White Sox, Yanks Close On Indians; Brooks Divi

By JOE REICHLER
The Associated Press

The Chicago White Sox, despite their third place position, appeared today to be in the most enviable spot among the four top contenders for the American League pennant.

Cleveland's inability to pull away from the field together with Chicago's apparent easy schedule ahead as compared to those of the Indians, New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox gave the White Sox a seemingly big advantage.

The White Sox got a lift yesterday when they defeated Detroit 5-4 while the lowly Kansas City Athletics snapped Cleveland's six-game winning streak with a 7-3 triumph. Although they slipped to third place because the Yankees took two from Baltimore, the White Sox cut Cleveland's first-place margin to one game.

Only 3½ games separated the first four teams as the fourth-place Red Sox also won two, defeating Washington 9-6 and 2-1. The Yankees climbed into second place, a half game behind the Indians, by mauling the Baltimore Orioles 7-2 and 20-6.

In the National League, Robin Roberts and Don Newcombe staged a thrilling pitching duel. Victory No. 19 was at stake for both right-handers. Roberts won 3-2 in 10 innings, to give Philadelphia a split in the double-header with Brooklyn. The Dodgers won the second game 5-4 in 13 innings.

Runner-up Milwaukee shaded Chicago 4-3 in 10 innings but they still trailed Brooklyn by 15½ games. The New York Giants to within a game and a half of the Braves, knocking off Pittsburgh twice 4-2 and 3-1. In still another 10-inning tussle, the St. Louis Cardinals overcame the Cincinnati Reds 5-4.

COMBIND

Billy Pierce's pitching and the hitting of Jim Rivera combined to bring victory to the White Sox. They now have 42 games left to play in the remaining six weeks, to 39 each for New York and Boston and 38 for Cleveland.

But Chicago's opposition figures to be much easier. Of their remaining games, 28 are scheduled against second-division clubs as compared to 23 for Cleveland and 21 each for New York and Boston.

Pierce gave up five hits for his ninth victory of the season. Rivera carried across the winning run in the eighth when he singled off loser Ned Garver, advanced to second on a fielder's choice, to third on a sacrifice and scored on Walt Dropo's infield grounder.

Hector Lopez' three-run homer off Mike Garcia and two-hit relief pitching by Al Ditmar combined to give Kansas City the victory over Cleveland.

Two-run homers by Hank Bauer and Mickey Mantle off ex-Yankee Eddie Lopat helped Whitey Ford with his 13th for the Yankees in the opener. The Yanks clubbed seven Oriole pitchers for 20 hits in the nightcap. Hank Bauer cracked another homer and Yogi Berra drove in four runs with a home run and single.

Rookie first baseman Norb Zauchin drove in five runs with a pair of homers and a single in the first game and rookie pitcher George Susce hurled a seven-hi second in Boston's doubl Washington. Ted Williar in Boston's first run in cap and scored the sec error and Jackie Jens fice fly.

Willie Jones's 10th-inn scored Richie Ashburn run that gave Roberts win against nine defeats combe his third loss triumphs. Carl Furillo two home runs in the sec then singled in the win er run in the 13th off Miller.

RIGHT HANDER

Southpaw Johnny Anton tered his 10th victory w hitter and right-hander J followed with a four-hitt 13th triumph in the Gia successes. Sid Gordon wa gun at the plate, poundin er in each game. His game homer, which bro 2-2 tie in the ninth, was of his career.

Johnny Logan's single Danny O'Connell with Mi winning run in the 10th. had opened with a double Bill Virdon singled ho Boyer with the Cards' win in the 19th. Ted Kluszewsk 40th and 41st home runs over the National League second four-bagger came Louis Manager Harry W placed right-hander Tom on the mound with southp Arroyo, with Pohoisky mo left field. After Kluszewski Pohoisky returned to the and finished the game.

Double winners were: Pat McCormick—1 and 3 meter dive; Carolyn Green—800 and 1,500-meter freestyle; Carin Cone — 100 and 200-meter backstroke.

OSAKA, Japan—Japan defeated the United States 42-27 in dual competition although Frank McKinney Jr. and Al Wiggins established new meet records in the 100-meter backstroke and 100-meter butterfly.

Bosox Bonus Choice Aids In Pennant Race

BOSTON — (NEA) — The players of both clubs stood around the batting cage watching Ted Williams hit.

The greatest of present-day hitters will have an appreciative audience as long as he swishes a bat.

But the surprising Red Sox have someone else to talk about now. Mickey Owen wraps up Frank Baumann in a line, "you ain't seen nothin' yet!"

