for seed producers, the bug population has been pretty low in most cases. The seed people generally have put on one spray. Most of the commercial growers plan on one shot the next week or 10 days to try to hold for the season.

If you want help in checking your fields, drop in or call us. There is no "secret hokus pokus" to checking. We will be glad to show you.

Freak Accident Injures Rancher

LANGELL VALLEY — Howrey Roberts was injured in a freak accident at his home in Upper Langell Valley the evening of August 10. He had put a young steer in the barn to butcher. After he shot the animal he ran to cut its throat to bleed it and in some way severed the artery of his right wrist.

At first he didn't know he was injured and thought all the blood was coming from the calf. His wife called Mrs. Eddie Gralian a trained nurse who came and put a tourniquet on his arm. Louis Randall rushed him to Klamath Valley Hospital. The doctor later sent him home to rest and take it easy for several days. Mr. and Mrs. George Fernlund and Martin Gift finished the butchering.