Mike Higgins unveiled the 22-year-old Baumann against the Tigers a little ahead of schedule, and the manager showed what he thought of the bonus baby by sticking him in there with two men on and only one out.

Baumann didn't knock over the Detroit hitters like tenpins as he treated batters in the American Association, but you got the idea. Fresh out of the Army, a bit overweight, still getting in shape, young Baumann got out of the trouble, shut out the Tigers for five and two-thirds innings, yielded four hits, struck out four, walked only one in his major league bow before a packed Fenway Park.

"He hasn't done enough losing to know how," cracked Owen, the old catcher turned coach.

Baumann, the son of a St. Louis welder, was the most sought young player of 1952. Representatives of every big league club talked to the lad and his father, scout Denny Galehouse signing him when the Boston Americans guaranteed $85,000 to be paid throughout a five-year period.

Baumann, a handsome, dark complexioned, brown-eyed chap of German descent, is built like a blocking back. He stands an even six feet, weighed 212 pounds slamming the door in the Tigers' faces, expects to get down to 200.

Baumann hasn't the big motion of Herb Score of the Indians, nor a hard working one like the Yankees' Bob Turley. That rarity, a kid left-hander with control, he just cocks his right leg, rears back and lets the batter have it.

"Frank is stronger than Score and as fast as Turley," testifies Owen. "He has a rising, riding fast ball that squirms."

"He gets a piece of the plate with the fast ball in and outside," says Grady Hatton.

"Good hitters can't hit the ball out of the batting cage when he pitches batting practice," asserts Jackie Jensen.

St. Louis' Central High won the Missouri State championship for three consecutive years, won 20 of 21 games, and Baumann pitched all the winning ones. He attracted further attention in a Sunday sandlot league at St. Louis' Fair Grounds Park.

Johnny Murphy, director of farm points to the fact that Baumann is the first Bosox pitcher to go directly from high school to Triple A.

"He's never far off the plate," smiles Manager Higgins, who had the boy in Louisville "When he reported in mid-June of 1952, I was amazed at his poise. Then when I started him in the seven-inning half of a double-header in early July, he shut out Columbus. In his next start, he struck out 12 shutting out the Milwaukee club that won the pennant. After winning three straight, fanning 10 in another outing, Baumann wound up with a 4-6 record.

"I wasn't wild," he recalls. "They just hit me."

Before going into the armed forces in late July of 1953, he won 10 while losing 1 for the Colonels.

"It should have been 11-0," recollects Higgins, "and had Frank stuck around he probably would have given Herb Score a real strikeout record to shoot at. He beat a good Toledo club four times."

Frank Baumann is so good that at this early stage Mike Higgins expects him to figure prominently on an outstanding young pitching staff taking dead aim at World Series swag.

Yankees Suffer; So Des Grim

NEW YORK (UP) — Traditionally, there's no rooting in the press box; but allowances are being made for Bob Grim, who "dies a million deaths" up there with the Yankees every day.

Grim, the Brooklyn-born bartender who won 20 games for the Yankees last year and was named the American League's "rookie of the year," has been on the disabled list with a sore elbow for more than a month now, but he hasn't missed coming out to Yankee Stadium one day in all that time.

He suits up and works out with the Yankees before each home game, then takes his uniform off and climbs up to the press box.

"I make more pitches up there in the press box than the guy down there on the mound," grinned the good-looking, dark-haired right-hander who hopes to come off the disabled list "within the next few days."

Grim was in his usual press box seat when teammate Don Larsen hooked up in a 13-inning pitching duel with Frank Sullivan of the Red Sox Wednesday and the strain on Bob was apparent.

"C'mon, Don," he said aloud, "don't come in with good a change-up to the Jackie Jensen."

When Red Sox first ba Norm Zauchin made a grea on Joe Collins and robbed a key hit, Grim rocketed in his chair, then sank back and pounded his fist on w h e r e a typewriter ordi would be.

Occasionally, when he feels one of the umpires has ca a bad decision against the Yan Grim groans and says "Gee, whiz, shake yourself there, will you!"

Despite the fact that h missed a good portion of the son because of his injury, sh resulted when he hit his fo against his knee during a fou through, the 25-year old Grim doesn't feel he is a victim of the "sophomore jinx."

"This could have happened to me any time," he explained. "It could have come in my first year or in my fifth. The thing that bothers me most is that I haven't been able to help the ball club, but I hope I can do my share when I get back.

Before he was placed on the disabled list, Grim had compiled a 4-2 record for the Yankees. He knows, naturally, that 20 victories again are out of the question but he adds that he expects "to get a few more wins" this year.

Grim makes the statement in a hoarse voice that he got from rooting in the press box.

Olson Wins Portland Boxing Bout

PORTLAND (AP) — Jimmy Martinez had a premonition that he was going to win his fight with middleweight champion Carl (Bobo) Olson. But the premonition proved wrong and he lost a unanimous 10-round decision in an outdoor fight here last Saturday night.

The Glendale, Ariz., fighter, who went into the ring weighing 163, said he had talked to his wife on the phone before the fight and had told her he was feeling bad—and so thought he might win.

He explained: "A couple of times before when I felt poor, I had good fights and won."

Olson said Martinez was in good shape and put up a good fight. The champion also said he was satisfied with his own performance and that Martinez, in the first five rounds against the 165-pound Olson, managed a number of times to feint and box his way out of trouble.

Olson stepped up his attack after the halfway point and for a time it looked as though Martinez might not be able to go the distance. In the ninth round Olson landed a couple of hard rights that staggered the Arizonan. Martinez weathered that attack and stood up under an even rougher attack in the final round.

Martinez, who went fishing Sunday at Detroit Reservoir near Salem, Ore., said: "Olson was too strong for me. I found that out in the first couple of rounds and decided not to stay in there and slug it out, so after that I tried to stay away."

"What can I say," he added. "I was in there with the greatest middleweight in the world."

The non-title fight, seen by a crowd of 8,349, was the first of a series of warmup bouts for Olson before he defends his title against Sugar Ray Robinson in November.

Aussies Face End Of Long Tennis Climb

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The long road to the Davis Cup Challenge Round was just about over today for Australia's Davis Cup team.

All they have to do is win the doubles from Italy and they can start making preparations to go up against the defending champion United States in Forest Hills Aug. 26-28.

The Aussie doubles team of Rex Hartwig and Lew Hoad is perhaps the best in the world, so even should the Italians pull some sort of Svengali and win, Captain Harry Hopman's lads will have two more shots in the final two singles tomorrow.

Australia won the opening singles yesterday in routine fashion. Hoad celebrated his release from Hopman's doghouse by thrashing Fausto Gardini 6-2, 6-2, 6-0 while Ken Rosewall polished off Nicola Pietrangeli 8-6, 3-6, 6-1, 6-4.

With all the talk about Australia's being upset somewhere along the line because of Hoad's poor performances recently, there was nothing to indicate anything wrong with Lew in his match against Gardini.

"I was very pleased with him," said Hopman. "The best part of it is that he improved as the match went on. He wasn't at his best, but he was good enough."

"Darn it, Ruth, how can I teach you to make difficult shots if you insist on staying out of the rough and traps?"

King Cops Win In Picnic Trial

King, a black Labrador owned and handled by Hal Shidler, swept the honors in the Open All-Age Stake of the Shasta Cascade Retriever Club's picnic trial held Sunday at the Mickey Wampler ranch north of Klamath Falls.

Second place went to Congo another Lab owned and handled by Dick Morgan, and Shidler's Spi-Wize-Zeke finished third.

Sir Dorchester's Chief owned and handled by Don Stroud and Sky-Hy handled by Dick Morgan finished second best. Third spot went to Flash, Clark Gable's Labrador, handled by Dick Morgan. Puz closed in fourth, owned and handled by Webb Staunton.

In the Derby Stake, Blackie owned and handled by Lee Carter was judged tops, with Stegg in second spot. Stegg is handled by Dick Morgan. Third place went to Dane-U, owned and handled by Norman House.

Yakima Cuts Eugene Lead To Half Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Yakima Bears and Wenatchee Chiefs tightened the Northwest Baseball League pennant race with sweeps of Sunday doubleheaders.

Tailed Yakima hopped front-running Eugene 2-1 and 10-3 while Wenatchee, battling to overtake the Emralds, clipped Tri-City 10-1 and 9-5.

The Lewiston Broncs and Salem Senators split a twin bill, the Broncs winning 1-0 in seven innings and Salem 4-2 in nine.

The gates hoisted the Chiefs into third place only a game back of Eugene and deadlocked Tri-City and Salem in fourth, three games out.

The Bears won the seven-inning opener at Yakima behind the two-hit pitching of John Kelly, former Seattle University ace. Don Ratung, another fireballing rookie, gave up 10 safties in the nightcap but was backed by a 12-hit attack of his mates.

At Wenatchee the Chiefs won the first game with a six-run outburst in the third inning. Bob Roberts spaced five Tri-City hits. The Chiefs scored three runs in each of the third- fourth and fifth innings of the abbreviated nightcap to complete the sweep.

Salem's Bud Francis lost a heartbreaker at Lewiston. He held the Broncs hitless until the fifth but the safety by John McNamara scored Hillis Lane with what turned out to be the game's only tally.

Salem won the second game with a two-run tie-breaking rally in the top of the ninth. Lewiston got two runners on base in their half of the inning but Bill Whitson put out the fire.

In Saturday contests, Wenatchee beat Tri-City 8-1, Eugene humbled Yakima 16-1 and Lewiston shaded Salem 5-4.

Smart Catcher Most Vital Says NL Umpire

NEW YORK (UP) — Umpire Larry Goetz declared today that baseball needs more smart catchers—"the most vital players in the game."

"A good catcher can make or break a pitcher, just by his attitude," Goetz said. "He can steady the whole team—or he can get it so jittery that it falls apart."

Goetz, who has been an umpire since 1930 and who has been calling 'em in the National League since 1936, said a catcher needs to be a bit of psychologist, an occasional slave - driver, and of course be willing to take more hard knocks physically than any other man on the team.

"As an umpire working at a different position every day, you get a chance to evaluate each position," Goetz said. "And it is the catcher who has to be the take-charge guy. He runs the team."

Goetz thinks two of the smartest catchers he ever saw in action were Gabby Hartnett, lately elected to the Hall of Fame from the Chicago Cubs, and Walker Cooper, when he was at his peak with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Hartnett Complained Quietly

"I worked games behind the plate when Hartnett would be catching a pitcher who might have a reputation for blowing up easily," Goetz said. "If a pitch came in and I thought it was a little off and called it a ball, Hartnett would never squawk loud enough so the pitcher could hear him. He would just turn and say, 'Aw come on Larry, that was a good pitch.' The idea was that he didn't want to get his pitcher upset."

Goetz declared it was the same way when Cooper was catching, particularly when the pitcher was his brother Morton, a strong-armed right hander, who also had a tendency to "blow his stack."

"If a pitch came in and I called it a ball, Walker would just slam it back to big Mort and yell—'Come on square-head, get the ball over the plate.' But he would turn to me and say 'What's the big idea, don't you know where the strike zone is any more?' He might get pretty mad. But he'd never let Mort know it."

Goetz said Roy Campanella of the Dodgers is a typical old-fashioned take-charge guy among the modern day players. But he said there aren't too many other ones around.

"You know an umpire has to be a take-charge guy, too," Goetz went on. "Once you let a ball game get out of control, you're dead. If the players get a notion they can run over you, they lose respect for you in a hurry.

"I don't mean that an umpire has to eject a player in order to get his respect. I try to keep from doing that unless it is absolutely necessary. But if a guy is asking for it—out he goes in a hurry."

A Most Competent Arbiter

Goetz is extremely proud of the way that one of his partners, Frank Dascoli, has developed into one of baseball's most competent arbiters.

"You saw the game Dascoli worked behind the plate when the Dodgers beat the Giants, 3-2 in 10 innings Tuesday night," Goetz said. "For my money that was one of the best umpired games I've seen all season. And do you know why it was?

"Ray Katt, the Giant catcher began getting on Dascoli early, complaining about balls he thought should have been strikes. Dascoli warned him to cut it out and Katt knew he would be ejected if he kept complaining. So from then on it was a tense hard-fought game and there were no complaints from either side."

When Dascoli first came into the league, the players got on him because he is a big cheerful fellow with a booming call and with extremely emphatic gestures.

"Frank had a lot to learn but he hustled all the time, watched the older umpires and took our advice," Goetz said. "I like to feel that I had a part in his development. Because right now he is one of the best in the business."

Shriners In Final Workouts

PORTLAND (AP) — State and Metro All-Star football teams opened their final week of practice Monday, pointing to Saturday night's annual Shrine game at Multnomah Stadium here.

The benefit game, proceeds of which go to the Shrine Hospital for Crippled Children, brings together many of last season's senior grid stars.

Both the Staters and the Portland-area team held rugged scrimmage sessions Saturday to close the first week of practice. Metro coach Tom DeSylvia arranged a regulation game, complete with officials, at Lewis and Clark College where the team is training.

State coach Lee Gustafson also watched a game-type scrimmage at the Portland University practice field, praising the way his youngsters worked as a unit.
